

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VIII. THE PLACE OF RELIGION IN A NATION'S LIFE
 Exodus 25: 1-40; 29: 42-46; 40: 1-38.
 Printed Text—Exodus 25: 1, 2, 8, 9; 29: 42-46; 40: 34-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm 33: 12.

The Lesson in Its Setting
 Place—Mount Sinai.
 Time—B.C. 1489.
 "And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they take for me an offering: of every man whose heart maketh him willing ye shall take my offering."—For the construction of this place of worship, the people themselves were to bring offerings of gold, silver, and brass, of various kinds of cloth, of acacia wood, and oil, and spices together with various kinds of stones, but only these were to bring such offerings whose hearts led them to do so willingly.

"And let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them. According to all that I show thee, the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all the furniture thereof, even so shall ye make it."—Thus things in this introductory announcement the Lord makes clear to Moses—first, that the sanctuary which Jehovah is now speaking of is a place in which God would dwell among His people, the Israelites. The verb "dwell" is the one from which the word shekinah comes (see Lev. 15: 11; 16: 16; 26: 11, 12; Num. 9: 18, 20). The tabernacle is, in general, an adumbration of the great dwelling-place of God, where He holds converse with all the ranks of His rational creatures, the heaven of heavens.

Set Apart for God
 "And the Tent shall be sanctified by my glory."—In the Old Testament, when any thing, or any person, or any day, is said to have been sanctified, we understand that thing, or person, or day was set apart for holy purposes, for God's service and worship. As would naturally be expected, that thing or person was to be kept clean from all defilement and pollution of any kind that would interrupt unbroken communion with God, or hinder the service for which this thing or person was set apart.
 "And I will sanctify the tent of meeting, and the altar: Aaron also and his sons will I sanctify, to minister to me in the priest's office."—The entire chapter, of which these verses are the conclusion, is a description of the rites by which Aaron and his sons were set apart and sanctified for their priestly office.
 "And I will dwell among the chil-

Mushroom Poison Cure Developed
 PARIS.—Dr. Leon Binet, Professor of Physiology has announced the development of a cure for mushroom poisoning.
 The treatment consists of glucose injections, which restore the normal glucose content of the blood destroyed by the mushroom toxin.
 His attention was called to the treatment when he noticed that in mushroom poisoning the glucose content of the blood, normally one gram per litre, dropped to three-tenths of a gram 12 hours after the poisoning. There followed experiments over a period of years upon rabbits, which have the same blood glucose content as human beings.
 Death may be prevented, he said, by an injection of 40 grams of glucose per litre of distilled water.

Fishing For Rest
 Irving Berlin, his wife, the former Ellen Mackay, their two daughters, Mary Ellen, 10, and Linda Louise, 5, and their guests, Sam and Golda, Jr., son of the producer, are a picture of happy anticipation as they arrive in Seattle, Wash., on their way to fish in Alaska.

The Movie Business Gets In Joe's Hair

Around The Dial

RADIO HEADLINES OF THE WEEK
 G. C. MURRAY

Drama Series Starts Sept. 13
 The Lux Radio Theatre, one of the outstanding dramatic features of the air, starts its third year on CBS, Monday, September 13, from 9:00 to 10:00 p.m. E.D.S.T. Since the first Columbia broadcast of this series began, July, 1935, with the presentation of Helen Hayes in "Dusty Trails the Stripes", the program has presented such stars and vehicles as Gary Cooper and Joan Marsh in "The Plutonium"; Leslie Howard and Elissa Landi in "Monsieur Beaucaire"; Edward G. Robinson and Beverly Roberts in "The Criminal Code"; Jeanette MacDonald in "Tonight or Never"; Walter Huston, Nan Smedley and Fay Bainter in "Dodsworth"; and many other famed artists of stage and screen in nearly 100 other plays of equal importance. Because of the talent, selection and production of these radio plays, which are under the direction of Cecil B. DeMille, they have won such acclaim as the award for the best dramatic program by the Women's National Radio Committee, and first place for radio drama in the New York World-Telegram poll of 1935 and 1936, and a vote which is taken among radio editors of newspapers throughout the country.

Phil Baker to Be Heard from Coast to Coast in New Series
 Phil Baker returns to the air over sixty Columbia stations from coast to coast, Sunday, October 2, at 7:30 p.m. E.S.T. This new series marks the third consecutive year that the accordion squeezing comedian has been sponsored by Gulf, Beetle and Bottle. "I'll be on hand to heckle Baker, Harry McNaughton will again take the role of Beetle, while Beetle will remain as a bantering voice. His identity is to remain a closely veiled secret.

Silver Theatre Inaugurates New Dramatic Series
 Leading stars of screen and stage will be heard on the Silver Theatre, a half-hour weekly show, starting Sunday, October 2, at 5:00 p.m. A new departure in the method of selecting material for these broadcasts will set a precedent in radio drama. The Silver Theatre will make use primarily of novels, magazine stories and original manuscripts. This will give radio listeners an opportunity of hearing their favorite stories in dramatic form. Other details concerning the new Silver Theatre series will be announced as soon as arrangements have been made.

Repeat Series of Muskoka Broadcast
 A repeat series of Vacationland Tours, sponsored by the Muskoka Tourist Development Association will be heard over CFRB, 2:00 to 2:15 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays starting Aug. 19th. The program will feature Harry Lord as the travelling commentator, and incidental organ music will be supplied by Vincent Boyd, known to radio listeners as "Flying Flingers". Ernest Taylor, Canadian baritone, will appear as guest on several programs. Each program will bring to the microphone one of the prominent men of the province.

Interesting Morning Program
 A rather novel and interesting method of broadcasting morning exercises is presented on a nation-wide network. This wake-up program features songs and gags intermingled with the exercises. Dobole and Peg Willis are the only characters. The program is heard each morning over CKOC, CKCR, CFPO, CKCH, CHSJ, CKWC, CHNC, CJLS, and many western stations.

It Has Just Come Out That a Certain Congressman in the Good Old U.S.A. is trying to pass a bill which will make all the radio entertainers use their right names. Now can you imagine the embarrassment of the poor radio announcer introducing such celebrities as Izzy Yakowitz, Benny Kubloski, William Dunkenfeld, Glen Knoblauch or Marie Gabriel Germaine Estabrook Polakoff? Which are the real names of Eddie Cantor, Jack Benny, W. C. Fields, Glen Gary and Gogo del-Jo.

Bob Barnasha Burns was once known as "Blue" in the vandeville team of "Black and Blue." His first picture work was imitating a negro drinking soup in Unionsville, Heaven on Earth, starring Lew Ayres, who has been Burns' second best pal ever since. Burns was also a champion rifle marksman of the Allied armies in France during the World War beating 1,400 of the crack shots of all allied armies in a competition which lasted more than a year. He's really got something to tout about.

Radio's First Croaker
 And, as a grave, throat-throated comedian, he received more fan mail during his few months on radio with Jack Benny than in ten years in the movies. His voice has been raspy and hoarse since he was a small child and busy doing his bit with a gagged, tried to swallow a ratty with a gagged brass edge. Andy's vocal strain has made him a fortune. He calls himself "Radio's First Croaker."

money—what young fellow couldn't like that?—only I enjoy life as it is." "You're right, Burke, and I'm sorry I was the one to get you into this embarrassing situation. Somehow I didn't figure it right, I guess. I misjudged you. I thought you were a real fan. I'm sorry, but it wasn't all my fault, you know. You've been the best friend I've had in the papers all this year. It was you who rooted for the Blue from the very start. You took up the cudgels in my behalf when I was being attacked some time ago. You have championed clean baseball and you are one of the best reporters covering the game. I want you to know my appreciation for the part you played in this. No hard feelings." "I meant it, every word of it," Pop replied and there was not a flicker in his eyes as he gazed back

Want Live Talent
 Town are beginning to realize that it will happen if a series of meetings now in progress in New York are successful. The meetings are being held by the A.F.M. Federation of Musicians and are association is trying to get more live talent on the radio stations so that they can do away with the music and to supplement with live talent on the radio. The radio has been given till August 15th for the change and if they agree at that time that the union will call a strike of which will just about double the thing as far as radio goes and all this because of the fact that the radio is over folks. It really is a

Desk Gift For Princess Elizabeth

LONDON—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose studied in the school-room at Buckingham Palace while the King and Queen toured Wales. For a treat they were allowed to have picnic teas down near the little lake in the gardens as they do at York Cottage Windsor, during family week-ends. Princess Margaret Rose is making a collection of wild flowers and rather turns up her tiny nose at the palace gardens. The younger royalties expect to spend part of their holidays with their grandparents at Glamis Castle where Princess Elizabeth is hoping to receive as a present the desk of which her mother did her lessons and which she greatly admires. The Countess of Strathmore has promised to give it to her when you are old enough. Later both princesses have begged for the English child's holiday—a "trip to the seaside."
