Control Over Resources Suggested For Provinces

Before Rowell Commission It Is Asked That Dominion Government Should Do Research In Mining, Forestry, Fisheries—Provincial Governments Having Administration of the Practical Work.

WINNIPEG.—Before the Dominion-Provincial Relations Commission, two Deputy Ministers separately and consecutively expressed the view that the proper function of the Dominion Government is to do research work in mining, forestry and fisheries in the appropriate departments, and the corresponding departments of Provincial Governments should have full control and administration of the practical work in each Provincial area.

These men, Dr. F. W. Jackson, Deputy Minister of Health and Public Welfare, and E. J. Allen, Assistant Deputy Minister of Natural Resources, were asked to give their opinion as to means by which any over-exploitation in some cases has been brought about, and how it might be prevented. Speaking broadly, there had been little overlapping due to collaboration and close co-operation between Federal and Manitoba Departments, but nevertheless serious problems had arisen in some cases because the Dominion was not living up to its responsibilities.

Mr. Allen said that the only places where the forestry services of Dominion and of Manitoba could conflict are in the national parks and in the experimental areas operated by Federal supervision. Ottawa's best service to all Canada was to conduct research work to prevent spread of insect infestations and fungus diseases. A recent outbreak in Gaspe Peninsula has still more recently appeared in Manitoba. So what happens to forests in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick is important to every Province. It is Manitoba's interest to have it stamped out in one locality, it might spread to the rest of Canada. It is not in the Dominion's interest to have it stamped out in one locality, it might spread to the rest of Canada.

KEY POSITION:

In the new trade negotiations now going forward between Great Britain and the United States, Canada holds the key position. Some observers believe that the new democracy is more realistic than the old, but the fact is that the Dominion is in the place of one who has an option that can be swapped for valuable concessions; practically nothing can be done without this country's approval; and, undoubtedly have the final word.

SCOUTING

Here There Everywhere

A brother to every other Scout, without regard to race or creed.

Lieutenant Governor J. C. Bowen of Alberta honoured the 22nd Edmonton Scout Group by officially opening its new headquarters in the absence of Mayor Clarke and a large gathering of prominent citizens and Scout leaders.

When darkness shortly came on with a chilling wind, he bivouacked for the night, kindled a fire for warmth and comfort, and grilled the partridge they had shot. The partridge he divided with care, giving the breast meat to the youngest boy. Then in preparation for daylight, he took a stick from the North Star and set a stick pointing in the direction that should bring them out on the railroad. Early in the morning they set off, and finally came out on the rails four miles from home.

Meanwhile the alarmed searchers who had failed to find them the previous afternoon and evening, were on the point of summoning aid from Falmouth. A lookout on top of the station water tank reported distant figures on the track. A section man sped away on a gas-car to investigate, and the lost quintet were soon safe back at home.

But for Scout Volant's coolness and head work the lads might have been lost for several days. If nothing more serious had resulted, the partridge was the only food eaten since leaving home. They stood little five year old, when asked if he had not been terribly tired, replied, "Well, I was getting tired, but I could have gone two more miles."
