Food Prices Rising

The problem of the family budget is again disturbing the minds of the thrifty Canadian housewife and her husband as they provide the wherewithal to meet the needs of the family. The centre of attention is food prices. The movement for some time has been upward and the cost of a budget of the leading foods that are consumed by the Canadian has risen about six per cent in the past six months. This figure represents the average for 70 Canadian cities; it would be higher in some and lower in others. The sharpest price advances have been made for potatoes, eggs, butter, flour, bacon and fresh pork. Of course, eggs and butter are usually higher in the fall but other increases are not to be explained by seasonal influences. Most of the other common foods have also moved upward by moderate amounts, the only noteworthy exceptions being fresh beef, lamb, mutton, coffee and sugar. Food prices generally are now almost 25 per cent higher than the 1935 depression low point but are still 25 per cent below the pre-depression levels of 1929. Rising food prices are a hardship on the consumer but are a boon to the producer. The farmer was hard hit in the depression and a distressed farming community reacts on the prosperity of all other classes in the Dominion. Prosperity, general prosperity and higher incomes to meet the higher costs of living. So even the cloud of higher food costs which hangs over us may have a silver lining. Old Mamma: "I wants a ticket to Ephonia's Agent (after 10 minutes of searching over railway guides): "Where the deuce is Ephonia?" Old Mamma: "Settin' over here on dat bench."

The Local Policeman

The value of the local policeman in a small municipality such as ours is rarely appreciated. As a matter of fact their name is seldom linked with murders, highly organized crime waves, or such things that would give them front page recognition. Yet in having a local policeman there is a sense of satisfaction in knowing that someone is looking out for your safety and protection throughout the long hours of the night. In last week's edition of the Burford Advocate our attention was brought to a heading that read "Constable Detects Fire". It happened the Constable in that place detected a small blaze in the business section at two thirty in the morning and was able to control the flames before damaging headway was made. This is just one evidence of the value of a policeman to patrol the streets during the night. The constable in Burford probably earned his salary for twenty years in detecting and extinguishing that one blaze. A similar occurrence is quite possible in our own town and serves to help us realize the importance of a night patrol. King George VI has indicated his readiness to become, like his father, the Patron of the Boy Scouts of the Empire.

DRUG STORES

The modern drug store is an establishment very different from the apothecary's shop of a generation or two ago. Its contents there were almost wholly confined to rows of interesting jars and bottles which containing all manner of drugs which the skillful chemist would compound into prescriptions for the sick. The aromatic and pungent smells and the sound of the mortar and pestle were the intriguing characteristics of the modern store. Its shelves are loaded with patent medicines of all kinds made, not by the apothecary himself, but by manufacturers. There is a large supply of lipstick and cosmetics for the ladies and shaving soap and lotions for men, not forgetting hair tonics to stall off baldness. There are magazines, tobacco, cameras and candies along with a soda fountain and lunch counter. At Christmas time toys are on sale and the place looks like a miniature department store. However, at the back of the shop the druggist works expertly, pouring and mixing the medicine that causes pain and challenges disease and that, after all, is his most important service to the community. We believe in him and trust him, just as the Chinaman goes to his own drug store to get powdered "dragon teeth" to help him overcome toothache, measles, fever and attacks by demons. Sales in Canadian drug stores in 1935 amounted to over $63,000,000. Between ten and fifteen per cent of these sales, according to the last census, was for prescriptions. Patent medicines and compounds accounted for 13 per cent and tobacco 10 per cent. "Tiny" (christened Edmund) Rustner is 6 feet 8 inches tall and just about the tallest man in radio. 6-0 is the next tallest. Wearing the all that which is part of his Shell-Cas costume he stands over 7 feet-0-0. Don Wilson is another impressive figure in the studios. He measures 6 feet 3 inches and weighs 215 pounds.

WEDDING

The Frobenjerian Maas, Jarvis, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday, when Mary Eleanor, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Jones, of Townsend, beamed the bride of Mr. Harry Walter Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Hammond, of St. Thomas. After the ceremony the happy couple left on a trip to Stratford, London, St. Thomas and western points. Upon their return, they will take up residence on the grounds near Aymer.

Scarlet Fever Outbreak is Not Serious

Only One Case Reported The recent outbreak of Scarlet Fever within the Village has caused residents to become alarmed for fear of a general outbreak. We have been informed by Dr. E. M. Jones, M.O.H. for the Village, that there is no immediate danger of the disease spreading. Until the present time there is only one case reported, and as the victim was taken ill during the New Year holidays there was no contact made at school, which eliminates the danger of spreading the disease from that source. Several cases of mumps have been reported in nearby localities and there is a probability of a mump epidemic. Although the diseases are well under control here as yet, it is imperative that every precaution be taken to avoid any further cases of either disease.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF THE SHORT COURSE

On the opening morning of the January term, nearly everybody was present at nine o'clock when we were late in getting started as there were no chairs. We were finally brought by Mr. Skinner and some of the boys and the class was begun. Miss Bambridge opened the course by introducing Miss Pasmore, our new Clothing teacher, who expressed her pleasure at being placed in her short course. After the roll call, considerable time was spent in paying the fees of Miss Bambridge and "getting them off our chest." Six new girls have enrolled in our class for the next two months. Several of the girls are absent with mumps and measles. We hope that they will be able to be back in the class again.
