DEATH ON THE DIAMOND

BY CORTLAND FITZSIMMONS

When the United League season opens the gamblers are offering 200 to 1 that Pop Clark's New York Blues will not win the pennant. Terry Burke is the only sports writer to give them a chance. He bets $10 at Tony Murrell's restaurant in the Broadway district. In the Blues' first game Whittier, the Philadelphia pitcher, is killed with a bullet through the heart after smashing out a home run. Both Burke and Larry Doyle, the Blues' rookie shortstop, for whom Whittier was named, are killed. Whittier is killed by a bullet through the heart after smashing out a home run. "Terry, Hoover, Craven and Reynolds waited for a cab. 'Mullins sure is sure over losing that five,' Reynolds grinned his satisfaction. 'He won't believe that men like Pop and Rawlins are the brains behind their teams,' Terry answered. 'Which team do you think is the best?' Reynolds asked. 'You mean between the Blues and Butchers?' Terry asked. And after Reynolds' nod of agreement, he

Wealth From The Sea

A Bromine-Extracting Plant Pumps Up Other Riches

We gasped in admiration on this page some three years ago at the chemical plant which has been built at Kure Beach, near Wilmington, N.C. The mere idea of extracting bromine from the sea and selling it to gasoline refiners who would in turn pass it along to automobile drivers as a component of ethyl gasoline was thrilling us. Now come the figures of production for the last 12 months.

Some 158,735,000 pounds of ocean water were pumped through the Kure Beach plant. And in all these months it has produced 4,400 tons of bromine. Here is the itemized statement of values:

- Sodium chloride or kitchen salt, 2,140,000 tons, worth $33,200,000.
- Epsom salts, 542,500 tons, worth $18,050,000.
- Calcium chloride, 61,000 tons, worth $4,880,000, which if made into fertilizer, would enrich about 1,000,000 acres of soil.
- Magnesium, 48,000 tons, worth $33,000,000, enough for 1,500 million photographic flash bulbs, 100,000 airplanes or 250,000 stratosphere gondolas.
- Aluminum, 129 tons, worth $52,200, enough to make the pistons of 68,000 automobiles.
- Strontium carbonate, 160 tons, worth $99,600, enough to make a million iridescent drinking glasses.
- Iron, 145 tons, worth $17,300.

Embroidered Script For Your Gifts

It looks good doesn't it? Well, it is good, and good for you too. When you're simply at your wits' end for a gift, you can't go wrong with a gift of a tablecloth. You can sit a gingerbread treat in a few minutes and while it is baking, you can make a gift of a tablecloth. It is a gift that will be treasured by the whole family.

There used to be a quaint custom of ornamenting household linens with embroidery legends in script. If one is not too young and has a good memory, it may be possible to recall a certain gift that it was after ten when he went up to his room. The door was open into Craven's room and Terry heard him moving about. He went to the door. 'Hoover just telephoned,' Craven said. 'He's coming up with Doc Biers. He's as drunk as a lord, evidently. I tried to discourage him, but he said he had something to tell me.' 'I'll have them in my room,' Terry suggested. 'and if you get tired you can go to bed.' 'There was a rap on Craven's door. 'I'll open mine. Come on in!' Terry moved over and opened his door and called to Hoover, who was leaning against the wall. 'My father is drunk,' Doc Biers grunted as he helped Hoover along the hall. 'Old fool!' Hoover muttered. 'It's my asthma.' They sat down and Hoover leered up at Terry for a moment and then asked, 'Have you got a drink?' Biers shook his head at Terry, but Hoover saw it and said testily, 'Mind your own business.' 'What's on your mind, Bill?' Craven asked. 'You said you had something to tell me.' 'It's worth a drink. It's worth two or three drinks. You're late on a story and I won't tell you unless you get me a drink.' Terry looked a question of Biers, who shook his head. CANADA PACKERS LIMITED REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS

The tenth fiscal year of Canada Packers Limited ended March 26th, 1937. Profit after Depreciation, Bond Interest, and Income Tax, on 2,000 Shares, to $7.61 per Share. Dividend on the Common Shares, during the current fiscal year, $2.00 per Share. The Profit applicable to the Common Shares is substantially higher than in any previous year. Shareholders may feel in the circumstances, that a larger dividend might have been justified. This was, in fact, considered but the decision was against an increase because of the policy of the Company to which the Company is committed.

The fundamental fact is that at such prices there is a sure profit in growing feeds and converting these feeds into Hogs. It may appear that for a certain period prices of Grains may be high and during that period Canada will sell for more than the Pigs which those Grains would produce. In such case the Farmer, if he feeds, would make less Profit. But he would not make a Loss. The feeder who does not grow his Grain, but buys it on the market, would make a Loss. For him the fluctuations of the Grain continue producing Hogs in the assurance that during the life of the Ottawa farm agreement Hog production is the safest activity on the Canadian farm.

These figures give ground for thinking that if feed had been plentiful last year, the rate of increase in Hog production would now be well on the way towards filling the Hog Quota in Great Britain. This question as to whether, (and how soon), Canada will achieve her quota of 200,000 Hogs in Great Britain, is a question which whether Canada will fill her Quota, there should be only one answer. For Canada is naturally a Hog producing country, and this Quota gives her the opportunity, on the most favorable terms, of establishing herself in the greatest Hog market of the world.

The extra cost of producing Hogs in Canada, expressed in Grain is 250 " An average price of Grain at the Farm, expressed in Grain is 250 " In other words, the extra cost of production per Hog, due to feeding inefficiency in Canada, is 250 " per Hog. If the relative feeding ratios are correct, there can be no doubt about this figure. And the statement of ratios is based on the best available information in each country. But to Canadian Hog Producers the figures have still greater significance. Many Canadian Farmers, both East and West, actually produce Hogs at a rate of 34.3. There is no doubt about this. The statement is based on many farms—hundreds of them—the basis of production can not be better than 61. What then is the difference between the high and low cost within Canada? On the basis of 61, the quantity of Grain required to produce a 200 lb. Hog is 1,200 lbs. On the basis of 34.3, the quantity is 700 "

To maintain her Agriculture on a sound basis, Canada must produce many more Hogs than she herself can consume. The great market for the surplus Bacon of the world is Great Britain. In this market Canada at present enjoys a preferred position of the greatest importance. For the time being the price of Bacon in Great Britain, (and the corresponding price of Hogs in Canada) is such that even on a basis of production 5:1 there is a large Profit in producing Hogs. But the high price of Bacon in Great Britain is maintained only by a Government plan of restricting imports. (Under this plan Canada is allotted the large Quota of 24 million Hogs.) Canada is increasing production at a rate which, with favourable crop conditions, will enable her to fill her Quota within two or three years (perhaps earlier). Canada's volume of shipments to Great Britain will then be almost on a par with those of Denmark. This will afford an opportunity, by improving Canadian product and service, to popularize Canadian Bacon to a extent never before possible. This can be done only by making Canadian Bacon equal in quality to Danish. For this the first requisite is to make Canadian Hogs as good as Danish. A substantial improvement has been made in Canadian Hogs in the last 15 years. The best Canadians are still not so good as the best Danes, but nevertheless they are very good. Canada's immediate problem is to bring all her Hogs up to the standard of her best. For this the inconvertible requirement is to achieve an efficiency in Hog production equal to that of Denmark. If Canada does achieve such an efficiency she will then have an advantage over Denmark. The surplus Bacon she will produce in Canada more cheaply than she can buy in Denmark. The achieving of this standard of feeding efficiency is the most important Canadian objective in Canadian Agriculture. It depends upon the fact that Canada will advance to first place in the British market, or will at some future date be driven from that market as has more than once occurred in the past.

The record in the Cattle Industry is much more cheerful than in any year since 1930. The pressure on the Cattle market from the year 1930 forward was the difficulty of finding a market for Canada's surplus. This surplus is roughly 200,000 Cattle per year. Exports (Live Cattle) for the last 10 years have been:

Year	Exports
1927	212,599
1928	168,274
1929	166,103
1930	24,583
1931	26,308
1932	25,578
1933	25,003
1934	60,133
1935	109,638
1936	149,638
1937	149,638

The recent relief has come through shipments to United States. Under the Canadian-American Trade Agreement a number of Cattle up to 150,000 may be shipped into United States at a Duty of 2¢ per lb. This concession was secured from the United States Administration only after prolonged negotiations. It was strenuously opposed by American Cattle Producers. For this the inconvertible requirement is to achieve an efficiency in Hog production equal to that of Denmark. If Canada does achieve such an efficiency she will then have an advantage over Denmark. The surplus Bacon she will produce in Canada more cheaply than she can buy in Denmark. The achieving of this standard of feeding efficiency is the most important Canadian objective in Canadian Agriculture. It depends upon the fact that Canada will advance to first place in the British market, or will at some future date be driven from that market as has more than once occurred in the past.

circumstances fitted for abundant physical life. "Now there arose a new king over Egypt, who knew not Joseph." The Hebrew word "arose" is almost always used to describe a new connection, as in Deut. 34: 10; the word "new" occurs in connection with an entire change, as in Deut. 32: 17; Judges 5: 8; while the expression "knew not" (Deut. 28: 36) is applied not so much to absolute want of knowledge as to the absence of friendly acquaintanceship. "And he said unto his people, Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we. Come, let us deal wisely with them, lest they multiply, and it come to pass, that when they fall out with us, they be against ourselves, and get them up out of the land." There was absolutely no justification for such a suspicious attitude toward the Hebrew people, for, in the first place, they have never been known as a warlike nation, and, in the second place, they were so favorably situated in Egypt, that there would have been no reason for their rising up to unite with Egypt's enemies. Moreover, the Hebrew people had no alliances with the nations around Egypt, and were, of all people in the world, the most independent, i.e., a people who were bound only to God, and were, of all people, the most independent.

"Therefore did they set over them taskmasters." Literally, these were "captains of labor-camps," the word "camp" in the technical sense of "a place to which the technical term for this word is 'to be'." "to wear out anyone's strength," and is the word used in the prophecy in Gen. 45: 18 that this would be the technical term for Israel in Egypt hundreds of years after the prophecy was uttered.
