Then comes the last minute rush of buying, tying up par-cels, sending someone a card which we forgot to do before and all the hundred and one things that have to be done in order to make the Christ-mas season a successful and happy one.

Many housewives, in fact, feel that it's hardly worth all the bother, but a lot of the hectic rush of the Christmas season can be saved by thinking ahead of time. This may seem an odd time to give you Christmas recipes but by making your Christmas cake now, you have more leisure and time to think of other things later.
