Children Exposed To "Bad" Music

Sir Ernest MacMillan Urges Sou Training at Toronto
Convention

The present-day exposure of chil dren to "bad" music must stop if they are to be given a musical education, Sir Ernest MacMillan told the Ontario Music Teachers' Association at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Commenting on someone's statement that no music was bad—that it was simply music that wasn't as good as it might be, Sir Ernest said: "Someone once defined dirt as matter in the wrong place."
