When the United League season opens Pop Clark's New York Blues are a 200 to 1 shot. Terry Burke being the only sports writer to give them a chance at the pennant. As the schedule is played out the Blues are singled out for spectacular death on the playing field by shooting or mysterious poisoning, or are put out of combat by serious injury. Whittier, Philadelphia pitcher, is shot through the heart; four Boston players are sent to the hospital by the wrecking of their taxi; Dirkin, Chicago's star batter, is poisoned, and Pietro, Chicago's hot boy disappears. Scotty, St. Louis pitcher, is poisoned; Rawlins, Chicago manager, is hanged in the hotel room adjoining his own. When Larry, Detroit's star pitcher, refuses to play against the Blues, baseball's czar calls a meeting of club owners. Terry Burke has had seats on most of these sensational murders for the Star and Detective Kelly at first suspect both him and Larry. Duke, the Blues' ringleader, is shot; Clark, Detroit's star pitcher, is shot; and Clark, Detroit's star pitcher, is shot; and Clark, Detroit's star pitcher, is shot.

Heart Takes Own Picture

New Electrical Device That Combines X-ray Pictures Described to Radiologists

A new electrical device which makes the heart automatically take X-ray pictures of itself was shown before the International Congress of Radiology at Chicago last week.

With it physicians for the first time get accurate pictures of the size and shape of the heart in health and disease, instead of an approximate image according to its inventor, Dr. I. S. Hirsch and Dr. Myron Schwartzschild, of New York City.

Amplified 10,000 Times In operation, it combines three of science's newest tools—the electrocardiograph, which picks up the small electrical waves generated by the heart; the cathode ray tube which makes a picture of these waves; and the X-ray tube which makes a picture of the picture.

Also Photographs Lungs By a simple change in the apparatus it may be used to photograph the lungs at any desired point in expansion or contraction.
