The Ones To Solve It

We still have the idea that housing problems will be solved by people who want to own homes rather than by politicians who would provide them.—Financial Times (Montreal).

Funny—They Love Us!

An analysis to serious pessimism over the human race is to be found in the fact that dogs and also some other animals think quite a lot of a great many of us.—Hamilton Spectator.

No Jobs In The North

The people of the North are warm-hearted, kind, hospitable! But the country itself is not. The men who have no work to do in the North and who have no work to do in the South will find themselves in a predicament. For his own sake, he should have some assurance that he can secure employment before he undertakes the hardships of a journey here and the weather that will greet him on arrival.

What Causes The Losses

The losses of the Canadian National Railway are not operating losses. This year, as last year, and the year before that, the Canadian National had a net operating surplus. The loss, and the only loss, is on interest charges. Well, no policy of nationalization or amalgamation would or could reduce a cent of the loss on interest charges. The bondholders are sure to recommend a swap of their securities as a sure win.—Times (London).

Two Little Words

Not a right nor a line in the British North America Act is affected by the Dominion Government's proposal to put into force unemployment insurance. Merely the two words are added to the constitution, making it clear and definite that the problem is a national one, on which all are agreed. It would certainly seem that the opposition of Alberta, New Brunswick and Quebec to the proposed legislation would be fatuous, if the opposition is pressed.—St. Catharines Standard.

We're All Getting Them

At one time the ownership of an automobile was a sign of wealth. That time is not very long ago, but it has departed definitely now. A survey of the United States and Canada has shown that automobile ownership among families with incomes of less than $20 a week is increasing at the rate of 1,000 annually. It is expected that by 1940 two-thirds of the motor cars in the two countries, or more than 15,000,000 of them, will be owned by persons in the less-than-$20 class.—Edmonton Journal.

Do You Like Your Work?

If you do not get any enjoyment out of your daily job, or if you do not get a "kick" out of doing a piece of work you have done well, then you are not interested in that job and you will not likely make a success of it.

Why not experiment?

Try a month of actually showing interest in the problems and solutions of the business you are in. You will be pleasantly surprised to note how much your outlook on life will change and how much better satisfied you will be if you will only "make your job interesting."—Kitchener Record.

PEACE WITH ITALY

Fresh moves are under way to bring about better relations between Great Britain and Italy. Mussolini, to tell the truth, is hard-pressed for cash, having spent enormous sums in Ethiopia, and is looking for a little financial help from John Bull. Britain, apparently, will be glad to lend the money if for nothing else than to restore peace in the Mediterranean, but Italy first will have to comply with certain conditions: cease anti-British propaganda among the Arabs in the Near East; withdraw "volunteers" from Spain.

TO RESCUE CHINA?

If a rumor that armies from Outer Mongolia, a highly insulated country between Soviet Siberia and China, are advancing to the aid of the Chinese armies turns out to be true, it means the beginning of the end for Japan. The army of Mongolia is reported to number 250,000 men, all mounted; their highly mechanized equipment has been in the hands of the Japanese since the Russian and Japanese wars.

Their symptoms no longer make life intolerable.

Prevention of a fire panic at a largely attended fire Christmas week entertainment for children at the Oak Theatre, Brandon, Man., was credited by Manager D. B. Roberts to four "quick-acting" Phosphorine Phosphate capsules. The children had been invited to assist in ushering the children. When smoke entered the auditorium and the alarm of fire was given, the children, kept them from crowding the aisles, opened the emergency exits, and marched them safely out. A final search through the smoky-filled theatre made sure that no children were overlooked. "The theatre was cleared in a remarkably short time," stated Manager Roberts, "and several children might easily have become a serious panic was completely avoided." The Phosphorine Phosphate capsules were Arthur Wilton, Donald Thompson, Art Evans and George Milliken.
