ANNUAL FLOWERS

In selecting a list of annual flowers, attention must be paid, of course, to time of blooming and colour. Height should also be noted as a medium sized plant may be hidden by some bushy stocks or tall cosmos. But these are only elemental points which every gardener of a few years' experience notes automatically. There are other and finer distinctions. Certain shades blend well together and often a whole bed will be selected with this blending in mind. Of course, for this sort of thing, all the plants must

In partial shade, Clarkia, Annual Larkspur, Lupine, Nicotine, Phlox and Verbena should be grown. On poor soil, Portularia is a favorite, as well as Alyssum. Swet-scented Stocks, Linum, Calendulas, Calliopsis, Sunflowers, Schizanthus, Salpiglossis, Marigolds, Petunias, and many others. These will also successfull; resist dry weather. Practically any of these flowers may still be planted successfully.

Thinning

Thinning

Thinning of both flowers and vegetables is most important after the plants are up an inch or so. With flowers a good rule is to have half as much space between as the plants will be high. This will be about a foot between each spinst.

REPLACING PERENNIALS

Perennials are plants that die to the roots each spring. They are he permanent flowers in our gardens, and once planted, are supposed to be trong everlasting.
