Slim Loyale is paroled from prison after serving 18 months for a crime he did not commit. He returns to his Circle L ranch to find his father dead and sinister forces at work, trying to make him violate his parole so that he can again be railroaded to prison. The Brockwells and their gang are plotting to gain possession of Circle L ranch and the property of Mona Hall, a neighbor and life-long friend of Slim Loyale. Slim discovers that Sheriff Starbuck has joined the plot against him. With the help of Dakota Blue and his cowboys, Slim Loyale defies the land-grabbers to

That momentary pause that had fallen on the heels of young Brockwell's words had evidently lowered Brockwell's guard. For a noment he thought that Slim was going to take his scatching re-marks without retaliation. In this he erred considerably. He saw Slim's sudden hunching of one shoulder and knew, too late, that a punch was coming. He tried to duck, at the same time dragging at his gun. Slim's fist swung with all the pent-up rage and sense of unfairness which choked him, landed a little high on Brock-well's jaw. But it had plenty of impetus and power behind it. Brockwell, trying frantically to do two things at once, namely free his gun and protect himself from Slim's barrage of punches, rolled his head in the wrong direction. The point of his jaw connected squarely with Slim's fist, and he went limp. Slim was past all realization of
