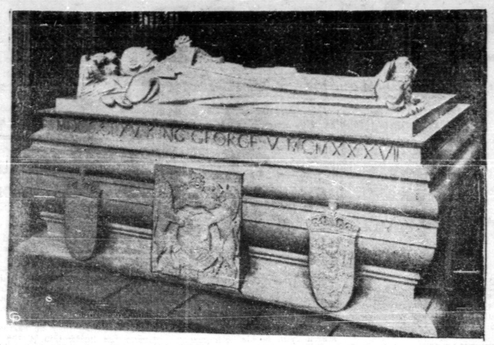
Tomb of King George V In Chapel at Windsor



This photograph shows the permanent tomb of King George V in St. George's chapel, Windsor, where it was placed opposite the memorial to the Duke of Kent, the late monarch's great-grandfather. The tomb was designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens, R.A. and the recumbent figure is the work of Sir William Reid Dick, R.A. King George's sarcophagus was recently dedicated at a private ceremony attended by the present King and Queen and members of the royal family. It is the first one to be located in the public part of the chapel.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

1.—When a secretary is introducing a caller to her employer, should she say, "Mr. Morgan (the caller), this is Mr. Gibson (employer)"?

2.—Which is better, to have a dozen real close friends, or be like some people who seem to be a friend of everybody?

3.—When a husband and wife are giving a dinner at their home, and have no servants, who should greet the guests at the door as they arrive?

4.—Isn't it all right to send out written wedding invitations?

5.—Is a woman permitted to be the first to suggest that a man call on her?

6.—Must the fork be used for cutting salad?

Answers

1. No. She should mention her employer's name first: "Mr. Gibson, this is Mr. Morgan, who telephoned you for an appointment." 2. It is preferable to have a dozen real genuine friends. "A friend to everybody is a friend to nobody." 3. The husband. 4. Yes. Informal notes, written on one's personal stationery, are all right, but engraved invitations and announcements is the better form. 5. Yes; she has that privilege. 6. Yes; one should not use the knife.

HAVE YOU HEARD

There used to appear in the catalogue of a mail-order house a picture of a pair of corduroy trousers.

Year after year the picture appeared, together with the description of the trousers—and the price, $2.50.

In the twenty-fifth year of the advertisement the company received this letter:

"Dear Friend: The more I been seeing them corduroy breeches, the more I got to wantin' them. If you ain't sold them yet, let me know, and I will buy them.—Yours truly, Si Higginbotham."

Nit—Why do you speak so hoarse?

Wit—I was talking through a screen door and it strained my voice.

"Oh, darling," cooed the wife of one of our married men, "I've set my heart on a new studio couch."

"Indeed?" came back our chum. "Well, sweetness, that's the only part of you that ever will set on one."

"Did the doctor take your temperature?"

"I dunno. All I've missed so far is my watch."

A city man's secretary looked up from her typewriter and saw a beautiful blonde, carrying some papers, glide into the private office, smiling sweetly.

"Listen," said the secretary, taking stock of the charmer, "if you try to get the boss away from me I'll scratch your eyes out!"

"Don't worry, dear," answered the visitor, "I'm not the new typist. I'm only the boss's wife."

When a pretty school teacher drops her eyes, her pupils act up.

Here and There WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

In recently winning the Leonard Shield, in the provincial junior first aid competitions conducted by the St. John Ambulance Association, the first aid team representing the 10th Brantford Boy Scout Troop was repeating for the third time in four years. Windsor and Toronto Scouts first aid teams tied for second place.

An enrolment in Scouting of nearly three out of every four boys of the Church of Latter Day Saints was announced at the quarterly conference at Raymond, Alta. It was stated that the church had adopted the Scout Movement as a permanent feature of its programme. Declared the Elder Bullard: "It is just as important in this church as the Sunday school or any other auxiliary organization and we intend to promote it to the fullest."

"I cannot think of any better education and training for the youth of Canada than the Scouting Movement."—Hon. Gilbert Layton, Minister without Portfolio, Quebec.

London Sea Scouts having headquarters on the River Thames have enrolled in the Port of London Authority's River Emergency Service, being organized to protect shipping in wartime. Their duties will include rescue work and maintenance of communication by speed boats and a series of signalling stations, in case of telephone disruption.

A Boy Scout first aid squad maintained for the third year at St. George's Island Park, Calgary, by the 4th Calgary (Elks' Own) Boy Scout Troop, last summer took care of 81 cases of injury, according to the Annual Report of the Park Superintendent. The Scout first aiders were on duty 48 days, including week-ends and public holidays. The equipment for the station was supplied by the Canadian Red Cross. Medical necessities for the first aid chest are maintained by the Calgary Parks Department.

As a headquarters for Saskatchewan's training centre for Boy Scout leaders, plans are under way for building a replica of the old Hudson's Bay trading post at Fort Qu'Appelle. Duplicates of the ancient blockhouse and the group of log cabins will be constructed, and surrounded by a fence of palings. It is planned also to erect a provincial museum for Indian relics.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I keep the parts together when using a cement to repair broken glass?

A.—After using a cement to repair broken glass or china, place a strip of adhesive tape over the repair, temporarily. The parts will be kept together until the cement is thoroughly dry.

Q.—How can I prevent waste, and save time, when grating cheese?

A.—Time and labor can be saved when using cheese for au gratin potatoes and macaroni, if the cheese is put through the food cheaper. By doing this, all the small pieces of cheese which are so difficult to grate, can be utilized.

Q.—How can I soften glue that has hardened in its container?

Q.—How can I clean white window shades?

A.—One method is to use finely powdered bath brick. Apply with a dry, clean nail brush. Brush the soiled spots briskly until the stains disappear.

Q.—How can I make a good acid for the manicure?

A.—Put one teaspoonful of lemon juice into a cup of warm water. Stains will be removed from the fingers and nails, and it will also loosen the cuticle.

What Science Is Doing

TOUGH MEATS "TENDERIZED"

A process of "tenderizing" meat through the use of ultra-violet rays—which makes cheap cuts as toothsome as prime sirloin has been invented.

The method, which soon will go into commercial use in Cleveland, supplants the costly, centuries-old process of "ripening" or "hanging" choice meats for weeks to achieve tenderness.

Farm Forum

Conducted by Professor Henry G. Bell, Dept. of Chemistry, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, with the co-operation of the various departments of the O.A.C.

1. Q.—Will you please answer the following questions to clear away the cobwebs in my brain:

Around about here farmers are buying Phosphate and Potash separately, and mixing it, sowing it without a drier. What do you think of this practice? One agent told me last year the complete fertilizer was cured better and was more available to plant life. We sow a bag (125 lbs.) of a complete fertilizer to the acre. What I wish to know is how much of the Phosphate and how much Potash would be required to equal in strength a complete fertilizer 0-12-10. The Phosphate 20% and Potash 60%. I mean how many pounds of each must I have to equal an 0-12-10? J.D.L., Oxford County.

A.—In order to make up a 0-12-10 you could mix 120 lbs. of 20% Superphosphate with 34 lbs. of 60% Potash and get the analysis 0-12-10. This should be sown very soon after mixing since the chemicals tend to react on one another, and the mixture may become sticky from taking up moisture out of the air. There would be no reversion of available plant-food in this mixture, and the plant-food will be just as available as it would be in 200 lbs. of factory-mixed 0-12-10. The fertilizer agent is right in saying that the complete mixtures are usually well-cured hence are more certain to be in optimum drilling condition.—Henry G. Bell, Dept. of Chem.

2. Q.—I wish some information regarding the sowing of fertilizer with corn for ensilage. I have always sown the corn on a sod or a field of ground that was badly infested with twich-grass, but owing to the dry weather of late, I have been unable to get catches of clover so thought of using some fertilizer on the corn along with the manure. I sow with fertilizer drill, 35 inches apart, and wish to know if it would be better to sow fertilizer one spout each side of spout sowing corn, or what would you recommend and at what rates per acre? W.H.B. Simcoe County.

A.—Regarding the sowing of fertilizer on corn, the general opinion is that sowing the fertilizer through all of the tubes, if the rate is not higher than 250 lbs. per acre, will help the corn and not injure its vitality. If you wish to apply the fertilizer heavier than this, it would probably be best to proceed as you suggest; cut off the fertilizer dropper from the row where the corn is being sown and let the fertilizer be sown through the tubes on either side.

TO MAKE MEN STRONG

A new drink that makes men strong has been tested at the Long Island College of Medicine.

The drink is about one-third of a cupful daily of ordinary dry gelatine dissolved in orange and lemon juice.

Results, six men doubled their muscular endurance in about a month and a half training at bicycle riding. On women there was no effect.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON II

PAUL PREACHES THE RISEN CHRIST (Easter Lesson)

Acts 13; 1 Corinthians 15.

Printed Text—Acts 13:16, 23-31, 38, 39; 1 Cor. 15:19-22.

Golden Text.—But now hath Christ been raised from the dead, the first-fruits of them that are asleep. I Cor. 15:20.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time.—St. Paul began his first missionary journey during the summer of A.D. 47. He wrote the First Epistle to the Corinthians from Ephesus about A.D. 56.

Place.—The apostles set forth on their first journey from Antioch to Syria; they spent considerable time on the island of Cyprus, Paul's first recorded sermon was delivered in the synagogue of Antioch, the city of Corinth, to which the First Epistle to the Corinthians was addressed, was located in central Greece.

We come in this chapter to one of the epochal periods in the history of the Christian church, the beginning of Paul's great missionary journeys, by which the gospel was carried to the uttermost parts of the Mediterranean world.

Not long before this, the Lord told Ananias that Paul would stand before kings. This promise is now fulfilled, and the first-fruits begin to be harvested. Wherever the gospel has gone, there has been victory over every evil power, and the emancipation of men from the chains and bondage of superstition and sin.

Paul At Antioch

Acts 13:14-43. From Paphos Paul set sail for the coast of Asia Minor, and, landing at Perga in Pamphylia, he and Barnabas went to the province of Pisidia, where were living a considerable number of Jews, sufficient to require the building of a synagogue. To this synagogue on the Sabbath day Paul and those who were with him repaired; before the service was over this city had heard a great sermon from the greatest preacher of the first century concerning a subject about which probably none of them had ever heard before, the gospel of Jesus Christ.

16. And Paul stood up, and beckoning with the hand said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, hearken.

23. Of this man's seed God according to promise brought unto Israel a Saviour, Jesus. That God would raise up One from the line of David to be a Savior, all the Old Testament testified. What Paul is about to tell them, however, is not only that these Scriptures promised that such a person would come, but that he had come, in the person of Jesus of Nazareth, born and crucified in their very generation.

24. When John had first preached before his coming the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel. 25. And as John was fulfilling his course, he said, What suppose ye that I am? I am not he. But behold, there cometh one after me the shoes of whose feet I am not worthy to unloose. 26. Brethren, children of the stock of Abraham, and those among you that fear God, to us is the word of this salvation sent forth.

27. For they that dwell in Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath, fulfilled them by condemning him. 28. And though they found no cause of death in him, yet asked they of Pilate that he should be slain. 29. And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they took him down from the tree, and laid him in a tomb.

30. But God raised him from the dead. Here was the most astonishing statement that could have possibly fallen upon the ears of these people. Paul says that God, his God and their God, had raised this man from the dead, a double miracle, a miracle in nature and a miracle in divine government. He goes on to present further evidence to prove this astonishing fact that he has just announced. First, he declares that this person raised from the dead was actually seen, and that some he had seen the Lord were still living in Palestine and witnessing to this fact. 31. And he was seen for many days of them that came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses unto the people.

38. Be it known unto you therefore, brethren, that through this man is proclaimed unto you remission of sins: 39. and by him every one that believeth is justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses. The most important part of his first recorded sermon Paul lays stress on his favorite doctrine of justification, or the declared acquittal from the guilt of sin, a thing not obtained through the Mosaic law, but only through the death and rising again of Christ.

Lamb's The Meat At Easter Time

Has Long Been Associated With The Festivities Of The Spring Season.

Lamb is a meat that has long been associated with the Easter season. Early in the history of the world, lamb was used in religious ceremonies, the Israelites, during their captivity in Egypt, keeping up their old practice as a pastoral people of sacrificing the firstlings of their flocks in the spring.

Among the Anglo-Saxons, Norsemen and other Teutonic races, the feast of Eostre or Ostara, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring, was celebrated in April, which was named Eosturmonath, or Easter month, when young lambs were principal items at all the feasts. With the coming of Christianity, and the celebration of the Christian Easter, the traditional use of lamb still persisted, and so on to the present day.

Canadian Lamb At Best

More Canadian farmers are specializing in the raising and fattening of lambs for the Easter market. Many thousands of western range lambs were placed in feedlots both in Eastern and Western Canada last fall. After several months of feeding on the best of alfalfa, silage, roots and home grown grains, these lambs are now ready for slaughter and are being marketed from week to week. The quality of the product is at its best. Lambs therefore be in season at Easter time; in fact, Canadian lamb of quality is available throughout the entire year.

Pasture Care Not Expensive

Pasture experiments during the last decade or so have demonstrated very strikingly the improvements that can be secured in yield and quality of pasture herbage and that these can be secured very economically. Experiments conducted at the Fredericton Experimental Station, states T. C. Chiasson, agricultural assistant, have shown how pasture yields can be increased by the use of commercial fertilizer.

A pasture field receiving a complete fertilizer since 1928, has given an average yield, for the last three years, of 7,277 pounds dry matter per acre, compared with a yield of 3,303 pounds dry matter per acre for a field that had no fertilizer since 1923. This was an increase of 3,974 pounds of dry matter costing $3.61 or $1.82 per ton. Therefore there does not seem to be any doubt that fertilizing will increase yields economically.

The herbage on the fertilized pasture was also much more valuable as it was made up largely of nutritious grasses and clovers, while the herbage on the unfertilized pasture was composed largely of unpalatable grasses and weeds.

Eggs For Easter An Old Tradition

The origin of the Easter egg tradition is lost in antiquity but year after year the delightful practice of adorning the breakfast table with eggs on Easter Sunday morning continues. It matters not that the first fresh eggs no longer come with Easter, the beginning of Spring. The modern model of the humble hen may, and usually does, produce her excellent product the year round. Easter is still associated with eggs, with the hen scratching in the warming earth, newly aware of her destiny.

Eggs, in the Easter tradition, are always boiled in the shell. For children, of course, they must be colored, with one of an infinite variety of home or commercial preparations. No parents, treasuring childhood memories of bowls of multi-colored eggs on Easter morning, would deny a similar pleasure to their children.

For children, pullet eggs, if they are available, will prove an added attraction, their small size lending a youthful touch and having the further practical advantage of enabling Junior to dispose of a greater number. These small eggs are sold under the designation of Grade A Pullet.

Look For Beef Prices To Rise

Possibility of an increase in the price of beef after April 1 is seen by E. J. Smith, president of the Whyte Packing Company, Stratford, Ontario, although Mr. Smith stated that he did not anticipate a very large increase, says the Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Farmers are holding back their cattle until that date when the present tariff of three cents on cattle exported to the United States is reduced to two cents. This will mean a considerable additional return to farmers and as feed is cheap and plentiful they are holding on to their stock.

The Canadian market does not seem to be able to absorb heavy beef cattle, Mr. Smith said. When exports are resumed under the new quota heavy shipments to the United States are anticipated. The Toronto market at present is dull.

There is no intimation that hog prices will be any higher in the near future, Mr. Smith said. Prices are remaining firm, but the wholesale price is below value right now. The prices are running a little below last year's level.

$1,175,000 Daily For Airplanes

Great Britain is spending $1,750,000 daily on the production of military aircraft, Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, announced in the House of Commons last week.

By the end of March Britain will have 1,750 first-line planes and an undisclosed number as reserve equipment. She also has at present 500 first-line machines overseas. Sir Kingsley was confident first-line strength would be 2,370 planes a year hence.

Production of military planes in Canada will start next year, the Minister said adding:

"Here we have the beginning of a great development and what may prove to be a valuable supplement to our production."

Post Office detectives in London are trying to trap a gang stealing receivers from telephone booths, and are puzzled because they say the instruments are useless for any other purpose.

"CANADIAN MOSAIC"

By John Murray Gibbon

Royal appreciation of the book "Canadian Mosaic," recently published study of Canadian racial origins, by John Murray Gibbon, has been expressed to the author through Alan Lascelles, assistant private secretary to King George VI, who writes from Buckingham Palace by Royal Command. The following quotation from the letter is authorized for publication:

"In view of His Majesty's forthcoming visit to Canada, he is greatly interested by this study of the racial origins of the Canadian people."
