OLD NEWSPAPER DISCOVERED AFTER MORE THAN 37 YEARS

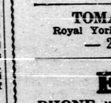
steamship sailings, hotels, liquors, farms and flour mills. In the news section is recorded the murder of a small twelve year old boy in Memphis, the news coming to the editor from a steamship passenger arriving in Toronto from the west. There is also an article telling how the circulation of the Fremi Newspapers had fallen off since Louis Napoleon deprived them of their liberty. Another article descriptive of the times reads as follows:

"Great alarm exists in Baltimore on account of the outrages committed by rowdies. Citizens are so insecure on the streets at nights, that evening services have been abandoned in some churches. On Sunday evening a gentleman named McCormick, while walking on Liberty Street with some ladies, was attacked by a gang of rowdies. He drew his revolver and shot one, who fell with a loud cry, as his companions retreated, carrying him off."

Articles of this nature seem far removed from our present day standard of security, although it is less than ninety years ago, and within the memory of some of our present day citizens. While it would be enjoyable to go on and on relating to our readers the contents of the 37 year old newspaper, space will not allow. We are grateful to Mrs. D. F. Kendry, through whom the paper came to our hands. It is exciting and interesting to know that the fourth estate flourished so prominently in those pioneer days.

WITH THE -JARVIS- BOY SCOUTS



On Saturday, April 1st, the First Jarvis Troop held their weekly meeting. We had some short instruction periods for signalling, first aid and artificial respiration and we had a sing-song with the Scout camp fire song books. Rev. Mr. Brown played the piano for us and was a great help in getting the boys started on the different songs. We should like to see the boys learn these songs well enough that they will be able to sing them around a camp fire without the music or books.

We are counting on having our "Quarter Night" on Tuesday, April 25th and would like to see every Scout present on that night. This will be discussed at our next meeting which will be held on Thursday night at 8.00 P.M. Let's have a good attendance, boys.

WITH THE CUBS

On Saturday, April 1st, the First Jarvis Pack of Wolf Cubs held their weekly meeting. We had a good meeting and Larry Lundy and Bobbie Mulkins were invested. We had some games to work and then we had a sing-song similar to the one the Scouts held. The boys took a real interest in it and should know songs better for next time.

Stanley Hodgson's six is still in first place but the sixes were never more evenly matched than now and they will have to work hard to win regards of who wins. The next meeting is at 4.30 P.M. on Thursday.

SCHOOL GROUND BEAUTIFICATION

yard faces north, east, south or west. Appended to the plan there should also be a memo indicating the depth and nature of the top soil, and a general description of the subsoil.

If there is no one in the locality versed in the art of landscaping, the prepared plan and soil description should be mailed to one of the following places:

(a) Ontario Forestry Branch, Parliament Bldgs., Toronto, Ontario.

(b) Nearest Forestry Station, St. Williams.

(c) Horticultural Societies Branch Parliament Bldgs., Toronto, Ont.

(d) Department of Horticulture, O.A.C., Guelph.

(e) Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

It is quite certain that every assistance will be gladly given by officials in charge at these points, and the plan returned with recommendations sketched thereon, showing positions of trees and ornamental clumps and concrete advice as to what varieties to plant and how these ought to be arranged.

In possession of a definite planting plan, the next step concerns itself with preparations of the areas where planting is to be carried out.

Trees, flowering shrubs, perennials and annuals are just like any other product of the earth. The more intensive the preparations of the planting site, the better shall be the results. It is, therefore, strongly recommended that all places where hedge rows and clumps are to be established be either spaded up or plowed and summer fallowed, at least a year prior to planting, and fertilizers added, if the soil is poor. If barnyard manure is used, this should be thoroughly rotted when applied and well worked into the ground.

Although pertinent information is available in detail, it may not be amiss, right here, to discuss very briefly, the problem concerning what trees and shrubs to choose, and in what arrangement these should be planted.

For a number of years, many schools have procured trees from the Ontario Forestry Branch. It is, however, impossible for Provincial Forest Nurseries to distribute large foresting waste land and establishor advanced planting stock since, in these nurseries, the demand can scarcely be met for the many millions of trees grown and distributed annually for the specific purpose of re-ing windbreaks. However, the stock which is available and free is quite suitable for hedge work and windbreak establishment, and can also be used to advantage where ornamental clumps are desired. Large trees as well as dwarf and other low growing coniferss and flowering shrubs would have to be purchased from a commercial nursery, as the Forestry Branch grows and distributes only the common conifers and hardwoods of our native forest.

The school yard ground is fundamentally a place of recreation and must be free of all incumbances. Planting should, therefore, be confined to property lines with the option of establishing clumps along the school ground border. All sharp angles, particularly fence corners, can be made attractive by planting fast growing evergreens in the back ground, tapering down with slower growing conifers, finally blending in a belt dwarf pine, cedar or juniper in the foreground.

If there are no trees at all around the school yard, it is recommended that a row of at least five to eight feet tall, hard mapple, white ash, or elm be planted. These trees should be placed at least four feet inside the line fence, and not closer than fifty feet from one another. This recommendation is, of course, subser to soil characteristics. Where very light, sandy soils prevail, better results and a pleasing effect can be obtained by planting either a single or double row of pine or spruce, spaced six feet apart.

As a general rule, there are already some trees surrounding the school ground, and in such cases, it is onl ycommon sense to advise that any open spots which may exist be planted in.

Certain trees grow better on certain soils. For instance, red pine, scotch pine and jack pine are at home on the light sandy soils. Where the soil is of a deep rich loam plant trees as spruce, cedar white pine, walnut, maple, ash and elm. Then again, trees that will thrive on rocky soils include red pine, jack pine, white cedar and larch.

A school ground can never be perfectly attractive if trees are lacking. Annuals, perennials and flowering shrubs certainly have their place in contributing to the general scheme, by providing a variety of color but the desired effect is lost in the absence of trees.

There is a wide range of annuals and perennials, suitable for school ground planting, but time does not permit entering into a discussion regarding choice of species and arrangement. Suffice to say that flowering plants should play an important part in school ground beautification.

As for flowering shrubs, it is wise to select these for their hardiness, as well as exuberance and sequence of bloom. Just as in the case of coniferous clumps, the taller growing flowering shrubs such as pink tatarian honeysuckle (Lonicera tatarica rosea), large flowered Mock Orange (Philadelphus grandiflora) and flowering Plum (Prunus pissardi) should be placed in the ceentral section, where a circular clump is planned or in the background of all base plantings. Next in order, as to height, one might well select Spirea van Houttei, Forsythia intermedia spetabilis or Golden Bells, large clustered Hydrangea (Hydrangia panniculata grandiflora) and Mock Orange (Philadelphus Virginal). Suitable foreground shrubs include Spirea Anthony Waterer, Red-Leafed Japanese Barberry (Berderis thunbergi atropurpurea) and slender Deutzia (Deutzia gracilis). Ampelopsis veitchi, or Boston Ivy, is one of the best climbing vines. It is not advisable to mix flowering shrubs with evergreens or hardwoods but a show of flowers in the foreground of an evergreen clump will add greeatly to the general appearance.

May we now disgress from the main subject for a few moments and outline recent activity in connection with school planting ? It is indeed gratifying to note that a record num ber of schools have applied for and received trees through the services of the Ontario Forestry Branch. There are still many schools in Haldimand who could use trees very profitably.

An interesting feature is being initiated this year through the cooperation of the Agricultural Representative, the public School Inspector and the newly formed Home Improvement Association of the County of Haldimand, whereby every school pupil in the county will receive five trees to be taken home and planted. As a result of this well organized extension, in addition to the regular tree shipments for school ground beautification, over 3000 pupils will plant inthe neighborhood of 20.000 trees at home. An accompanying circular with each consignment will outline the salient points in connection with proper methods of tree planting and subsequent care. It is believed that this innovation is most meritorious, in interesting and instructing the youth of our land in tree planting. Moreover, who can argue that these little groups of five trees planted on thousands of home grounds will not become an influenvient to soil characteristics. Where tial factor in converting the fathers and mothers, who perhaps had little or no conception of the great forestry work that is rapidly finding its way in the economic structure of this province of Ontario.

It matters little what organization may sponsor school ground planting and beautification. The field is wide and it is open for Horticultural Societies, Service Clubs and private donations to materially assist in this great work, which is of fundamental significance in creating an aesthetic environment, midst the prosaic hum of business — reading, 'rting and 'rithmetic.

The educational value of school ground beautification is beyond question. Protection from storms and wind is provided and there will be created recreational areas of variety and beauty to the odification of the countryside in general.

Fire Equipment May be Purchased Jointly is Rumor

Insurance Co. and Township Council May Assist Village in Purchase of Much Needed Fire Fighting Equipment.

The Village of Jarvis, The Township of Walpole and the Walpole Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. are, it is understood, considering a plan whereby the entire district will share in reasonably adequate fire protection.

While the Village Council have long been considering the purchase of a new fire truck, they failed to reach an agreement upon the type of equipment that should be purchased. An equipment that would serve the Village of Jarvis, would not necessarily serve the rural district, and while the protection property outside the Village limits is no concern of this municipality, the fact that in the past has been used more in the Township than it has in the Village. This fact clearly indicates the need of some rural protection.

Since the Walpole Township Council are concerned with the protection of property within its boundaries, so are the Walpole Insurance Co concerned with the protection of the property of its policyholders. Any fire equipment in the Village of Jarvis therefore, that would adequately give the rural property protection would be very much desired.

While considerable thought in this direction has been given, individually nothing has been done by the three bodies collectively. It is understood however, that a meeting will be held in the near future to discuss the matter and see if by co-operation greater protection can be given property from the hazards of fire, both in the Village and throughout the Township

Council Decide to Make Repairs to Park Property

OBITUARY

W. H. HUFFMAN PASSES

The death of W. H. Huffman, of Troy occurred at the Brantford General Hospital on Friday after two days illness. The late Mr. Huffman was a brother of Robert Huffman of Nanticoke, and was a former resident of the Village of York in the County of Haldimand.

The deceased passing was very sudden. He was taken ill on Wednesday apparently suffering from an infected tooth. He was rushed to the Brantford Hospital, but despite blood transfusions he did not rally. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Huffman, pioneer residents of Haldimand County, and was born fifty-nine years ago near the Village of York. After a lifetime in the district he moved to Troy three years ago.

He is survived by two brothers, Oswald, of St. George and Robert of Nanticoke, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Ramsay, Blackheath and Miss Jennie Huffman, of York.

The funeral was held from the home of his sister at York on Monday with interment in Mt. Healy cemetery.

HENRY J. WREN

The funeral of Henry J. Wren, 56, of the Township of Walpole, was held yesterday afternoon from Hagersville. Deceased passed away at his home in the Township of Walpole on Sunday. He is survived by three brothers, Herbert and George of Walpole, and Robert of Caledonia.

SILVERTHORNE—On Good Friday, April 7th, 1939, Isabella Silverthorne, in her 87th year, at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Martin Kohler. The funeral took place from her late home, Cheapside, on Monday, April 10th. Interment in the United Church cemetery.

Recommendations of Fair Board and Other Improvement to be Carried Out

300 TREES TO BE PLANTED

According to plans decided upon at the Village Council meeting on Monday evening, quite extensive improvements will take place at the Village Park this year. The general rundown condition of the property has caused considerable comment generally in the past, and if the plans decided upon by Council are carried out, the cause of the comment will be eliminated.

Agricultural Society Recommends

George L. Miller, Secretary-Treasurer of the Jarvis Agricultural Society waited upon the Council on Monday evening, and outlined the work that had been carried out by the Society in placing the old Temperance Hall building on the park property. He expressed the belief that the Council should effect necessary repairs to the building, so that it would at least present a respectable appearance.

Members of Council agreed that the building in its present condition presented a very dilapidated appearance. It was therefore decided to consider the recommendations favorably and to proceed with the work at the earliest possible moment. It was also decided to build a new fence and put a new gate at the main entrance to the park. The baseball diamond will also be graded and necessary repairs made to the mettng at the back of the baseball diamond.

Trees Will Be Planted

In addition to the general improvements planned at the park, Mr. Miller also advised Council that the Agricultural Society had purchased 300 trees, which they would plant in the park, if given the permission of the Council. Assent to this request was readily given and the work will be carried out under the direction of the Fair Directors.

THE FARM HOME ENTRANCES AND SURROUNDINGS

By John F. Clark, Depart ent of Agriculture, Toronto, Ontario

Beautification of the farm home entrance and grounds is not appreciated as much as it rightfully deserves. Why should we encroupy beautiful rural homes and give no thought to the grounds encircling them ?

Entrances we must have, and pains should be taken to make them attractive for the entrance gives the whole place its characteristic first impression. It will be found that the farm home has two entrances — one where we enter the grounds from the highway, and the other where we actually enter the house.

Simplicity is beauty, and with this in mind we should avoid crowding plant material or giving the impression of the work being over-done.

The most simple arrangement at the gateway would be a single specimen of shrub, or evergreen, on either side of the entrance. This may be enlarged by increasing the number to three, having each group arranged in the form of a clover leaf, either inside or outside the gate, outside being most suitable, if space permits

Avoid placing shrubs either too close to driveway or fence, suitable kinds being Spiraea Van Houttei (Bridal Wreath); Lonicera tatarica (Honeysuckle); Syringa (Lilac); Forsythia Fortunei (Golden Bells) or ordinary compact specimens of White Cedar

The rural home usually has the outbuildings located behind the house and assuming that the driveway runs straight to the barn, it may be bordered with maple, birch, elm or oak at regular intervals, to form in time a stately avenue. Evergreens may be substituted in the form of Cedar, White or Norway Spruce, to form a screen or windbreak.

An alternative would be to connect them with the main highway by means of a road or drive in which a graceful curve has been introduced. This is only recommended on such grounds that are amply large enough to accommodate this treatment. Whenever a road is made to curve, some reason must be apparent. It may follow the lines of a tree or clump of shrubs, or a bed. When a bend occurs a fine specimen evergreen may be planted, giving scope to create finer vistas and pleasing results. It is sometimes possible to run a fairly high hedge across the back of the house to break the length of the lane. Deciduous trees at stated intervals make a simple arrangement.

In nearing the line of the house there comes a point at which it would be natural to stop, permitting passengers to approach the home. At this point two groups may be placed, assisting to define the patch and at the same time make a suitable framework for the door. In this case the shrubs may be such ornamentals as Prunus triloba (The Flowering Almond); Cydonia Japonica (Japanese Quince); Spiraea Van

L. B. Holmes is President of Baseball Club

L. B. Holmes Named President of New Organization. Fred Cresswell to Assume Team Management

After two years of participation in the realm of softball, Jarvis will again be represented with a baseball team. A meeting held in the Record Office one evening last week, was sufficient evidence in itself to show there is ample material to field a baseball team.

An impromptu census of players in the nearby district revealed a slate of more than twenty-five men, and undoubtedly many more could be found if necessary, to help round out a balanced squad, to participate in the Haldimand County League.

The following officers were elected Hon. Presidents, Rev. S. B. East, Rev. L. D. Brown and Les A. Marshall; President, L. B. Holmes; Secretary Treasurer, D. J. Mowat; Manager, Fred Cresswell; Coach, Dr. T. Tweedie.

The new organization plan to enter a team in the Haldimand County League. It is expected six teams will be competing, including Dunnville, Hagersville, Caledonia, Jarvis, Fisherville and Cayuga.

In order to raise funds the baseball club hope to hold a dance on Friday evening, April 28th. Although this date is not definitely set at the present time, they are only waiting confirmation of details in connection with the dance.
