

THE JARVIS RECORD

Telephone 37, Jarvis, Ontario
Published Every Thursday Morning

Winner of the Charter's Trophy in 1938, emblematic of the best Weekly Newspaper in Canada in Class D.

A weekly devoted to the interests of the Village of Jarvis and the Township of Walpole as well as neighboring townships in the County of Norfolk.

Advertising rates upon request.

Subscription Rates
To all points in Canada, $1.50 per year in advance. To the United States, $2.00 per year in advance. Papers are sent to all subscribers until definite instructions are received to discontinue and all arrears of same are paid. The date to which subscription is paid is indicated on the address label.

A. L. MILLER, Editor

A.Y.P.A. NOTES

Installation Service

On Sunday night, January 15th, a special A.Y.P.A. service was held in St. Paul's Church, Jarvis, when the Officers for the year 1939 were installed.

The lesson and state prayers were read by Mr. Lewis. Mrs. French, rendered very beautifully, a solo "My Task," accompanied at the organ by Rev. Brown.

Rev. Brown installed the officers after a pledge of office was given by each officer and presented each with a manual and an A.Y.P.A. monthly magazine and a badge of office.

The following are the officers for the year: President, Robert Lynch; Vice President, Glenn Reichel; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Cresswell; Secretary, Miss Muriel Cooke.

An oath of allegiance to the officers and A.Y.P.A. was given by all A.Y.P.A. members.

WEDDING

DAVIDSON-EVANS

A pretty home wedding was solemnized in Hagersville on Thursday afternoon, January 12th, when Miss Margaret Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Evans, Hagersville, became the bride of Mr. Alexander C. Davidson, youngest son of Captain and Mrs. Robert Davidson of Port Dover.

The bride was attended by Miss M. Davidson, of Port Dover, sister of the bridegroom. The cost of the wedding was $100. The ceremony was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The couple left for Detroit on their honeymoon and on their return will reside in Port Dover.

MEN'S CONCERT PARTY COMES TO JARVIS

With a program of solo, duet and quartet, the Belmont Men's Concert Party of London, Ont., will provide the entertainment at the "Fire House" to be held following the evening service on Sunday next in Wesley United Church.

All are invited, members and friends, young and old, will find a warm welcome. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Newton Marshall and Mrs. C. E. Hill.

At the evening service, the Concert Party will assist with special music and the Minister will preach the sermon in the series entitled "Six Resolutions for 1939."

IVAN W. HOLMES

LICENSED FUNERAL DIRECTOR

FURNITURE

Phone 33-2

Night 33-3

JARVIS, ONT.

Laugh at bad roads

HERE'S THE GREATEST TRACTION TIRE EVER BUILT

THE POWERFUL NEW GOOD YEAR STUDDUED SURE-GRIP FOR LIGHT TRUCKS

• The angling and spacing of the deep, sharp-edged studs give this new Goodyear tire a "tractor-tread," a combination of cleats and lugs that pull ahead . . . or back . . . in deep snow or mud. Designed to roll easily . . . give long mileage. Keep going this winter. Drive in and let us show you this new tire today!

Available in sizes:

6.00-16 6.50-16

7.00-16 7.50-16

7.50-16 7.50-17

WIDE SELF-CLEANING TREAD gives greater road grip with less wear.

NEW SUPER-SWIFT BUILDING BLOCKS

CORD makes extra-long life for heavier tread . . . extra-long life for heavier tread . . .

Leatherdale Motors

JARVIS, ONTARIO

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The first hockey match of the season on the Jarvis rink will be held on Friday night of this week, with the local sextette facing the Garney Puck Chasers.

The Garney boys who have been practicing on the creek are expected to give the local boys a spirited argument.

Nathan Pond returned last Saturday from the West, where he attended the funeral of his nephew, Ole Bain.

C. W. F. Howard, D.D.G.M. of the I.O.G.F. will pay an official visit to the Jarvis Lodge on Monday evening next, for the installation of officers.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. L. W. Clark, Author, Lecturer and Traveler will deliver a series of lectures on the subject of "The World as it is" starting next Sunday.

Stanley Wyckoff, of the R.A.F., Toronto, after spending two weeks with his mother, Mrs. C. Wyckoff, has returned to Vancouver, B.C., where he will get his permanent discharge.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Holmes received word from their son, Leighton, that he has been able to leave the hospital in England. The letter states that he was enjoying a fair amount of recovery.

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Jarvis W.I. held their annual social evening in the Jarvis Town Hall on Friday evening, January 12, with a good attendance.

On Thursday evening a group of forty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mitchell in honor of their thirty-third wedding anniversary.

A shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bell was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nichol on Wednesday evening.

WEDDING

DAVIDSON-EVANS

A pretty home wedding was solemnized in Hagersville on Thursday afternoon, January 12th, when Miss Margaret Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Evans, Hagersville, became the bride of Mr. Alexander C. Davidson, youngest son of Captain and Mrs. Robert Davidson of Port Dover.

The bride was attended by Miss M. Davidson, of Port Dover, sister of the bridegroom. The cost of the wedding was $100. The ceremony was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The couple left for Detroit on their honeymoon and on their return will reside in Port Dover.

MEN'S CONCERT PARTY COMES TO JARVIS

With a program of solo, duet and quartet, the Belmont Men's Concert Party of London, Ont., will provide the entertainment at the "Fire House" to be held following the evening service on Sunday next in Wesley United Church.

All are invited, members and friends, young and old, will find a warm welcome. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Newton Marshall and Mrs. C. E. Hill.

At the evening service, the Concert Party will assist with special music and the Minister will preach the sermon in the series entitled "Six Resolutions for 1939."

IVAN W. HOLMES

LICENSED FUNERAL DIRECTOR

FURNITURE

Phone 33-2

Night 33-3

JARVIS, ONT.

Laugh at bad roads

HERE'S THE GREATEST TRACTION TIRE EVER BUILT

THE POWERFUL NEW GOOD YEAR STUDDUED SURE-GRIP FOR LIGHT TRUCKS

• The angling and spacing of the deep, sharp-edged studs give this new Goodyear tire a "tractor-tread," a combination of cleats and lugs that pull ahead . . . or back . . . in deep snow or mud. Designed to roll easily . . . give long mileage. Keep going this winter. Drive in and let us show you this new tire today!

Available in sizes:

6.00-16 6.50-16

7.00-16 7.50-16

7.50-16 7.50-17

WIDE SELF-CLEANING TREAD gives greater road grip with less wear.

NEW SUPER-SWIFT BUILDING BLOCKS

CORD makes extra-long life for heavier tread . . . extra-long life for heavier tread . . .

Leatherdale Motors

JARVIS, ONTARIO

JARVIS, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JANUARY 19th, 1939

A ROVING REPORTER

LOOKS AT LIFE :-

"THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS"

One of the duties of the President of the United States is that of delivering an annual message to Congress when both houses meet in joint session for the opening of the year's work.

This year the 76th Congress of the United States met on Wednesday, January 4th in the Lower Chamber. The President faced a House that was less favorable to him than any since he was first elected in 1903. Last November the Republican party made substantial gains in the "mid-term" elections, and it looks as if the going would not be so easy for him as it has hitherto been.

The Roving Reporter, however, is not concerned with the American political situation, and he ventures to think that his readers are not overly interested in it either. But he is interested in what President Roosevelt had to say about the situation abroad, and the reaction of the United States Government to that situation and so he may be pardoned if he has to deal with that part of the President's speech which refers to such matters.

In his opening words the President took cognizance of the troubled situation. He drew the attention of Congress to the "need of cutting our house in order in the face of storm signals from across the seas."

He then went on in these words: "All about us rage undiminished wars—military and economic. All about us grow more deadly armaments—military and economic. All about us are threats of new aggression—military and economic."

He pointed out that these storms abroad threatened three institutions indispensable to Americans: Religion, Democracy and International good faith.

"In a modern civilization, all three—complement each other. Where from religion has been attacked the attack has come from sources opposed to Democracy. Where Democracy has been overthrown, the spirit of free worship has disappeared. And where Religion and Democracy have vanished, good faith and reason in international affairs has given away to strident ambition and brute force."

He stressed that the United States rejects such an ordering of Society that she can be safe in its peace and in its justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

But the world has grown so small and weapons of attack so swift that no man can be safe in his peace and in his justice. There comes a time when men must be prepared to defend not only their homes, but the tenets of faith and humanity on which their governments and their world are founded.

Significantly he declared that his government stood ready to protect these things "against storms from any quarter."

Summarizing

ONTO

BY

U.B.P.

Last season, about this time, Jarvis had a weak club, decidedly weak but by play-off time the Bombers, as they became known, were the strongest team in their group.

By scouting a new player or two and by continually drilling the few that they had, the managers were able to build a fast strong team.

Well, this year the Bombers are in the same position they occupied a year ago and by following the same plan they hope to be able to build a strong enough club to cop this three team group.

The team will have to be re-organized and plenty of practices scheduled because the players cannot possibly cope with the speed of other clubs.

There is a real fight for the goal-keeping berth on the juvenile roster between Melvin Porter, last year's utility goalie and rookie Roy Hackett.

Bus Cole has passed the age limit and thus paved the way for junior competition. Hackett, outshout Porter in Hagersville in the opening game but neither showed the form of Auld in the enemy nets so there is plenty of hope for improvement.

At present both boys are confident of grabbing the coveted spot between the posts. The running game is not too well known in these parts, but who still knows plenty of hockey tricks, may give the team the extra knowledge that they lack.

Twined, Fred Cresswell, Don Mowat and a few others have still controlling interests in the team.