LESSON III MICAH'S VISION OF PEACE .-PRINTED TEXT, Mic. 4: 1-5;

5: 2-5a.
GOLDEN TEXT.—And they shall beat their awords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up aword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. Mic.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time.—During the reign of Hezekiah, probably between 726 and 701 B.C. Place.-Micah's ministry was entirely within the territory of Judah, and for the most part in the city of Jerusalem.

This lesson is especially interesting because the people around whom this whole chapter gathers are the most talked-of, the most hated, people presenting the most difficult problems of all the races in the world today. No one has suffered in modern times as the Jews have suffered, at the hands of other nations; and here is not only a prophecy of such suffer. ing, but a passage of wonderful hope, promising a time when these sufferings will be over, and a per-iod when these people will come each to God and have a kingdom, which joy and peace

The name Micah was not an incommon one among the Re-brews; it means "Who is like Je-hovah?" Micah was a simple countryman, born of obscure par-entage in an otherwise unknown village. Micah, as his prophecy shows, was in closest tanch and shows, was in closest touch and sympathy with the class of yeomen whose wrongs he so graph-ically describes.

Promise of the Kingdom

In the first three chapters, Micah's chief moral denunciations are reserved for the wealthy nobles and worldly priests - the greedy aristocrats who coveted fields and houses and took them by force, who oppressed widows and broke up happy homes. Commercialism and materialism were supplanting almost the last vestige of the ethical and the spiritua in Jerusalem. At such a crisis Micah appeared, and attempted to call the nation back to God and

4: 1. But in the latter days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of Jehovah's house shall be established on the top of the ountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and peoples shall flow unto it. 2. And many nations shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of Jehovah, and to the house of the God of Jeophy and he will train the control of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths. For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word go forth the law, and the word of Jehovah from Jerusalem: 3. and he will judge between many peoples, and will decide concerning strong nations far off: and they shall beat their swords into player and their spears into wshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not ip sword against nation, neithtree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of Jehovah of hosts hath spoken it. The mountain of the house of Jehovah the temple mountain, Moriah, here considered as part of Zion. Zion is the source of the law and word of the Lord, from which the nations draw instruction how to walk in the ways of God, to make t their own, take it to their homes, and walk according to it. Every Man Under God 5. For all the peoples walk evof For all the peoples walk every one in the name of his god; and we will walk in the name of Jehovah our God for ever and ever. A man's god is what rules his practical life; it is that which shapes and orders our lives. Furthermore, the worshipper will resemble his god in character. Everywhere around us the people verywhere around us the people are walking every one in the name

The beautiful picture Micah draws of the coming kingdom finds striking parallels in the prophecies of his great contemporary isaiah (2: 1-5; 11: 1-12). Here we have almost every longing of the human heart down through all the centuries satisfied — a universal worship of the Lord, absolute righteousness in judgment, abiding peace, perfect security of person and property. When will this kingdom be established? Two clauses of Micah's seem to indicate clearly that the kingdom here spoken of will not be established antil at the end of the age, which has by no means yet arrived.
5: 2. But thou, Beth lehem

Ephrathah, which art little to be among the thousands of Judah, put of thee shall one come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Leranl; whose goings forth are from of old, from everlasting. 3. Therefore will he give them up, until the time that she who travaileth hath brought forth: then the residue of his brethren shall return unto the children of Israel. 4. Parcels For Overseas Men

Officials of the Base Army Pos Office, Canada, state that reports have been received from England to the effect that difficulty is being experienced in effecting delivery of parcels mailed from Canada to the embers of the Canadian Active Service Force overseas, due to the fact that flimsy wrapping paper is being used on the parcels. In & great many cases the wrappers are badly torn or entirely destroyed, leaving no indication whatsoever as o whom the parcels belong or who had sent them.

IN HEAVY PAPER Thousands of parcels of all dif-erent shapes and sizes are being mailed to troops overseas and the senders should bear in mind that considerable handling is necessarily involved in connection with the sorting, bagging and shipping of the parcels. It is essential, therefore, that if the parcels are to be delivered in good condities, care must be taken to see that they are carefully and securely packed to enable them to withstand handling in the mails. Several layers of heavy paper and strong twine should be used in the wrapping of the parcels.

As an extra safeguard a slip also should be enclosed in each parcel bearing the name and address of the SENDER, as well as Regimen tal number, rank and name of the addressee, name of the Unit in full, the initials C.A.S.F., and the words "c-o Base Post Office, Canada". Such a slip, furnishing a return address and the address in full of the person for whom the parcel was inended, would be valuable in case the wrapper containing the address

Those sending parcels are reminded that if a parcel is worth mailing, it merits proper packing.
