Air Minister Power speaks fair

By Judith Robinson

An acquaintance who used to call himself a Communist in days when it was safe, dropped around the other afternoon. He had come to admonish and to warn.

It's not entirely new doctrine. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, the Canadian Minister of Justice, preaches it in parliament when irritated by criticism. But from lips that were wont to preach nothing milder than world revolution it came odder. In the liquidation of capitalist politicians who betray the proletariat it sounded sort of funny.

After the first few times it grew tiresome. This side of the argument developed heat from a principle long held to be fundamental; that governments and systems of government should be based on the best of men. The late Comrade Mackenzie King Government was promoting Fascism.
