A Weekly Review Of National Affairs

(By "Spectator")

Ottawa, August 24th — Since the historic meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King at Ogdensburg on the 17th and 18th little time has been lost in choosing those who are to sit as members of the two countries on the permanent joint committee of defence. The appointment of this board to study the military, naval and air defence of North America was agreed on at Ogdensburg. Canada's representatives as recently announced by Mr. King are, O. M. Biggar, K.C., Brigadier Kenneth Stuart, deputy chief of the general staff, Captain L. W. Murray, deputy chief of the naval staff, and Air Commodore A.A.L. Cuffe, member of the air staff, with H. L. Keenleyside of External Affairs Department, as secretary. The duties of the board are to make a study of the defence situation and to make recommendations to the two governments. It has been definitely pointed out that no commitments have been made by either country. Mayor LaGuardia of New York, the civilian member of the United States section of the board is a popular figure in Canada, and will be welcomed with his military co-members of the board when they visit Ottawa for the first of the board meetings this week. Only the future will disclose the importance of this new light, which has appeared in a new quarter of the world's dark skies. It is in any event, a clear proof that the great republic across the border fully realises that the danger which has been overshadowing the British Commonwealth also threatens the entire world including the Western Hemisphere.

The great task of registering every one in Canada of sixteen years of age and over was satisfactorily completed last Wednesday. Single men of 21 will first be called out for training which will begin about October first. Boards in thirteen military districts will make the necessary arrangements, but these boards will also see that no essential industry is crippled by calling out men for military training. Farmers for example will not be trained during harvest operations. Other seasonal occupations will be similarly handled. University students engaged in special studies will be left at their work until the inconvenient for them to join the camps. There will be 39 of these training camps and approximately 300,000 will receive thirty days military training within the first year. It is thought unlikely that anyone beyond thirty years of age will be called to camp during the first year.

Canadian military leaders are taking the long view in relation to war operations. The process of mechanising the army is advancing rapidly. Colonel Ralston, Minister of National Defence, in a recent interview told the public that Canada is starting to form an armoured brigade consisting of four tank regiments. The brigade will be under the command of Colonel F. F. Worthington. a Canadian expert on tank warfare. Four units of the militia will also be trained in tank warfare. Tanks for the training of the four tank regiments will be provided much earlier than was thought possible, some time ago. There are now 114,000 men in the Canadian Active Service Force in Canada, the minister stated. In addition 39,839 are overseas. In the Non-Permanent Active Militia, the body from which flow recruits to the C.A.S.F. there is an enrolment of over 100,000

Air Minister C. G. Power, in his capacity as associate minister of national defence is completing an inspection tour of Canada's defences on the Atlantic seaboard. With military and air leaders, he visited Newfoundland which holds a vital stragetic position in the scheme of Atlantic seaboard defence. Mr. Power and his party were received with the utmost cordiality and an agreement was reached on the question of co-ordinated defence. Details will be worked out later by representatives of the two governments. No question of the independence or sovereignity was raised. It is simply a question of joining forces and co-operating to the full in the face of a common danger. Newfoundland has sent hundreds of men to the Royal Navy and merchant service. Companies of Newfoundland lumbermen are working in the woods of Scotland in co-operation with military services.

The leasing to the United States of naval and air bases in Newfoundland as well as in the West Indies was offered by Prime Minister Churchill in his speech to the house of commons at Westminster a week ago. At this time the exact status of the negotiations seemed uncertain President Roosevelt's suggestion had special reference to the defence of the Panama Canal, and perhaps foundations are shaking, Britain and Canada have full faith in the good will of the great, friendly republic. They welcome the granting of bases to the United States. No change of sovereignity is involved.

The minister of munitions and supply has announced that the number of persons employed in the aircraft manufacturing industry of Canada has increased by 20 per cent during the past four weeks. In all about 17,000 Canadians are now engaged in the manufacture of aircraft for the Canadian and British forces. This gives some indication of the great strides that have been made in this industry from very small beginnings a year ago.

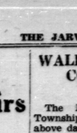
Summarizing SPORTS -BY- B.P.



Two weeks ago, Jarvis 13, Hagersville 6. Last week Hagersville 6, Jarvis 5. To-day—?

The inevitable, as we believed it to be, happened. The Ontario Champs took a one run margin from the hapless Jarvis team on Saturday, thus evening the series at one game each. The final game is to be played in Hagersville to-day.

The Jarvis Ball Club played the worst game of the season when the Quarrytowners took advantage of their lapse and sent them back home smarting from a six to five defeat. It wasn't the defeat that hurt; it was the way in which our gang was set back. The boys lacked spirit, confidence and visibility, mostly the latter. They did everything wrong. Pat Peacock, Ivan Held, Lefler and Kaye missed everything their way except sarcasm from the bleachers. Peacock threw a ball wild to first, let in the first run. Gill missed a fly with two out to allow two more runs to cross the plate. Held threw another wild one to first, and thus the game went.

According to the Hagersville scorer, Jarvis collected all their runs through Hagersville errors, and according to this observer the Villans got their runs by the same means. So the obvious conclusion is that practically all the runs were scored on errors, which was just the case. As we said before it was the poorest exhibition of baseball Jarvis has issued this year, but we have seen Hagersville when they were worse, so if the schedule winners are in better spirits to-day we should look for a Jarvis win, and thus end all whoop-de-doing. Johnnie Horne picks us to take the Villans so with that big help nothing should stop us.

A second upset occurred in the Haldimand County playdowns last week when the Dunnville Mudcats overtook the Delhi Tobacconists when the latter had a five run lead. Dunnville is always to be feared. Smitty's boys seem weak all season but usually pull a surprise in the playoffs. That team is certainly the dark horse of this league.

The majority of the fans who follow baseball in this district closely feel that Jarvis and Delhi are going to meet in the playoff finals to decide a winner in the Haldimand league. Last year it was Hagersville and Dunnville. However, the way these clubs are performing now, any thing is likely to happen and probably will. Hagersville hasn't a good ball club, yet that team takes advantage of any let-up on the part of its opponents. Jarvis, we feel, has a strong club but when the pitching is poor the whole team has a bad day. So it all depends on the pitching performance of Leo Lefler. If either of our first basemen are back that weak spot would be filled. There have been six different men on that sack this season and only two have filled the bill.

Gordon Blight Writes the Editor

The following is a letter received by the Editor from Gordon Blight, who is now somewhere in England.

August 2nd 1940

Dear Laird—

I wish to thank you for sending the paper to me. It is a great treat to be able to read about things that are going on back home. We have now been in England over a month and I am beginning to like it very much. The first two weeks that we were here, it rained every day but now it has cleared up and is very warm.

I have just returned from a five day leave which I spent in London. It is really a wonderful city. I stayed at the Victoria Club which is the King George and Queen Elizabeth Hotel. The first day there I went to the Canadian Club and they gave us free tickets to the leading theatres and arranged tours of London for us. I was all through Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and the Tower of London. I went down to "Old Bailey" which is the largest court in London and was allowed to go in and listen to a trial. The Chief Justice and all the members of the court wore white wigs which made them look rather comical.

We went through Madame Trousseau's Wax Works and they were really beautiful. The last happened that when we went to Buckingham Palace they were just changing the guard and it was a wonderful sight. The King was in residence at the time but we did not see him. Big Ben and the Parliament Buildings are a wonderful sight from across the Thames River. I was all through the "Discovery" which Scott sailed to the South Pole. They have made it into a museum. A person could spend a year in London and still not see half the places there but we saw most of the important buildings and sights. We were past Sir Downing Street and I was surprised to see that it was a very old building and not very attractive. It would take me a week to write about all that I saw there so I won't try. You would not know that there was a war on over here except for the occasional air raid. When we first arrived we were put under canvas. Eight of us were sent to a hospital to take charge of category "C" men who are being sent back to Canada. We have been attached to the Lorne Scots who came from Brampton. As soon as our own hospital has been completed we will return to our own unit. We are in barracks and have good beds and every convenience that is available in the army. It was a great change to sleep in a bed after sleeping on the ground. We have very good food and being in a hospital we get double rations. About a mile from where we are stationed is a camp of Frenchmen. They are in the Foreign Legion and I have a few souvenirs that I got from them. You can buy a 45 calibre automatic with holster from them for about 10 shillings which is about equal to $2.50. We go to Aldershot quite a bit, but there are very few Canadians there now. I hope that you will overlook the stationary because it is one the hard things to get hold of over here. We had a wonderful trip across. The ocean did not have a ripple on it. The boat we came over on was the Samaria. It was not a troop ship and we had all the conveniences that passengers would get in peace time. It is great news to me to hear that the ball team is on top. I should have written long ago to thank you for the paper but I am not very good at writing letters so I neglected to do so until now. I do hope that you and the family are all well.

They have dances every night at Cove and we attend quite a few of them. I would like to see the new airport but that will be impossible for some time yet. They use an all together different type of bomb this war. When they come down they have a peculiar whistle, and it gives a person quite a start at first. I have heard them on different occasions but they do very little damage. The blackouts are quite a nuisance when you are travelling at night. The Y.M.C.A. is a great help to us here. They come around three times a week with free tea and biscuits and they sell soap and such things a person needs in that line. There is a lake near here and we go swimming nearly every afternoon.

I suppose that Port Dover is full of people now for the summer. I do not think there is anything else to tell you at the present time, so I will write again soon.

CANADIAN PEACHES NOW ON THE MARKET; CROP OF 754,000 BUS.

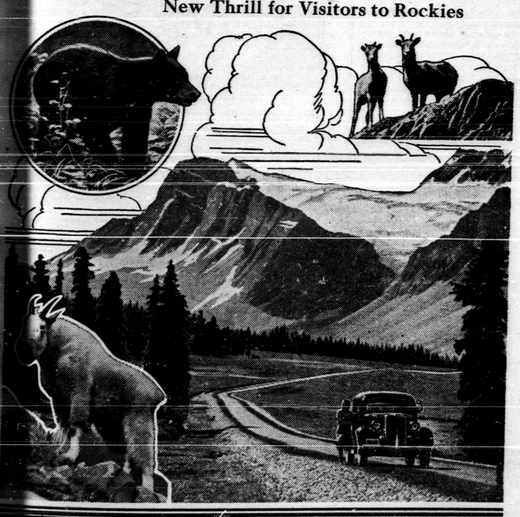
A preliminary estimate places the 1940 crop of peaches at 754,000 bushels of which Ontario will account for 568,000 bushels, about 190,000 bushels less than in 1939, and British Columbia orchards are expected to yield 185,600 bushels, about 8,600 bushels more than last year.

The early varieties of peaches are now on the market and this Canadian grown fruit will be available at reasonable prices until late September or early October. While this year's crop is about 181,000 bushels less than in 1940 it is 182,000 bushels above the five year average 1934-1938. In 1939 the crop of 935,000 bushels was the second largest produced in Canada. The largest was 1,075,000 bushels in 1920 of which Ontario accounted for 983,000 bushels and British Columbia 92,000 bushels.

This years crop of Canadian grown peaches is of excellent quality. Of all the fruits grown none is more healthful as food whether eaten just as they are picked sun-ripe from the trees as fresh fruit or in the many other ways they can be served fresh, or preserved. Canadian peaches cannot be excelled for flavour.

Peaches are sold by grade, the grades in order of quality and size being Select No. 1, No. 2 or Domestic and No. 3. The grade mark must according to the regulations under the Fruit, Vegetable and Honey Act, be plainly marked on the basket or container in which the fruit is offered for sale.

Beautiful Columbia Icefield Highway New Thrill for Visitors to Rockies



The newly completed Columbia Icefield highway, leading northwest from Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, will provide unique motoring thrills when it is officially opened for traffic in July. The new road, which cuts through one of the most beautiful sections of the mountain playground, furnishes direct access to the great Columbia Icefield, 150 square miles in extent, whose melting ice is the source of rivers which eventually find their way to three oceans, the Pacific, the Arctic and the Atlantic via Hudson Bay.

The highway runs through the very heart of the great mountain area. It follows the valleys of a succession of wild, tossing rivers; skirts impressive, age-old glaciers; runs along the shores of tumbling streams and jade-green lakes; passes roaring cataracts and rapids.

This mountain region is not barren or colorless. Instead, beneath great snow-capped peaks are great spruce and pine forests, glittering glaciers, translucent bodies of water, peaks looking for all the world as though huge paint pots had been spilled down their cliffs and terraces. Bears, elk, moose and other big game can be seen along the roadside and there is good fishing in the waters of the district.

This new highway promises to be an important factor in attracting greatly increased numbers of visitors to Banff Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise and Canadian Pacific mountain lodges this summer. An interesting programme of special events has been planned in view of the record numbers of visitors expected from all parts of this continent and includes the Indian Days celebration at Banff, July 19-21; Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, July 26-30; Sky-Line Trail Hikers, August 2-5; Banff Golf Week, August 19-24; Alpine Club of Canada outing to Glacier Lake, July 14-20; and Banff School of Fine Arts, August 1-31. The SNAPSHOT GUILD
USING THE SMALL CAMERA

The organ-grinder's monkey—snapped on the street with a miniature camera. Carry a small camera in your pocket—you'll reap a reward in interesting pictures.

TO get the most fun and benefit from photography, you should have a camera that you can keep with you at all times. Such a camera will enable you to seize upon a picture chance wherever you observe one—and, at the same time, having the camera handy will keep you alert, so that you actually observe more snapshot opportunities.

Up until a few years ago, most cameras were relatively bulky; but that is not the case today. Modern folding cameras, even those taking rather large-sized pictures, are relatively compact; and many miniature cameras are so small and neatly built that they can be carried in a pocket or woman's purse without the least inconvenience.

The miniature camera is an ideal choice for "everyday" use. It need not be an expensive model—in fact, it may be that a very inexpensive one will cover your needs. The chief advantage of the medium-priced and finer deluxe cameras in this class is that they have fast lenses and fast shutters, so that pictures can be taken under adverse light conditions. Many of the better models can also be used for picture-taking in full color—an extremely valuable feature.

If you buy a camera for pocket use, plan to keep it with you constantly—not just on weekends or during leisure hours. Take it with you to work. Watch for subjects on the street—such as the organ-grinder's monkey above. Carry the camera when you go for an afternoon walk. You'll get many an excellent picture, by this practice, that would otherwise be lost.

For everyday shooting, in black-and-white, load your "miniature" with a fine-grain panchromatic film, and your good shots will yield superior enlargements. If your camera is a de luxe model with ultra-fast lens, load it with a high speed panchromatic film; then you can get night snapshots in any well-lighted room, and at many night sports events. And don't forget that you can make gorgeous color "shots" with it.

Make the small camera your "daily notebook" — use it to jot down the things you see in the everyday round. Street scenes, oddities, amusing occurrences, snaps of friends—these and many other types of pictures can be captured quickly with the pocket camera, and they'll add interest to your snapshot collection.
