A net operating surplus of $357,-454.21 for the year ending March 31. 1939, was shown in the Annual Report of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation submitted by the Board of Governors of that organization.

Fixed assets of the Corporation were increased by $346,561.18, due largely to the construction of new transmitters in the Maritimes and in the Prairies. These transmitters, CBA at Sackville, N.B., and CBK at Watrous, Sask, incomplete at the end of March, 1939, cost approximat ely $500,000 and were financed out of the Government loan already voted.

The Corporation paid $50,000 off the first Government loan. The income for the fiscal year, derived from the sale of licenses and a limited amount of commercial revenuet,

The report again stressed the need for a high-power Canadian shortwave transmitter. Already one of the frequencies set aside for Canada's use has been occupied by a foreign country. The Jarvis Fall Fair is not an un-The Jarvis Fall Fair is not an undertaking, it is an institution. And despite the decision of a limited number at the annual meeting to dispense with the annual fair, we feel that surely little effort would be required to alter this decision. If it is not altered shortly, we might well realize right now that the Jarvis Fair terminated for good in 1939. It is worth too much to the community to let slip by the unfounded pretext of economy in view of the war effort. The call goes out for more concern on the part of local business men.

In a lighter vein. Last week we mentioned that among the things we would like to do or see was: 1. Skin the eye teeth off-the news editor of the Simcoe Reformer in a game of smooker. We still would.

The crossing was made in a sailing vessel and nearly a month was required to make the voyage. This trips stands out in her memory. Although the Wright family first settled near Port Dover they moved to Walpole Township within two years time and her home has been here since. In 1857 she married Jacob Mattice and through this union eight children were born. Several are still living: Mrs. Freeman Sternaman, R. R. A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother on Saturday, when Emily Janet, daughter of Mrs. Slack, Hagersville, and the late Mr. John W. Slack, became the bride of Mr. Walter Orval Ricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Ricker, Canboro. Rev. E. B. Eddy officiated. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles Slack, wore a gown of petal rose crepe and carried Briarcliffe roses and blue iris. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Slack. Mr. Robert Ricker, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Patricia Stallwood, cousin of the bride played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mrs. Ellis V. Mrs. J. A. Fleming has long since gained a reputation locally as a dramatic director and her efforts in the play presented on Tuesday night by the Young People of the Anglican and Presbyterian Churches, only served to add to her reputation.
