Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian forces in England, was in rare good humor when this excellent photograph was taken in England as he talked with other officers at the military depot where the Dominion's expeditionary forces are undergoing further training. The officer at the right is Lieutenant J. N. S. Buchanan, son of Lord Tweedsmuir.

LESSON III
A NEW STANDARD
GREATNESS
Matthew 20

Printed Text: Matt. 20: 1-38

Golden Text: "While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Rom. 5:8.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time—All the events recorded in this lesson occurred in March, A.D. 30, the year of our Lord's crucifixion.

Place—The events of the entire narrative took place in Perea, with the exception of the healing of the blind man recorded at the end of the chapter, which took place near Jericho.

The narrative of the laborers in the vineyard, found first in our lesson, was intended primarily to apply to the rewards to be given those who serve Christ in his kingdom. It taught the disciples that, however, long continued their work, abundant their labors, yet without charity to their brethren, humility before God, they are nothing. The spirit in which work is performed is the important thing in the eyes of God.

His Approaching Death

Matt. 20:17. And as Jesus was going up to Jerusalem, he took the twelve disciples apart, and on the way he said unto them, 18, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief priests and scribes; and they shall condemn him to death; and they shall deliver him unto the Gentiles to mock, and to scourge, and to crucify; and the third day he shall be raised up. Note the minute details which the Lord here foretells regarding his death. Jesus knew he came to die for our sins, and he never attempted to escape the awful suffering and the shameful death which this holy purpose involved. But whenever our Lord speaks of his death, he also speaks of his resurrection. He did not contemplate the horror of the one without drawing encouragement from his confidence in the other.

Two Came Asking Favors

20. Then came to him the mother of the son of Zebedee with her sons, worshiping him, and asking a certain thing of him. (The mother of these two disciples is also elsewhere identified as Salome.) 21. And he said unto her, What wouldst thou? She saith unto him, Command that these my two sons may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left hand, in thy kingdom. 22. But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I am about to drink? They say unto him, we are able. John's was a refined and reserved nature, but pride was his besetting sin. In his work for Christ he believes he possesses a secret, which the other disciples do not share; he criticizes their conduct from the height of his own ideal. The other here, replying to Jesus' question, showed a loyalty and devotion to him, but also a spirit of self-seeking and of pride, which if allowed to go on would be the repudiation of the very principles which Christ by his life and death would teach.

22. He saith unto them, My cup indeed ye shall drink, but to sit on my right hand, and on my left hand, it is not mine to give; but it is for them for whom it hath been prepared of my Father. 24. And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation concerning the two brethren. Christ meant:

Not upon the basis of favor will men get into office in my kingdom; they will be put into office according to fitness, and that within the will of God. When God prepares an office for a man, he prepares the man for the office, and there is perfect fitness.

Service to Others

26. But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Ye know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them. 26. Not so shall it be among you: but whosoever would become great among you shall be your minister; 27. and whosoever would be first among you shall be your servant. The Lord does not repudiate the desire of a man to be great, but only his desire to be great if it is a selfish one, by which he would obtain a position of lordship and power over other men. True greatness, says the Lord, and here is one of the most revolutionary teachings of the New Testament—is to be found in serving others, not commanding others; in spending upon them, not acquiring wealth by the

Parents Don't Always Know

Average Parent Not Competent to Advise Son on Career—He Should Choose

The average parent is not competent to judge the future prospects of his son or to advise him on his career. Dr. Cameron chairman of the Board, told the Commercial Educational Society of Australia.

He arrived at this conclusion, he said, after interviewing hundreds of youths who told him they were forced by their parents to attend courses for which they had no inclination or were quite unqualified.

due to proper feeding, good general care and preventive medicine, children have developed two or three years beyond the currently accepted average. A university professor credits the increased robustness of youth to the "more widespread and liberal use of milk, cheese, fruits and vegetables."

It is fairly common nowadays to see some father and bigger than their fathers. It was not so common in the last generation.

The average height of mankind a few years ago was estimated by the statisticians at five feet five inches. Probably it is a little more now.
