LESSON IV JESUS DRAMATICALLY PRO-CLAIMS HIS MESSIAHSHIP Matthew 21: 1-16.

GOLDEN TEXT.-Behold. King cometh unto thee. Matt. 21:5. In this lesson the perfect character of the Lord Jesus is revealed to us afresh — his perfect know-iedge, his infinite tenderness, his holy wrath against unholy things, his compassion for the blind and the lame, his perfect calmness in the midst of forces furiously bent upon destroying him.

Matt. 21: 1. And when they drew nigh unto Jerusualem. Our Lord has spent Saturday and Saturday evening in the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus, in the village of Bethany, just over the top of the Mount of Olives. Now mes Christ's last visit to Jerusalem in the beginning of the week which will terminate in his crucifixion. And came unto Bethphage, o the mount of Olives. Then Jesus sent two disciples, 2. saying onto them, Co into the village that is over against you, and straightway ye shall find an as tied, and a colt with her; loose em, and bring them unto me. 3. And if any one say aught unto you, ye shall say, The Lord hath need of them: and straightway he will send them. We are free to suppose that our Lord has already spoken to the owner of the colt when he sent the two disciples. for nothing in the narrative contradicts this. The owner of the ass seems to have known Jesus, and perhaps was a disciple.

Riding Upon An Ass 4. Now this is come to pass, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophet, saying, 5. Tell ye the daughter of Zion, Behold thy King cometh unto thee, Meek, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass. This prophecy is found in Zech. 9: 9. Two things were incended by the coming of Jesus to Jerusalem in this way. The first was that of official kingly entry, manifestation of his Kingship to the crowds of Jerusalem. And yet, secondly, Jesus went in this way to exhibit not merely his kingliness, but his meekness. (That the King Messiah should come to Zion riding on an ass meant, for the Jewsh people, that he was to have a kingdom not of this world).

The Triumphal Entry 6. And the disciples went, and did even as Jesus appointed them. And brought the ass, and the colt, and put on them their garments; and he sat thereon. 8. And the most part of the multitude spres most part of the multitude spread their garments in the way; and others cut branches from the trees, and spread them in the way. John's account of this event (12: 13) informs us that the branches were from palm-trees. The palm, in those days, was regarded as the symbol of victory and triumps, he branches strews is the west. symbolized Christ's triumph and , for what he was. the people's joy. 9. And the multitudes that went before him, and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the son of David: Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord. 10. And when he was come into Jerusalem, all the city was stirred, saying, Who is this? 11. And the autitudes said, This is the prophet, Jesus, from Nazareth of Galilee. The Temple Cleansed Again 12. And Jesus entered into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them that sold the doves. This took place in the large outer court of the temple, separated from the shrine by a stone parapet. (The doves were the sacri-fice offering of the poor.) 13. And

COOKED POTATOES FOR HOGS A considerable portion of the otato crop is unsuitable for seed or table stock. Various methods of utilizing the cull potatoes have been suggested, and one method stock. Potatoes may be fed to practically all kinds of live stock, but apparently they have their greatest feed value when cooked and fed to hogs, states Leonard Griesbach, Assistant, Dominion Experimental Farm, Fredericton,

It has been demonstrated by many feeding trials at various institutions that four pounds o poiled or steamed potatoes will replace approximately one pound of ground barley, when fed in a balanced ration to hogs.

Mr. Wilson emphasized particularly the need for buying a maximum amount of goods from Great Britain and France. "It seems to me also that the war affords Canada a unique op-portunity to develop further its tourist trade. It therefore behooves our governing bodies to bring the unquestioned attractions of Canada as prominently as possible to the attention of prospective visitors from the United States. In normal years, tourists spend as much as $250/300 million in Canada. This trade is thus an important factor in our international balance of nayments. As a means of strength-ening our economy and providing foreign exchange, our efforts to attract tourists should be redoub-led."

t striking comparison between Canada of 1914 and to-day h particular reference to the ause were features of the address fven by Morris W. ROGRESS SINCE 1914 Since 1914 Canada's economic ucture had been virtually trans-med, stated Mr. Wilson, from formed, stated Mr. Wilson, from one based mainly on agriculture to one of great diversification in which manufacturing played a leading role. He predicted this trend would undoubtedly receive an even greater stimulus if the present conflict is prolonged.
"In our past crop, yields were train abundant, the total wheat cop for all Canada falling but little below half a billion bushels.
Thus the Second World War finds us in a unique position to continue us in a unique position to continue as the 'Granary of the Empire.'
"While Canada's manufacturing industry played a noteworthy role industry played a noteworthy role in the production of munitions during the last war, should the need

"The iron and steel industry, which under war-time stimulus." which under war-time summus reached a peak of a million tons of per iron annually in 1918, has dou-lied its potential output. Aircraft manufacturing has assumed imporrtions, and the ground-been laid for rapid excome within a comparatively short-time, we would soon revert with-out difficulty to the not unsatisfac-tory conditions which prevailed be-fore the outbreak of hostilities. If NERALS VITAL IN WAR fore the outbreek of hostilities. If the war should continue for a pro-tracted period—and this is the bas-is on which our plans must of nec-essity be made—I think we shall have a period of unusual industrial activity. But as we prosecute the war, we must not lose sight of the readjustments which will follow the return of peace. If our pre-cautions are well-planned and ade-quate, the hesitation in our pro-gress will not be great."

"War power to-day depends largely on minerals, particularly metals. The expansion of the Candian output of such products since 1914 has been spectacular. In 1914 Canada produced 773,000 fine ounces of gold. In 1939 production was nearly seven times as much as in 1914. Nickel increased from a production of 45 ½ million pounds in 1914 to 227 million pounds in 1939. Copper production has increased eight-fold during the past 25 years. Lead output is eleven times as great. Zinc production has gone up from 22 million to 381 million pounds. The output of aluminium is eleven times as great, and when plant extensions now under way are completed, production will be increased to nearly fourteen times what it was in 1914." "To-day Canada is a very different nation from the young unsoned country that went into

AR AND CANADIAN

"It seems to me quite clear that history of the bank. Total assets now standing at $1,014,708,343 were the highest on record, this being the second occasion in the bank's history on which they had crossed the billion dollar mark.

Mr. Dobson reported a greater demand for Commercial loans in Canada and that the total under this heading was now $212,627,311, an increase of $14,424,408.

Profits for the year showed a moderate increase but, taxes now borne by banks had become a real burden. "These totalled in the case of The Royal Bank $1,967,751," he said, "a very heavy charge considering the bank's earnings and equivalent to 70c for every onic and military resources are chausted, the decision in the pres-ent conflict will depend largely upon economic staying power."

"Never before in our history as it been so important that every ne of us should practice thrift and adustry. If the time comes when unemployment is no longer a prob-lem, we may find ourselves com-pelled to curtail luxury and other non-essential industries to make way for more essential production. way for more essential production. Furthermore, capital and other expenditures, public or private, not directly related to winning the war, nor essential to keeping our economic machine functioning efficiently, should be definitely discouraged. It is to be hoped that under these circumstances, labour and ware disputes will be completely avoided. Those who are fortunate enough to remain at pletely avoided. Those who are fortunate enough to remain at their regular employment in Canada must not exploit the situation for their own ends. Capital must also be willing to contribute its fall share. Some industries, of course, will be adversely affected by the war, but the majority will undoubtedly experience a great atmulus. The benefits therefrom must not be retained by stockholders except to a normal degree. The Government has devised a sound green of taxing excess profits, but it is also essential that any attempt at profiteering should be ruthlessly suppressed."

In view of the strides which had

Foreign Exchange Control was now operating smoothly, said Mr. Dobson in spite of its very wide ramifications and the responsibility with which the banks were faced at the outset of interpreting the regulations to the public. "The manner in which this new, and at first complicated, machinery was handled was most creditable," said Mr. Dobson.

In conclusion the General Manager foresaw greater business activity during 1940 under the impetus of war orders, greater employment and more general distribution of purchasing power.
