Within a few days of Tom's arrival, they learned more about Tom than he would believe even his mother knew. They checked with the recruiting centre where he enlisted, and corroborated the two letters of recommendation which Tom had to present before he was accepted. And on the day of his arrival, Daily Routine Orders No. So-and-So carried

But it won't because it carefully guards its sent on the day of his arrival, Daily Routine Orders No. So-and-So carried something to be shared only by the man and the officers who must know about this.

man and the officers who must know about him.

Forty-eight hours after his arrival Tom was called for physical training when he got up in the morning. He did an hour of jerks and ate a hearty breakfast of cereal bacon and eggs, bread and jam and tea, coffee or milk. Then he paraded with his squadron and started his first drill. As a newcomer, he got his first fatigue perhaps sweeping floors or Montgomery, s.

The Caledonia Miners took a five to four count from Jarvis on Saturday to gain a possible fourth place and play off birth. Jarvis had a one run advantage going into the eighth innings, but erratic baseball gave Caledonia two runs and enablook over motor transport equipment and be told what functions it serves and why it is constructed along certain lines.

As days passed he learned discipline. He was checked up for leaver.

Then one night he applied for his tag and the uniformed buddy on duty said: "Sorry, Tom, your tag is clipped for draft." Tom stared at the tag. Yellow and red clips included in a draft. Tom galloped through the building to the office, was told that he must see the adult the schedule should be drawn up the set of the property of the schedule should be drawn up the set of the set of the schedule should be drawn up the set of the set of the schedule should be drawn up the set of the set of the schedule should be drawn up the set of the set of the schedule should be drawn up the set of the s was told that he must see the adjutant or commanding officer about review as Manager Cresswell is the tant or commanding officer about review President of the Haldimand lease from barracks because he was Baseball League. In the meantime, however, he took a final look around. He dropped into the movie theather, or attended the theatrical performance staged by a mixed company of Depot talent and visiting volunteers from any one of the scores of clubs and associations that stage almost nightly shows for the boys. He walked through the huge lounge room where several hundred men can doze or read or play checkers. He passed dozens of table tennis tables. He dropped into the tuckshop where he had bought odds and ends ranging from razor blades, through the gamut of edible delicacies to magazines. He went to the library to return the books he had borrowed and read the latest contribution on the bulletin board, probably a poem poking good-natured fun at routine yet never jesting about the service. If he was a member of the orhestra, he turned over his instrument to another volunteer. Incidentally, the orchestra is constantly rehearsing new members.

He might have speculated about his next stop. It probably wouldn't have such tremendous space as this Depot, where whole squadrons and even a wing, could drill and parade inside on a rainy day. If Tom is not more than 28 years old, be may be going to Air Training to become a pilot. If he is over 28 and under 32, he may become a gunner or observer or a wireless operator. Or if he is in the class which has some specialized qualifications, of the fund.
