SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON VIII
JEREMIAH ANNOUNCES THE NEW COVENANT
Jeremiah 31
Printed Text, Jer. 31:31-37
Golden Text: "I will put my law in their inward parts, and in their heart will I write it; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people." Jer. 31:33.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time — Between 597 and 587 B.C.

Place — Jerusalem.

In this lesson we find a remarkable illustration of the infinite wisdom, the foreknowledge, unchangeableness, and omnipotence of God, determining from the beginning what he will do even to the end, by his power bringing to fulfilment the plans which he has foreknown. God planned the very finest possible life, the greatest prosperity, for his children Israel.

Chapters 30 and 31 belong together and speak of one common theme, the restoration of Israel. The beautiful picture of Israel in new strength and prosperity, in peace and abundant joy, in freedom from her enemies, with her sins put away, has never yet been accomplished. The chapter therefore cannot refer to anything that has thus far taken place in the history of Israel.

GOD'S LOVE FOR ISRAEL

The Lord throughout this chapter is clearly speaking to Israel his people. When men respond to such a love as is here ascribed to God, then joyous praise bursts from the heart, prosperity is visible on every hand, and men will be found going up the house of the Lord for joyous worship.

THE NEW COVENANT

Jer. 31: Behold, the days come, saith Jehovah, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: 32. not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; 33. But this is the covenant they brake, although I was a husband unto them, saith Jehovah. 33. But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith Jehovah: I will put my law in their inward parts, and in their heart will I also write it; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. 34. And they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know Jehovah; for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith Jehovah: for I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin will I remember no more. The new covenant here referred to, and quoted in a very significant passage by the author of the Epistle to the Hebrews, is, first of all, certainly a covenant not with the church, but with the house of Israel and the house of Judah, as is explicitly stated. The old covenant is the law-covenant, which the Lord did not make with Gentiles, but with Israel exclusively. The new covenant is of grace. The ground of this new covenant is the sacrificial death of the Lord Jesus Christ, his blood, as we learn from his own words when he instituted the supper. He died for that nation, and therefore all Israel will yet receive the promised blessing of this new covenant. This "prophecy" is therefore still unfilled, for Israel does not enjoy this new covenant now.

Another interpretation: The new covenant is a covenant, in its final experience, in which the human soul shall be rendered independent of the external law and of the human interpreter; the law of God within, written on the heart, received by direct revelation of the will of God within the spirit.

THEY WILL BE FULFILLED

35. Thus saith Jehovah, who giveth the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the stars for a light by night, who stirreth up the sea, so that the waves thereof roar; Jehovah of hosts is his name; 36. If these ordinances depart from before me, saith Jehovah, then the seed of Israel also shall cease from being a nation before me for ever. 37. Thus saith Jehovah: If heaven above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth searched out beneath, then will I also cast off all the seed of Israel for all that they have done, saith Jehovah.

The leading thought in this passage is that the reign of law which we recognize in God's creative work has its counterpart in his spiritual kingdom. The stability and permanence of natural order is a pledge and earnest of the fulfilment of his promises to Israel as a people. The New Covenant of pardon and illumination is to be, what the first covenant was not, eternal in its duration.

We should now read Paul's profound exposition of the promise of God's covenant with Israel in the eleventh chapter of Romans.

Poor Students Getting Fewer

Money and Not Brains Are Becoming Basis for "U" Education in Canada, Statistics Record

The "prospect of equality in educational opportunity for persons of equal ability — the generally-accepted ideal of democracy — becomes more and more remote and university administrators concerned with the intellectual and cultural advancement of the country, now grow increasingly apprehensive," the Dominion Bureau of Statistics says in its annual review of revenues of Canadian colleges and universities.

GRANTS ARE REDUCED

Students have been called upon to provide an increased proportion of the money required to operate universities while other sources of revenue — provincial grants, interest and endowments — have declined relatively, at approximately equal rates, the review, which covers the years from 1921 to 1939, says.

"This is a trend which, unaccompanied by any substantial increase in funds available for student aid, tends to make financial means, rather than intellectual ability, the basic qualification for a university education in Canada.

HIGHER FEES

Student fees as contributing to total revenue of universities and colleges increased from 20.1 per cent. in 1921 to 22.7 in 1939. Government grants decreased from 49.8 to 42.2, endowments from 16.4 to 13.2 and other miscellaneous revenues from 13.7 to 11.9.

Common Housefly Disease Carrier

Best Control of Houseflies Is Effected by Elliminating Their Breeding Grounds

Until very recent years the housefly was regarded merely as a pest but of no serious importance but it is now known, however, that the housefly carries many serious diseases such as typhoid, infantile diarrhoea (summer complaint), cholera, dysentery, leprosy, various dangerous eye diseases (types of ophthalmia, trachoma) and tuberculosis, besides carrying the eggs of certain tape worms, says Dr. Arthur Gibson, Dominion Entomologist, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

One of the chief dangers from flies lies in their varied food habits. Not only do they feed on all kinds of filth, but will alight on the most of the food laid out on the table for a meal, contaminating everything they touch.

EFFECTIVE FLY SPRAYS

To control this dangerous pest, fly traps, door and window screens, fly swatters, sticky papers, poisoned baits and fly sprays are used. An effective and safe bait is made by adding a teaspoonful of formalin to a pint of water or dilute milk in a saucer. It should be placed out of reach of children. Fly sprays made of ¼ pound of flowers of pyrethrum to a gallon of kerosene are effective.

The best control of houseflies is by eliminating their breeding places. The most important of these are manure piles and garbage dumps. Manure storage should be so constructed as to discourage breeding and the pile treated with borax solution. Garbage should be stored in fly-proof containers until disposed of. Community action is essential if the fly population in any district is to be sharply reduced.

Farm Notes . . .

Improving Pastures As War-Time Policy

Better pastures for cheaper production and higher profits is a logical wartime agricultural programme for the Canadian farmer. Grass is the cheapest and most nutritious livestock feed produced on the farm. Thus, this year, with the increased need of conserving grain for feeding, grass assumes a place of more than usual importance.

A desirable type of pasture is one that enables the dairy or beef herds to satisfy their requirements sufficiently rapidly to permit of their spending many hours beneath the shade trees, chewing the cud in absolute contentment, says G. R. Snyder, soil chemist.

TYPES OF PASTURE

In districts where the soil is high in lime and favourable for the growth of alfalfa and red clover, high yielding, short rotation pastures are most favoured. Premliminary preparation for success with this type calls for the application of a liberal amount of fertilizer, according to the needs indicated by a soil test.

Dr. O. McConkey of the Ontario Agricultural College, suggests the use of a light nurse crop, usually oats or barley and a seed mixture composed of and sown at the rate of: alfalfa 6 lbs.; red clover 4 lbs.; alsike 1 lb.; timothy 6 lbs.; brome 6 lbs., and Kentucky Blue 3 lbs. per acre.

A more permanent type of pasture mixture consisting of Kentucky Blue, Canadian Blue, timothy and wild white clover is favoured for beef cattle pastures and is the most practical and economical type for areas of strongly acid soils and high rainfall. Wild white clover is an exceedingly nutritious legume and thrives when moisture is plentiful.

NEWS OF THE HOUR

Reports are crackling over the ether from all fronts of action these days. War News, Political Manouvers and Economic changes happen every hour during the day — and you can know about them minutes after they occur by listening to your radio.

CBL, CKOC or CFRB — all offer up-to-the-minute news from everywhere, and from three different news services, them too, CBC also brings you an informative mid-week commentary of the situation on Wednesday nights at 10:20 — while CKOC presents Prof. E. T. Selmon on world affairs each Sunday at five.

You can keep up with things in the fast-moving world by listening to the news from these stations.

AROUND THE DIAL

On the lighter side of things there's this man, Benny, heard every Sunday night from NBC-Red network at seven. Jack Benny, Mary Livingstone, Rochester and Phil Harris' band seem to get better every week — in fact Rochester was offered a chance to make a series of two-reel comedies, but he advised the studio before he would sign he would have to see if he could hire Jack Benny, as he was a good comedian too!

One of the most entertaining programs from any station is the Believe It or Not feature presented by Bob Ripley over WABC — Columbia each Friday night at 10:30 p.m. Bob has spent his life digging up queer facts to entertain people. You can sit back on this one and relax — and at the same time hear a new fact or two.

Few greats in any sport make much of a hand at trying to explain their particular field to other folks — but not so with the great Waite Hoyte, major league star for 19 years. Forgiveness Has Certain Limits

Last week in Omaha, Neb., Mrs. Lee Felthauser told a Judge she couldn't go on forgiving her husband any longer. She had forgiven him when he broke her arm in 1928. When he broke her nose in 1937 their children had kept them together. She had forgiven him the time he cracked her hipbone and the time he cut her eye open. But last January he cracked her backbone over a davenport and she wasn't going to forgive him again. The Judge said she needn't.

Infants Are Quicker Than Adult Monkeys

A tentative conclusion that infants are quicker to grasp an idea than are adult monkeys, was reported to the Middle Western Psychological Association.

Dr. Ben Weinstein, of the University of Wisconsin, said that he had subjected two children, 20 and 24 months old, and two four-year-old monkeys to similar tests and that the children had proved more apt.

Golf at Jasper Good This Year

The Course Has Never Been In Better Shape for the Season, Declares The Veteran Greenkeeper at Famous Mountain Resort

"Never before in the many long years I have been greenskeeper, have I ever seen a golf course come through a winter so soundly true and even as did the course at Jasper this year," declared W. H. "Bill" Brinkworth, veteran greenskeeper at the famous mountain course as he passed through Winnipeg. "Every green and fairway is already in fine condition and we have been cutting the greens for nearly three weeks. With such a good start, the course will be in excellent shape for the heavy play it is bound to receive this year," he stated.

"Brink" has just spent a few days at Minaki, where he has been checking over the golf course. His son, Gordon Brinkworth, has been appointed greenskeeper there this summer. Gordon spent the last two years at Elk Island course, Alberta, and previous to that had many years tutelage under his father at Jasper. He reports considerable work to be done at Minaki, but states the course will be in good shape for the opening near the end of June.

Mr. Brinkworth points out that the course at Jasper wintered in first class shape despite the lack of snow during the winter. "The country around Jasper was bare of snow most of the winter. However, our elk fence kept the animals off the course and the grass was given every chance to come through. It has never been in such uniformly good condition at this time of year in its history," concluded the golf expert.

Britain Cutting Butter Ration

Because of the cessation of Danish supplies, Britons were told last week by Lord Woolton, food minister, to prepare for the reduction at an early date of the butter ration from eight to four ounces each week.

Butter first was rationed at four ounces weekly beginning January 8, but the amount was increased to eight ounces weekly on March 25.

Lord Woolton warned that the sugar ration of 12 ounces each week might be reduced also.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. In the social world, does the rule to "return good for evil" apply?

A. This rule applies anywhere and everywhere. As Tillotson puts it, "A more glorious victory cannot be gained over another man than this, that when the injury began on his part, the kindness should begin on ours."

Q. Is it necessary to get a person's consent before listing him on some committee?

A. Yes. It is inconsiderate to place him on the committee without first asking his consent.

Q. How should small cakes be eaten at the table?

A. The fingers should be used to convey them to the mouth.

Q. When a hostess sends a man an invitation to dinner, and the invitation is not acknowledged, what should she do?

A. It might be best to phone this man and ask if he received the invitation, as it is possible that through no fault of his he did not receive it. If he did, the average hostess will never repeat the invitation.

Q. Would it be permissable to write a bread-and-butter note, or any kind of "thank you" note on a postal card?

A. No. The regular social stationery should be used.

Q. Are wedding guests supposed to call on the bride's mother after the wedding?

A. Yes, within a week or ten days.

What Science Is Doing

CRIME PREVENTION

Prof. Joslyn Rogers of the University of Toronto, analyst for the Ontario Government and well-known criminologist, predicts that much crime will be controlled within a few years through combined knowledge of chemistry and medicine.

Prof. Rogers says that behavior largely is the outcome of bodily function and contended that abnormal behavior might be due to abnormal functioning within a body, which is in essence chemical.

STOPS HAIR GRAYING

Isolation of a vitamin which prevents and cures graying of hair in animals is announced by a group of University of Wisconsin bio-chemists. The scientists said they had not determined definitely whether the vitamin also would be effective in treating human beings to maintain or restore the youthful color of their hair. Experimental quantities of the pure vitamin were removed from liver.

WORST UNSOLVED PROBLEMS

"The two most difficult problems yet unsolved by medical science" said Dr. Russell L. Cecil of New York, last week, "are tuberculosis and the virus diseases, the latter group including poliomyelitis, encephalitis, influenza and the common cold."

Dr. Tracy J. Putnam said that epilepsy was now the commonest diseases of the nervous system, and that 500,000 people in the United States are subject to convulsions. He said that the problem "looked pretty unpromising a decade ago" but that physicians now are "beginning to get somewhere with it."

More Educated Police Force

London, Ontario's police commission has decided to raise the educational standards of the city police force. The commissioners went on record favoring matriculation as the minimum educational requirement for all new men taken on the force.

This decision came as the commission approved the appointment of James R. House of London, as a member of the police force. Chief Down said that House has his matriculation.

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I smooth a curdled custard?

A. Beat up a raw egg and slowly beat the curdled custard into it.

Q. How can I resize an Axminster rug?

A. Stretch the rug tight and tack face down on a floor, or some flat surface. Sprinkle with a solution made by soaking and dissolving ¼ pound of fickle glue in 1/2-gallon of water. Let the rug dry at least one day. Care should be taken not to put on so much glue that it will show on the right side.

Q. How can I wash vegetables most satisfactorily?

A. Try using an ordinary tea-shaker around several times in the water, and each time lifted out the vegetables will be bright and clean.

Q. How can I cause a kerosene lamp or lantern to give a much brighter light?

A. By adding a small pinch of salt to the oil in the bowl.

Q. How can I prevent bugs and worms in my window boxes?

A. Bugs and worms can be prevented by heating the earth for window boxes or potted plants in the oven before using. Wash the inside of window boxes before filling with earth to keep out insects and to keep the boxes from rotting.

Ontario to Carry On Usual Surveys

Frai Leduc, Minister of Mines of Ontario, has announced that geological investigations will be carried out by his department this summer. These investigations will include surveys of new prospecting fields, examination of deposits of strategic minerals and detailed study in some of the mining camps.

Party assistants have been appointed and include 27 students from the Department of Geology and Mining Engineering at Ontario universities.

Use Essential Foods For War-Time Health

"Every housewife can do her bit — and help others do theirs—by keeping her family's health at a high level."—Canadian Medical Association.

Thus ends the introduction on the inside front cover of a new booklet just now coming off the presses, entitled "Food for Health in Peace and War."

Prepared by the nutrition experts of the Canadian Medical Assn., and embodying knowledge gained after years of study and research, including the very latest, the booklet is published by the leading life insurance companies in Canada.

Weekly Food Budget

It is written in the simplest language, and instead of rambling on about vitamins and calories — about which the average housewife knows very little — practical use in the kitchen — quickly turns into a set of weekly food budgets for single persons, children, and various size families. So many quarts of milk, pounds of cheese, bread and so forth, for a family of five. Cost, $8.95 — on the basis of city prices. For those living on the land, the quantities are given in pounds and fractions of a pound.

It all boils down to this: Eat first the kind and amount of food required to maintain normal disease-resisting health, then add whatever you wish or can afford after that. But GET THE ESSENTIALS — and thwart the germs that may descend on the world as did the Flu in 1919.

Recently, in Toronto, Dr. Frederick F. Tisdall, chairman of the Committee of Nutrition, Canadian Medical Association, in a nation-wide radio broadcast stated that if every Canadian would eat the proper foods in the proper quantities (set forth in the booklet) the consumption of Canadian-grown foods would be increased by 12 per cent.

"Dead Men" Pays Taxes in Winnipeg

A "dead man" walked into Winnipeg's civic offices one day last week and paid his taxes.

When he gave his name, a clerk dug out his file and said:

"Say, we've got you down as 'dead.' We've sent out your tax bill for this year and last, and each time the post office has returned it marked 'deceased'."

"Dead nothing," replied the thoroughly alive "corpse" as he paid two years' taxes after smoothing out a change-of-address tangle.
