LESSON XIII
THE USE AND ABUSE OF WEALTH—Proverbs 11; Luke 16: 1-13.

PRINTED TEXT: Prov. 11: 24-31; Luke 16: 1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
Time—Solomon flourished about 1000 B.C.; the message of our Lord taken from Luke was given in January, A.D. 30.

Place—There are no geographical localities mentioned in the chapter taken from the book of Proverbs; the parable spoken by Jesus was uttered in Ptolemais.

There are many things that need not trouble us in life, many temptations that do not touch us, yet no man or woman can escape considering the subject of how to make money honorably or what to do with money when it is made. For money we must have, no matter how economically we choose to live. Our lesson today has to do with what the Bible teaches concerning the use of this important medium of exchange and power for purchasing what we need.

Effect Upon Character
What we do with money has a tremendous influence upon our character and also upon the character of others. Money has in it the power either to sanctify or to pollute human life. Men are burdened by money, are separated from simplicity and polluted in the integrity of their moral judgments. We are here contrasting in our exposition of the eleventh chapter of Proverbs only those passages which relate directly to the fundamental problem of our lesson.

Rewards of Liberality
Proverbs 11: 24. There is that scatters seed, and increases yet more. And there is that withholds seed more than is meet, but it tends only to want.

25. The liberal soul shall be made fat; and he that withholds shall be made lean.

He is the richest man in the esteem of the world who has acquired most; he is richest in the esteem of heaven who has given most. He who gives his five barley loaves and two small fishes into the hands of Jesus sees the people fed and gets twelve baskets over.

Set no limit to your gifts of money, time, energy, in the act of giving the whole that you have expended will return to you, and more also. 26. He that withholds his grain, the people shall curse him; but blessing shall come upon the head of him that sows it. In the early stages of commerce there seems no way of making money rapidly so sure as that of buying up corn in time of dearth, waiting until the dearth process heavily, and then selling at famine prices. That sort of thing is going on all over the world today.

Foolish Trust in Riches
27. He that diligently seeketh God, seeketh favor; but he that searcheth after wealth, it shall come unto him. 28. He that trusteth in his riches shall fall; but the right hand of the Lord shall be against the rich. 29. He that troubles his own house shall inherit the wind; and the foolish shall be servant to the wise of heart. 30. The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that is wise winneth souls. 31. Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth; how much more the wicked and the sinner!

Compare Ps. 49: 6, 7 and Prov. 10: 2. The man who trusts in his riches is a man who expects that his riches will give him all that he needs, not only of the material things of life, but peace, and joy in his own heart, loved ones, friends, a great reputation. Such a man is bound to be disappointed, because wealth in itself will not at all bring these things; neither is it able to make these things permanently abide in a man's possession.

Stewardship
Luke 16: 11. If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to you the true riches? 12. And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another's, who will give you that which is your own? "Mammon" is a Syrian word for money. The money which men have here is another's, even God's. In comparison with the abiding treasures of eternal things, which are the true riches, it is temporal and transient; and a time is coming when it shall fall; but if the man who has been entrusted with it has been unfaithful, and has appropriated to himself what really belonged to God, how can it be expected that God will give him anything during spiritual wealth and happiness, which shall be his very own, indelible possession?

One Master To Serve
13. No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon. Mammon here is personified as a deity, devotion to whom is shown in "covetousness."

Jack-Tar and Gob Fraternize

The spirit of friendship and good-will that has characterized the relations between the British Empire and the United States is dramatically typified by the American sailor, one of many who brought some over-age destroyers to Eastern Canadian ports, and the Royal Naval ratings who have come from his own country to help man the ships during their voyage to the United Kingdom. They are shown above on the stern of a U.S. destroyer.

which is idolatry. This is an uncompromising statement. In actual life we find that millions of so-called Christians are seeking to follow this out, but are holding on to the things of the world at the same time, believing that they are serving God. When a Christian is serving God with the whole heart and mind, he cannot love mammon; and when he is seeking the things of the world, putting money first, he is not serving God at all.

Miniature Pistol Fires Bullets

Guelph, Ont., police had a difficult job posed at them when Edgar H. Croft, antique dealer, brought his revolver in to be registered. The nickel-plated weapon on measures about one inch and a half from end of butt to end of barrel, being approximately one-half inch in length.

An odd thing about it is that it actually fires bullets—bullets less than one-eighth inch in length. According to Mr. Croft, the pellets will lodge in a thin board at six yards.

Among the 521 refugees in Hershey, London, are representatives of Belgium, France, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Poland, Malta, Romania, and Hungary.

RADIO REPORTER

By DAVE ROBBINS

AROUND THE DIAL
The biggest star of the radio world is due back again this Friday evening—Kate Smith, and it will be a glad "hello everybody" for the listeners who like the big girl with the personable voice. Then too, Willie Howard, ace comedian will be in Kate's show this evening—so altogether it should be a snore Friday night feature.

Everybody's happy with the word that Mart Kenna and his Western partners, those master music-makers from Vancouver, will be heard on a CBC network program in the East during the coming cold spell.

Orson Welles, screwball genius of the entertainment world, held dozens of auditions for the role of the Shadow—thinking to get a newer and still more fearsome voice. Then the bearded badman suddenly threw them all out, and decided to retain Bill Johnston again to scare the grown-ups and bring cheers from the kiddies.

WMCA in New York has a great idea. They are presenting a series of programs entitled "Trojan Horses" designed specifically to reveal the activities of fifth columnists in the United States. The exposes are conducted by Albert Brandt, noted

TRIVIA: Contrary to other reports, Tocantini will be on NBC this fall. . . Don Willson of the "Good News" this season. . . Mary Livingston (Mrs. Jack Benny) is expecting. . . Buddy Rogers sez he's all through as an arch leader, and will work as motion picture producer. . . Songstress Gladys Stinson of Kyes's crew has been offered a motion picture contract. . . Dominion Gains In Intellectuals

They're Moving Here From Abroad—Distinguished Thinkers and Authors May Improve Quality of Canadian Literature

Speaking before the Canadian Authors' Association at Saint Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, recently, Jean Charles Harvey, editor of Le Jour, of Montreal, pointed out that the Dominion stood to gain from a literary point of view by welcoming distinguished thinkers and authors who are compelled to flee from Europe. "The geniuses of an old world," he declared, "by migrating to our borders may become so fond of our country, our freedom, that they may be the expression of our national life. By giving them with eyes to see and minds to understand the chance to benefit by the glories of Canadian nature, Canadian literature would be stimulated into growth and Canada would produce great writers, painters and musicians."

There is much to be said for Mr. Harvey's point of view. The United States has gained tremendously by the number of distinguished scientists, philosophers, writers and university professors in various departments of knowledge who have found a domicile in that country. Canada can make no mistake in opening its doors to scholarly men who, because of their independence of thought, find no place for their talents in Nazi-dominated countries. There will be a considerable exodus of this type of men from Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, France, and other occupied countries. Since the last war Canada has made very substantial progress in the development of its literature, and every addition should be welcomed.

Low Ceilings Are In Vogue Today

The prospective home owner is advised to consider ceiling height of the rooms, especially as it affects general construction costs. One of the chief features of homes erected in the late nineties and early 1900's was the high lofty ceiling. This was believed an aid in keeping the room cool.

Architects today lean toward lower ceilings, having established an aid in keeping the room cool. head is of no cooling value unless ventilated.

Farm Notes . . .

Fall Fertilization Improves Pasture
There is no more important crop in Canada than pasture, and in the light of the production of nutritious feed during the past summer months, now is the time to make plans to increase its value. If the pasture has not given the results expected, ask the Paul Gervais Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, P.Q., what is the reason? Is it fertility that is faulty? Is it the fertility that is faulty? Is it the last case, commercial fertilizers if used with judgment, will help correct the situation.

Tests have disclosed that it is better to spread fertilizer in early September, rather than in the spring. There are, however, two exceptions to this rule: one when the ground is too steep and second when the fertilizer contains nitrogen. In the latter case, the phosphorus and potash may be applied in the fall and the nitrogen in the following spring. When a pasture is fertilized for the first time, it is well to use the highest amount mentioned. The applications of fertilizer should be repeated every three, four or five years, depending on the fertility of the soil and the needs of the plants. These recommendations are general and may be modified according to the circumstances. Pastures deteriorate not only by poor management but also by lack of fertilizing elements.

'Eat Less Meat' Theory Is Wrong

Experiments Reported To American Chemical Society Show Lean Meat at Meals In Hot Weather Doesn't Produce Too Much Heat

The old advice to eat less meat to keep cool in hot weather was shown to be exactly wrong in experiments reported to the American Chemical Society meeting recently in Detroit.

The right way, said Dr. E. B. Forbes, director of the Institute of Animal Nutrition at Pennsylvania State College, is to eat lean meat and other protein foods as usual, and be careful about consumption of starch, sugar and fat.

LESS STARCH, SUGAR, FAT

The old theory rested on the basis that meat, being a source of protein, caused the body heat, in the experiments he fed protein foods to animals, and found that under those circumstances meat didn't cause so much production.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

CANCER IS COMMON IN ALL ANIMALS FROM TINY INSECTS TO ELEPHANTS.

IF THE EARTH'S POLAR ICE CAPS SHOULD MELT, THE GREATER PART OF FLORIDA WOULD BE UNDER WATER!

IN ONE YEAR, AS MANY AS 36 MILLION GALLONS OF TURPENTINE HAVE BEEN TAKEN FROM FORESTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

ENOUGH WATER is locked up in the ice of the earth's polar regions to raise the world's sea level about 150 feet. This would destroy much of Holland, flood the lower Mississippi valley and ruin every harbor in the world.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

1. When a husband does not write letters, shouldn't his wife be willing to do this for him?

2. Shouldn't you always ask a woman for permission to use his name as a reference, before doing so?

3. Is it necessary that everybody be introduced at a large wedding reception?

4. Is it necessary for the bride and groom to tell anyone the details of their honeymoon trip?

5. When a girl has a dinner party, isn't she privileged to ask more to the one who is the most interesting?

6. How should a servant address a young girl in the household, who is sixteen years of age?

Answers
1. No. He should write his own letters, as well as other letters to his relatives and personal friends. A letter written by someone else is somewhat similar to giving a person a secondhand gift. 2. Yes, always. It is not at all necessary. 3. A better to tell the best man. 4. At least one person should know. 5. In case for some urgent reason, they should be reached. 6. Never. He should try to divide her attention equally. 6. "Miss Helen."

How Can I?

BY ANNE ASHLEY

2. How can I keep the bath room clean and sweet? A. Rub a fresh lemon thoroughly into it and then rinse thoroughly in hot water. If the odor is very strong, steep in vinegar and water overnight, or about twelve hours.

3. How can I brighten a dull carpet? A. First sweep the carpet clean. Then dip a soft, clean mop into a pail containing 1/2 gallon of cold water and 1/2 teaspoon of ammonia, or vinegar; wring well and rub over the carpet. It will be as bright and fluffy as new.

4. How can I prevent cheese from molding? A. Wrap the cheese in a cloth constantly moistened with vinegar, and this will keep it from molding. Butter the cut edges of the cheese to keep it from hardening.

5. How can I remove match marks from wood? A. First rub the marks with a clean, damp cloth. Then with a damp cloth and a little whiting. Rinse the wood with a soft cloth.

6. How can I remedy a cork which is suspected of leaking? A. Remove the cork and place in boiling water. Let it remain until the water is cool; then place the cork in the bottle and it will be as good as new.

7. How can I rid my house of mice? A. Place a little oil of pepper on about their haunts on wads of cotton. This causes them to sneeze.

HEALTH TOPICS

The Perfect Child

The proper way to rear a "perfect" child according to a mother who has done so in the eyes of medical authorities, is to avoid intricate health rules and "don't try to force your child to eat."

The mother is Mrs. Joseph C. Thompson, of Peoria, Ill., whose daughter, Joan Carole, age three, was one of two children given 100 per cent health ratings in the Better Babies Conference contest at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield.

MILK AND SUNSHINE
Joan Carole was tied for first place in the health contest with the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Henry of Gillespie, Ill., the former "Will" Henry of University of Illinois football fame, who now coaches at Gillespie high school.

"Lots of milk and plenty of sunshine are very important and so are regular checkups with the doctor and dentist," said Mrs. Thompson.

Joan Carole eats a heavy breakfast, but goes light at lunch and dinner. Last year her mother was afraid that Joan was not eating enough to provide the necessary energy for strenuous child play, but later decided the child's appetite was in proportion to her needs.

Earthworms can travel not only through the hardest soil but even through brick walls and concrete.

Canadian National Railways Revenues

The gross revenues of the all-Canadian Canadian National Railways System for the week ending September 14, 1940 as compared with . . . $4,888,627 for the corresponding period of 1939, a decrease of . . . $419,733 or 8 1/2 per cent.

After the Blitz—Comes The Morning Milk

The nonchalant gent who is taking in his milk from the doorstep here is typical of many Englishmen of today. They are so accustomed to bombings that they would be more annoyed at the milkman if he failed to leave the usual couple of bottles than they are at the Nazis who dump cargoes of destruction that blow in their front doors, break their windows and keep them awake nights.

How can I brighten a dull carpet? A. First sweep the carpet clean. Then dip a soft, clean mop into a pail containing 1/2 gallon of cold water and 1/2 teaspoon of ammonia, or vinegar; wring well and rub over the carpet. It will be as bright and fluffy as new.

He Used His Head

When the steel pen super-seeded the quill pen a French manufacturer stood to lose everything he had on earth. He started to make quill toothpicks and made a fortune instead. Until quite recently his factory turned out upwards of twenty million of these toothpicks per year. Hotels of the Canadian National Railways System still supply them.

Rain Tells Time

In Canada we use watches and clocks for telling the time, but in Para, Brazil, they rely on rain to check the hours. It rains so regularly in short, heavy showers that people make appointments "after the third shower," or "the fifth shower," and so on. In Hawaii there are similar showers, which are almost invariably localized. People who can see it raining in a long way ahead, stop where they are until the rain lifts.

Try Windowless Dwellings Next?

And "invisible" towns. If British Architects' Plans Materialize—Protection Against Bombs

If the war goes on another year Britons may be living in windowless houses in "invisible" towns and sleeping in "bomb proof" bedrooms, says a copyright story in the New York Tribune.

The raw materials have for some time been planning wartime housing estates which will be as invulnerable as the steel armor plates now on view at an exhibition at the Royal Institute of British Architects.

FLYING GLASS DANGER
One prize winning drawing is that of a two-family house, one story, with a communicating door in the middle which in peace time would be the main chimney between the two houses. None of the rooms has windows. It is explained that most of the air raid injuries are due to flying glass. The bedrooms, which are in the centre of each house, with living rooms and kitchens at each end, are in themselves complete shelters. The beds are arranged in cubicles.

NEW CHEMICAL MIRACLES
Four new chemical miracles—new paint which kills disease germs, a terrific explosive, electrical weaving, and the first step in synthetic gasoline from oil wells—were announced to the American Chemical Society last week.

The explosive is a combination of butadiene, the stuff with which Germany makes synthetic rubber, and ozone. It was discovered at Syracuse University, and is so sensitive its power has not been measured.

Charged with speeding, Albert Assinger, an engineer of Milwaukee, Wis., whipped out his slide rule to his own defense. He told the court that he had been traveling at 44 miles an hour as the Express had testified, he would have been stopped 88 feet beyond the spot where he was arrested. The court suspended sentence.

Fussy Burglar

When A. C. Martindale, investigator for the district attorney, called in a Houston, Texas, housewife to question a 23-year-old Negro courtier, she asked the investigator if he had taken a single bite of a lemon pie in her kitchen and then put the pie back. The Negro admitted he had, "why didn't you eat the rest of it?" she asked. "To tell you the truth," he replied, "I didn't like it. I sent the housewife then snapped to Martindale: 'I could forgive him breaking into my house, but that remark about my pie is just straw. I know I make the best pies in the neighbourhood.'"

Algermon (to his valet)—
The doctor has ordered me to take more exercise, so I will wind up my watch in the future.

The handwriting of Horace Greeley, the famous editor, was treasured by all who were called upon to decipher it, for it was "extremely legible." It has been humorously reported that once some of Greeley's reporters inked the feet of a chicken and had it walk around a sheet of paper, and when the results were presented to the great editor's favorite compositor, the good man readily set the matter up in type. Of course, this is an exaggeration, but the following is said to be true:

One day, Mr. Greeley sent a note to another editor in the same city, but the other man could not understand it and sent it back. Greeley thought it was a reply, but being unable to read it, remarked to the messenger boy who had delivered it: "What in the world does that fellow mean?"

"That!" replied the messenger, "is exactly what the other man said."

"I understand she married a struggling young man."
"Yes, he struggled, but he couldn't get away."
