Luke 24: 48, 49; Acts 1. PRINTED TEXT, Acts 1: 1-12 GOLDEN TEXT.—But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you; and yo shall be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea and Samaria, and unto the uttermos part of the earth. Acts 1:8.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time.—The Ascension of Christ eccurred on Thursday, May 18th, A.D. 30, as far as we are able to Pentecost occurre ten days later—May 28. Place.—The City of Jerusalem, end, for the most part, the upper room, wherever that may have been located.

In this lesson we are forcefully reminded of the significance of our Lord's last days on earth, of the definite work which He gave His Church to do, and of the power which He promised to His Church for the doing of this great work, together with the an-nouncement of the angels concerning our Lord's return.

Our Lord's Final Words The final appearance of our Lord and His Ascension are recorded only by Mark and by Luke, though Luke's account is by far the fuller of the two, both in the Gospel of Luke and his great historical work, known now the Acts of the Apostles.

Acts. 1:1 "The former treatise I made. O Theophilus, concerning all that Jesus began both to do and to teach. 2. Until the day in which he was received up, after that he had given command through the Holy Spirit unto the apostles whom he had chosen: 8. To whom he also showed himself alive after his passion by many proofs, appearing unto them by the space of ferty days, and speaking the things concerning the kingdom of God." In the opening paragraph Luke gives, as it were, the three keynotes of the treatise to follow: the subject of the book of Acts is the same as that of the Gospel (former treatise) - the words and deeds of Jesus; the Acts is the history of fulfilment of the commission of Christ to the disciples to be witnesses to Him; and again, this commandment was given through the Holy Ghost.

The Holy Spirit

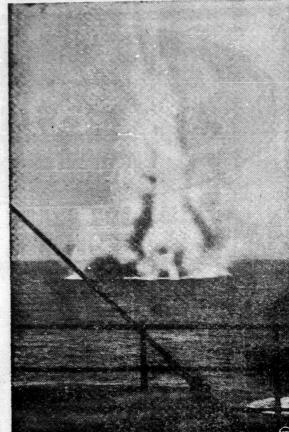

4. "And, being assembled together with them, he charged them not to depart from Jerusa lem, but to wait for the promise of the Father, which, said he, ye heard from me: 5. For John in deed baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized in the Holy Spirit not many days hence." These words refer to the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the assembled believers on the Day of Pentecost, ten days after our Lord's Ascension, and we can truthfully say that the Holy Spirit has continued to abide upon the Church from that day until this. In great quietness, we should all set our souls still, silent unto God, and give the Holy Spirit time to quicken and deepen in us the assurance that God will grant Him to work mightily.

6. "They therefore, when they were come together, asked him, saying, Lord, dost thou at this time restore the kingdom of Is-rael? 7. And he said unto them It is not for you to know times or season, which the Father hath set within his own authority. This amazing question indicates an established faith in Him as the Messiah, but betrays, at the same time, an expectation that His kingdom would be to some extent temporal one—that it would free the nation from their dependence on the Romans and restore to them their ancient prosperity and power. 8. "But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you." The Apostles were not only promised the power of the Holy Spirit, they were given his power -divine power, power to convict, power to illuminate, power for niracles, power when at work in the hearts of men would actually transform them. Today the Gos-pel still lives! Men are saved. Sins are put away. Hope is born in the human heart. The Holy Spirit is still with us, but of course, He will only work through those who yield to His sovereign away in the throne-room of their lives.

To the Uttermost Part "And ye shall be witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaes and unto the uttermost part of the earth." This verse is really an outline in brief of the book of Acts. The disciples did exactly what the Lord told them to do their job was to be witnesses and tell the truth, the whole truth in their message of Jesus and His life on earth. 9. "And when he said these things, as they

and a cloud received him out of their sight."

The Angel's Message 10. "And while they were look-ing stedfastly into heaven as he went, behold two men stood by them in white apparel; 11. Who also said, ye men of Galilee, why day's journey off."

stand ye looking into heaven? this Jesus, who was received up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye beheld him going into heaven. 12. Then re-turned they unto Jerusalem from

"BIRTHRIGHT" Early in January, the CBC Features Department produced one of its most stirring broad-casts—"Birthright." The script is by Harry Ernest Foster, and tells Canadians of their precious heritage today when tyrants have killed freedom in Europe, and are threatening it throughout the world. The writer tells Canadians how their land was built by the "mad-souled dreamers," the trappers and the voyageurs who "dar-ed the wilderness with song," and the pioneers who hewed out their homesteads from the depth of the forests, and how it was defended by "the gay, unheeding lads who made in war the ultimate offer-

Tourist traffic from the United States to Canada continues to flow freely across the internaional boundary, according to the Immigration Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources, which reports that 13,598,777 visitors entered Canada from the United States during 1940. Although Canada is at war, and her industries have been re-organized on a war basis, no restrictions have been placed on the entry of bona fide tourists from friendly or neutral countries. MORE ENQUIRIES RECEIVED Prospects for a much greater tourist trade in 1941 were envisaged by D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Dominion Travel Bureau, in an address last month before the 11th annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Montreal.

The speaker noted that since the beginning of the present year, more than 22,000 inquiries for travel information had been received by the bureau at Ottawa. This was an increase of 31 per cent over the highest

HAIR GROWTH AFTER DEATH A California physician has cited statement that hair grew to a considerable length after a body was interred in two cases. The Journal of the American Medical Association expresses doubt as to the accuracy of the reports, but states it is possible for a small growth to take place after somatic death due to continuation of the molecular life processes until available oxygen has been used. There is also a deceiving appearance of growth of hair on a dead person due to the shrinking of the skin, which exposes portions of the hair shaft previously concealed. -0→

Toronto Doctor Advises That More Attention to Nutrition is Essential to War Effort

vitamin concentrates and not enough attention paid to buildtural foods, Dr. D. L. Thomson, professor of biochemistry at Mc-Gill University, last week told the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes.
Dr. Thomson's comments on the national diet followed an adsociate professor of physiological hygiene of the University o Toronto. Dr. McHenry spoke of the value of dietary surveys and referred particularly to studies which had been made of 100 lowncome families in Toronto. In these families, the men, he stated, were the best fed, the children next and the mothers worst. Only three of the 100 families received adequate amounts of food. The lack of "pro-

B vitamins, was most evident. MALNUTRITION WIDESPREAD Both speakers emphasized that in time of war it was imperative, if Canada is to put forth her best war effort, to pay more atten-tion to nutrition. They emphas-ized that this attention must be based on knowledge, not popular fancies. While there may be little actual hunger in Canada, there was malnutrition, Dr. Thomson pointed out, particular ly as lack of the essential miner als and vitamins did not create hunger in the sense that lack of
