In this lesson we have another illustration of the profound truth, which is continually emphasized the narrative of the Book of Acts, that the gospel of the Kingdom of God, the gospel of Jesus Christ, must face a host of antagonistic forces - false philosophies, pagan and sensual religis, the power of sin in the human heart, and the selfishness of human nature itself. These must all be overcome if the gospel is to conquer, and conquer did in these great events here

Paul in Ephesus Ephesus was one of the greatcities of the ancient world. The first experience of Paul in Ephesus of which we have record s his meeting with a group of disciples, the followers of the teachings of John the Baptist, a situation similar to that in which Aquila and Priscilla found Apollos, in the section immediately preceding the opening paragraph of our lesson. Acts 19:8. One and disobedient, speaking evil of the Way before the multitude, he thing the authorities couldn't do was to "laugh off" this gospel ted from them, and separmessage, for it was actually trans-forming the lives of great multiated the disciples, reasoning daily the school of Tyrannus. 10. And this continued for the space of two years: so that all they tha dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks. Paul's ministry here was marked by special thoroughness of teach ing, due probably to his experience of errors among his earlier converts; by extraordinary miraculous attestations, which seem to have been intended specifically to offset and overcome the power

"23. And about that time there arose no small stir concerning the Way. 24. For certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, who made silver shrines of Diaha, brought no a silversmith, little business unto the crafts men: 25. whom he gathered to gether, with the workmen of like occupation, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this business we have our wealth. 26. And ye see and hear, that not alone at Enhesus, but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul hath persuaded and turned away much people, saying that they are no gods, that are made with hands: and not only is there danger that this our trade come into disrepute; but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana be made of no account, and that she should even be de posed from her magnificence whom all Asia and the world worshippeth. 28. And when they heard this they were filled with wrath, and cried out, say-ing Great is Diana of the Ephesians. 29. And the city was filled with the confusion: and they rushed with one accord into the theatre, having seized Gaius and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, Paul's companions in travel. 30. And when Paul was minded to enter in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not. 31. And certain also of the Asiarchs, being his friends, Rich Fugitives Live in Bomb-free English Resort tudes of Ephesian citizens and not to adventure himself into the theatre. 32. Some therefore cried one thing, and some an-other: for the assembly was in confusion; and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together."

Their Concern Is Money Suddenly the whole city of Ephesus was inflamed and rising against the apostle and the disagainst the apostic and the dis-ciples, because so many were turning in disgust from the temple worship of Diana, and were no longer buying images either to offer as sacrifices or to carry home with them as objects of worship. The silversmiths who grew rich on this kind of traffic were afraid their business would be lost, and they would be deprived of their large incomes. These silversmiths cared nothing for the truth of the religion their shrines represented but, their concern being money, they were determined that this man must either be put out of the city, or be put to death. What an acknowledgment of the power of the gospel, that the whole city should be in such an uproar over the

Improve Your Conversation

Here Are Some Suggestion On How To Do It

Tips on conversation are offered by Ruth Millet who believes that ne average person (and that in cludes the majority of us) hasn't chance of becoming a witty or brilliant conversationalist, in spite of the claims of all the "how to"

It is possible to improve the quality of conversation in general, she believes. Remember these do's and don'ts (it's surprising how few people do remember them) and your talk will be interesting en ough and of a high enough qual ity to get you by without irritating or boring your friends, she advises To begin with, don't feel that when two persons are together for several hours one of them has to be talking every minute. Learn not arrassed by silences. The person who isn't afraid of occasonal silences is a restful person o have around.

Don't grab the conversational oall the moment your opponent drops or fumbles it. If you pick if up throw it back to him once. That is, if your companion is telling a story, don't wait eagerly for him to pause long enough for you to "That reminds me"plunge into a story of your own. Ask him a question, or make a comment on his story when he's finished. He thinks it is worth that much of your attention, or he wouldn't have bothered to tell it. Steer clear of talking about your health, your husband's or wife's health, your children's health, your parent's health. Keep your stories as short as you can make them. Remember how pleased you always are when an after-dinner speaker talks for two minutes and then sits down. Don't bother too much about details. The "let's see, was it Monday or was it Tuesday" stuff drives

Don't tell a story that doesn't have any point. If your stories always seem to ramble and fall flat at the end, try writing them outond you'll be able to discover why Following this advice won't make your talk sparkle. But if you follow it, your talk will be good enough to get you by.

"BETWEEN OURSELVES" Comment on world events, his tories of famous regiments, and stories about famous musicians, artists and statesmen come within the wide scope of R. B. Farrell, whose talks, "Between Ourselves" are a feature of CBC'S network at 12.15 p.m. on Sundays.

Born in Halifax, N.S., Mr. Farell was educated in England and Dalhousie University in the Maritimes. During the World War-No. 1, he served first in the Candian Navy, then as a recruiting r throughout Canada, and as an infantry officer in England and France. After the war he did a great deal of work for the Federal Department of Labour before going into journalism, (he is now Assoc ate Editor of the Ottawa Journal). This varied career may in part account for the wide scope of his broadcast talks. During the past four months, Mr Farrell has received more than twenty-five thousand letters from listeners. These came from al. parts of the continent, from the North-West Territories and the Yukon and from below Canada's southern borders — from house-wives and archbishops, from soldiers, and even from inmates of prisons. A large number come from the United States, although American networks do not carry Mr. Farrell's talks.

These talks are hagrd in this of Ontario from CBY and CKOC.

This will take place o Music Day (August 28), and wi include three age classes for both sexes. These are for children nine to twelve years of age those twelve years old to under 16; and a third group embracing those 16 years of age and over. Entries close on August 10. The first two classes will feature four events: Highland Fling, six steps; Sword Dance, four slow steps and one quick step; Irish jig and Sailor's Hornpipe. The older class will compete in three events: the Sailor's Horn-pipe, Irish Jig and a foursome (strathspey and reels).

Untreated Olives Aren't Palatable

The fresh untreated fruit of the olive tree, whether ripe or green, is too bitter to be palatable to most persons. To remove the bitterness, olives are soaked in a lye solution, washed, and then put in brine. The people of Greece, however, are said to relish fresh untreated olives that have been dried. In the Far North in Greenland the growing season for plants lasts barely two months in the year.
