THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time. - The Epistle to the Galatians was written about A.D. 58. The first Epistle to the Thessalonians was written abou A.D. 54. The two Epistles to Timothy were written at the end of Paul's life—perhaps A.D. 65 or 66. The Second Epistle of Peter was written approximately at the same time—A.D. 66; while Epistle of Jude was also written between A.D. 65 and 70. Place.—Galatia was one of the great provinces of Asia Minor in Paul's day. Thessalonica was a city located in what we would call northern Greece, then known as Macedonia. The designation of 2 Peter and Jude are not given in these respective epistles. Paul's Gospel Inspired Gal. 1:11. "For I make known to you, brethren, as touching the gospel which was preached by me, that it is not after man. 12. For neither did I receive it from man, nor was I taught it, but it came to me through revelation of Jesus Christ." The Apostle Paul is here defending the supremacy of his message over all false teaching, which had been brought into the Galatian Churches by Judaizers and by those who were mixing works with the truth of salvation by grace. Verse eleven might be said to present the negative side of the question-his Gospel did not come from men; the twelfth verse presents the positive sideit came to him through revelation of Jesus Christ.

How Thessalonians Received It I Thess. 2:13. "And for this cause we also thank God without ceasing, that, when ye received from us the word of the message, even the word of God, ye accepted it not as the word of men, but, as it is in truth, the word of God, which also worketh in you that believe." Paul had himself preached to the Thessalonian Church, a record of which is found in Acts 17:1-0. The First Epistle to the Thessalonians is the first epistle, as far as we know, that Paul ever wrote as an apostle to one of the great Christian Churches of his He is commending the Thessalonians for receiving his mes-sage not as one based on human speculation, on man's wisdom, but as one given to him by God, though spoken through mortal lips. Paul was but the instrument, God was the primary author and Paul with the Thessalonians ought to be, even if in a lesser degree, the experience of all true ministers of the Word of God, as they preach.

His Doctrine of Inspiration It is interesting to note that in Paul's last three epistles, the two to Timothy, and the one to Titus, he speaks more often of faith, of teaching, of doctrine, of the truth, of the Word, of Scripture, than in any other part of any of his writings of similar ength. It is quite significant that the greatest statement Paul ever made about the Word of God, he makes here at the end of his life, a conclusion resulting from long years of absolute devotion to Christ, and the Word of Towards Complete Lives 2 Tim. 3:14. "But abide thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learnod them. 15, and that from a babe thou hast known the sacred writings which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. 16. Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction which is in righteous-ness." Of course this passage refers primarily to the Old Testament Scriptures. If the Old Testament is inspired, how much more so the New, which records the very words and acts of the Saviour Himself, and was written by those who companied with the Lord, or were in fellowship with those who did. "17. That the man of God may be complete, furhished complete unto every good work." Verse sixteen tells us that the Word of God is inspired, and what it can do for us, but yerse seventeen tells us that all these things are to the end that we, belonging to God, may be complete in our lives and equiped for every good work.

Each summer Boy Scouts in various parts of the Dominion are called upon to help search for lost persons.
