Acts 10:1—11:18
PRINTED TEXT, Acts 11: 5-18 GOLDEN TEXT .- And Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons. Acts 10:34. THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING Time.—The conversion of Cor-nelius, and Peter's subsequent defense of his part in this great episode, occurred in A.D. 41.

Place.—The conversion of Cornelius took place in Caesarea, about seventy miles from Jerusabout seventy miles from Jerus-alem; Peter went up to Caesarea from the city of Joppa, thirty miles south, on the Syrian coast; Peter's defense of his act took place in Jerusalem. In this lesson we have a splendid illustration of the enthusiasm of one man for the Gospel of the Lord Jesus, his loyalty to this Gospel and his great earnestness in presenting Christ to those who knew him not.

We have now arrived at another

We have now arrived at another crisis in the early Church of Christ. The day of Pentecost, the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, the call of Cornelius, and the foundation of the Gentile Church of Artisch are if we are Church of Antioch are, if we are to pick and choose amid the events related by St. Luke, the turning points of the earliest ecclesiastical history.

action in every step of the way which he took, and that God, by the gift of the divine Spirit, had shown that He had taken these Jew and Gentile Alike While the future Apostle of the Gentiles, having received his misshown that He had taken these uncircumcised men into His fel-lowship before Peter dared to eat with them. He points to four facts which show God's hand in sion, is gone to Tarsus, his work is anticipated by the Apostle of the circumcision. St. Peter was chosen by God formally to admit the Gentiles to the Church. Hith-erto the Church had to deal only the matter — his vision on the housetop, the fact that he was in a trance, a condition in which with Samaritans, or proselytes, or a stranger in the exceptional posiprophets had of old received their tion of the Ethiopian eunuch. Now it is brought face to face with the ordinary Gentiles of the world, uncircumcised Gentiles. The baptism of Cornelius is the initial step and the decisive one. By the gift of the Holy Spirit on this occasion God showed that He was no respecter of persons, that in His sight Jews and Gen-tiles were equal. It was, we might almost say, a new creation. The full lesson tells us the stories: of how Cornelius sent for Peter because of a vision that commanded him to do so; of how Peter received a vision which prepared him for this new labor; of how the messengers arrived at Peter's lodging to take him with them to Caesarea; of how Peter is greeted by the waiting Cornelius who reports his experiences leading to his request for Peter to come; of how Peter preached a sermon in the house of Corne-lius and converted him and his entire household. Peter Tells the Story Acts 11: 5. "I was in the city of Joppa praying: and in a trance I saw a vision, a certain vessel descending, as it were a great four corners; and it came even unto me; 6. upon which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw the four-footed beasts of the earth and wild beasts and creeping things and birds of the heaven. 7. And I heard also a voice saying unto me Rise Peter; kill and eat. 8. But I said, Not so, Lord: for nothing common or unclean hath ever entered into my mouth. But a voice answered the second time out of heaven, What God hath cleansed make not thou common.

10. And this was done thrice; and all were drawn up again into heaven. 11. And behold, forth-with three men stood before the house in which we were, having been sent from Caesarea unto me.

12. And the Spirit bade me go with them, making no distinc-tion. And these six brethren also accompanied me; and we entered into the man's house:
