VOLUME 65-48 THINKING OF OTHERS

The closing weeks of the calendar year lead most Canadians away from themselves. On November 11, the nation stands still for a minute or so to remember the boys who died against a foe and accepted a simple grave in Flanders to help us Canada a nice place to live in.

It was made clear that the Board in recent discussions has fully reviewed proposals which have come from the Board in the latter part of the year. The Board has found that all such alternative proposals will result in higher retail prices and will mean a continuation of the Board's operation will be to prevent retail price increases and to stop the upward spiral.

Price Ceiling Effective Dec. 1

Ottawa, November 20 - The price ceiling, effective December 1st, must and will definitely be maintained. To accomplish this and to reduce the retail price of necessities, the Board has found that all such alternative proposals will result in higher retail prices and will mean a continuation of the Board's operation will be to prevent retail price increases and to stop the upward spiral.
