They, like the Lord, had hated the works of the Nicolaitans a group of an impure and licen-tious character, which would bring into the Church the corruption of paganism. In everything it would seem the Church had been walkign worthy of the name of its Lord Christ. But one thing was wrong. It had departed from its first love. Beggar, Blind and Weary, Turns Out to be German Spy

From Moscow comes this story: A beggar, barefoot and apparently blind, squatted on the side of a dusty road teeming with milltary traffic, singing an ancient Russian folk song to the accompaniment of an accordeon. Frequently the beggar beat his reast, crossed himself and bowed passers-by who to sympathetic sed coins and bits of bread into his lap. Artillery shells crashed nearby and German planes bombed the road but the beggar did not move. Finally a Russian major passed and noticed that the beggar wore an old fashioned home-spun shirt no longer in vogue in Russia. He saw suspicious over-patches on the beggar's trousers and noticed that the beggar's feet seemed delicate for one who should be used to a hard life. The major approached and exclaimed: "Sprechen sie Deutsch?" ("Do you speak Ger-"Ja," the beggar replied spon-

Ontario Mines Supply Lignite

Lignite May Be Great Benefit to Northern Ontario's Industrial Area

The Sudbury Star points that the people of Northern Ontario are intensely interested in the results of the tests that are being made of lignite as a fuel. They are anxious to see the product of the big fields north of Cochrane supplying the needs of the North This fuel has been tested in stationary furnaces, but the Tem skaming and Northern Ontario Railway for the first time has used it under the more exacting require-ments of railway locomotives This test is not yet completed, and the results are being awaited with keen interest. If lignite can be dustrial and domestic fuel problem t will be a great benefit to that

It may take much additional experimental work, but it is encour aging to know that the experts who are working on the problem express the opinion that lignite will come into its own, not only in Northern Ontario, but in the prov ince as a whole. If the experi ments prove satisfactory, lignit will be added to the list of Nor thern Ontarics mining products,

More Women Must Register

Raiph Assheton, parliamentary secretary to the British Labor Ministry, indicated last week that a firmer policy would be established to mobilize women for warwork, with the government using compulsory powers if necessary. Opening the Women's Services Recruiting Exhibition, he announced that all women up to thirty would be required to register with in the next four months.

"We have not only reached the point when there is not surplus manpower available but we have reached the point where it is becoming very difficult to satisfy all our important needs," he said. Mr. Assheton declared the choice of occupations will be more restricted and that older women will be required to come forward to replace younger and more mobile women who will be transferred else-

The Motor Plant Old and Modern

Orville Wright gazed down th vast new motor plant at Cincin-nati, so big that eight baseball games could be played in it at once, and his thoughts must have turned to the little bicycle shop in which he and his brother Wilbur built their first plane. It was only 38 years ago. They built their motor by hand, a clumsy affair of 25-30 horsepower The new engine plant will turn out 1,000 motors a month of 1,700 horsepower apiece. People talk of the speed with which life is changing. Here, in much less than one man's whole lifetime, the whole matter stands clearly revealed. The flimsy little pusher plane flown by Wright at Kitty Hawk in 1903 has become a colossus which, turned to a destructive use of which Wright never dreamed then, now bestrides the world, the master for good or
