LESSON XIV CHRIST AND LIFE AFTER DEATH (EASTER) - Mark 12:24-27; I Corinthans 15:50-58. GOLDEN TEXT—Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. I Corinthians 15:57. THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time—The words here quoted from Mark's Gospel were spoken by our Lord on Tuesday of Passion Week, April 4, A.D. 30. The First Epistle of Paul to the Corticology of t inthians was written about A.D.

Place-The words here quoted from one of our Lord's disco were uttered in Jerusalem. The aret Epistle to the Corinthians was written at Ephesus.

God of the Living
34. "Jesus said unto them, Is it not for this cause that ye err, that ye know not the acriptures, nor the power of God? 25. For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage. 26. But as touching the dead, that they are raised; have ye not read in the book of Moses, in the place concerning the Bush, how God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? 27. He is not the God of the dead, but of the Man. the dead, but of the living: ye do greatly err." Jesus attributes these proud men with error, and he attributes their error to their ignornce. Though these men were full of intellectual pride, they lacking in understanding of God's Word and faith in God's power. Josus says that God can and will raise the dead, and that in the risen life earthly relations will be dissolved. Our domestic relationships will no longer exist. Because there is no more death, there is no more need of marriage, but the redeemed are, in this respect, as angels. Jesus ends as He began. saying that they erred and erred greatly. It is God's Word which tells of His power, and if we do

50. "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God; neither doth the corruption inherit incorrup-tion." Flesh and blood describes the human body as it exists in this life. In this state the body cannot enter heaven. Corruption is found in our flesh and blood because of sin. Only when sin to-gether with its effects is complete-by removed from our bodies do our bodies attain incorruption and thus inherit God's Kingdom. 51. "Behold, I tell you a mystery: We shall not sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52, in a moment, in the twingling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible and we shall be changed. Those living when Christ comes will not fall asleep, that is die, before ther are caught up to be with Him. We shall be shanged in many ways. Our bodies will be changed. Our minds will e enlarged. Our very characters shall be purified and we shall be

54. "But when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall come to pass the saying that is written, Death b swallowed up in victory. 55. O grave, where is thy victory? O ath, where is thy sting?" Death to only an instrument in God's hands, and having done its tem-porary work is thrown aside; and resurrection steps in, and with its supreme victory reverses all of that which seemed a victory for

56. "The sting of death is sin; and the power of sin is the law."

In the law is seen the expression of the will of God. 57. "But thanks be to God, who giveth us the vic-tory through our Lord Jesus Christ." The victory here meant is the victory over death and the grave. Christ by his death hath destroyed him that had the power of death, that is, the devil and deof death, that is, the devil, and delivered them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage. Christ deprives death of all power to injure His people. Christ not only gives us this victory but He now creates this victory but He now creates the soul after the image of God and repairs all the evils which death had inflicted. He restores us to that state from which sin had east us down. He rescues our bodies from the grave and fashions them like unto His body, even by that power whereby he is able to subdue all things unto Himself (Phil. 3:21). Had it not been for Christ, death would have reigned forever over our own fallen race; but Christ has given us the victory; so that the believer may even now say O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy

CANADIAN AIRMAN WINS GEORGE MEDAL

Sergeant Thomas B. Miller of Owen Sound, Ont. and St. John, M.B., first member of the Royal Canadian Air Force to win the George Medal gained the award for "prompt and extremely brave action." This picture is the first to reach Canada since his exploit. The 20-year-old observer entered the flaming wreck of his crashed bomber twice to rescue, first the pilot and then the wireless operator. The latter was "sort of a human torch" according to Miller's own words, but he managed to get him to the grass where he "rolled" out the flames. Miller spent three months in hospital. The crash followed a successful raid over Germany, when they were apparently trailed home by a Messerschmitt which did not open fire until they neared their home base. They suffered a burst "right on the nose," one engine "conked" and a crash landing was inevitable.

Coal Is Becoming Big U.K. Problem Britain now is consuming far more coal than before the war and will have "a very difficult task to meet next year's demands" for the fuel, an official spokesman said. He foresaw no difficulty for the present winter, however, despite ncreased consumption and said there had been no stoppage of essential industries.

The home market, he added, will absorb almost four and a half tons a person next year, and "we must produce 4,000,000 tons for every week of the year."

No Near Collapse Of German Morale

Germany Knows She is Beaten But is Afraid Te

Germany today knows she is beaten but continues to fight with undiminished fury in an effort to postpone as long as possible the time of post-war reprisals, according to Alex Dreier, N.B.C. correspondent and last reporter to leave Berlin before war was declared. "I saw the first grack in Germany's morale when the blitz victory over Russia, which Hitler had promised, failed to materialize," Dreier writes in the current issue of The American Magazine. "As relations between Washington and Berlin grew more tense, I saw the widespread uncertainty of victory turn into a conviction of defeat. "On the eve of Pearl Harbor, Germany had been so undermined with hopelessness that even Nazi officials talked openly of their fears of ultimate disaster. I don't mean that the Nazi regime is about to crack up. Far from it. I've seen its fighting machine and it is still magnificent despite losses on the eastern front. In fact, recent setbacks have given Germany a will to fight with a new ferocity. Little Fellow Afraid

"The little fellow under Hitler is afraid of what will happen to him after he stops fighting. I talked with Germans who believe that murderous horde of avengers — downtrodden Russians, Poles Czechs, Serbs, Norwegians, Bel-gians, Danes, Dutch and French —will swarm over Germany once military operations have ceased. A Nazi officer told me that if Ger many is defeated 30 million Germans will die-and not on the bat-

Mr. Dreier says that today the average German faces the war like "We've knocked over nine countries in Europe and what has it got us? Our food isn't better and our clothes are worse. Something has gone wrong in Russia and now we've got the United States against us, too. We'll be licked in the end, but can't quit." Mr. Dreier reports that after two and a half years of war, Germany is rife with anti-war and anti-Nazi sentiment, but he warns that "there

The Canadian National Railways had the most successful fin-ancial year of its history in 1941 with a cash surplus of $4,016,000, the annual report of the system, tabled in the House of Commons last week by the Minister of Transport, said.

Net revenue, after the payment of all operating expenses, was $66,608,341, an increase of $21,600,929 over the previous year. The cash surplus of $4,016,000, after payment of taxes, interest to the public and certain interest payments to the governinterest payments to the government for capital purposes, showed an improvement of $21,000,-000 over 1940. Payment of this surplus will be made to the government before the close of the fiscal year ending March 31, the report said. Sharp increases in both passen-ger and freight traffic were re-ported, with the freight tonnage the highest in the railway's his-tory.

"When the need for efficient when the need for efficient transportation reached new high levels during 1941, the National Railway system was found capable and competent to meet all de-mands," the report said. "The demands in 1942 will be still more challenging but with the challenging but with the co-operation of shippers, passergors and government agencies, they will be 1942 Outlook Bright "The outlook for 1942 is for a further substantial increase in traffic. The directors expect the railway will again earn a moderate surplus over and above its fixed charges. It is difficult to estimate how much that surplus will be. The outlook must be viewed in the light of war condi-tions and with the realization that abrupt and far-reaching disturbances occur with startling rapidity.

"Both management and ployees realize fully the need for economy and every effort will be made to secure the most favorable financial results consistent with the primary duty of furnishing prompt and efficient transporta-tion service in the national war effort.

The increased freight revenue over 1928, however, was only five per cent.

Passenger Revenue Passenger revenue increased $10,191,000 or 47 per cent. Measured by pasenger miles, passenger traffic increased 57 per cent but the increase in revenue was not proportionate to the increase in volume because of the low fares for members of the armed forces and special rates for workmen's trains serving munition plants.

The average revenue per passenger mile was 1.8 cents, an all-time low.
