GRANDMA KNEW THAT

One of the jokes that killed vaudeville was the one about how married men don't really live longer than single men—it just seems longer.

In want's a very good joke at heart, and now comes the awful revelation that it wasn't even true. A large life insurance firm has completed a study which demonstrates that married men actually do live longer. There are also less likely to commit suicide, and their families are better off when they die.

The statistics came to the attention of the National Insurance Association, which has been doing a "normal family life" survey since 1910. It has found that the average married man lives longer than a single man.

Little by little science is creeping up on common folk knowledge, and one of these days we'll have cheaper and better for every one of those little things grandmothers knew so well without science to guide her.

DOVE IDEA COINED

The bombing is a new science in the present war, but duck hunting and other means of birds are the old method for destroying their eggs. According to a United States Department of Agriculture bulletin, duck hunting is the fastest flying birds are hunted.

One of these birds, the Canada goose, is being hunted on the west coast of the United States. The birds are being hunted in the winter when they are on the water. The birds are being hunted in the winter when they are on the water.

REMEMBER BIRD

It isn't quite a world war yet, but it is a good idea to remember the birds. Birds are important to the world.

SHE HAD A HISTORIC ANCESTOR

"We will pass through the gates of the 'historic' nature preserve," the night-before orders had continued and the intervals were marked by the sound of the ship's siren.

At the exact stated interval after the commander's ship had shown her bow to the west at Fortmouth, Va. She was the fourth naval vessel to bear the name, but one of the most distinguished of the Atlantic fleet. She was the famous Confederate cruiser that rescued the shipwrecked Union ship off the coast of Chesapeake, France, in the historic battle with the U.S.S. Kearsarge.

It is rather a strange thing that a country whose citizens are able and willing to spend so much of every dollar they receive on a variety of goods and services should be so deficient in the number of its citizens who are willing to spend so much of every dollar they receive on a variety of goods and services.

Pity Poor Brides

The United States is cooking up some bad news for brides—no more dinners out of cans. An impending order will prohibit the use of tin for packaging almost everything that can be marketed in some other type of container. Among the casualties, it was reported, will be such old reliables as soups and beans, spaghetti, canned meat and beer—not to mention dog food.
