LESSON 30
NOAH: GOD'S COVENANT WITH MANKIND
GENESIS 6:4-9
PRINTED TEXT
GENESIS 9:1-16

will remember my covenant. Genesis 9:15.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING
Time.—The traditional date of the flood is set about 2350 B.C. Archaeologists are now quite united in believing that a great flood took place in the Mesopotamian valley about 3000 B.C., and there is nothing in the Bible which makes it impossible for us to accept this earlier date.

Place.—We do not know where Noah lived during the time he built the Ark. Mr. Ararat, on which the ark rested after the flood, is in what is now known as Armenia. Near where the Tigris River has its source, about three hundred miles directly north of the ancient city of Babylon.

Command to Noah
1. "And God blessed Noah and his sons, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth." This command to Noah is exactly like the command originally given to Adam and Eve (Genesis 1:28).

2. "And the fear of you shall be upon every bird of the earth, and upon every beast of the earth, and upon every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, as I have said." This is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat? Noah is permitted to eat the flesh of animals but he is explicitly told not to eat the flesh with blood in it—that is the animal must be slain before any part of it is eaten for food.

Human Government
5. "And surely your blood, the blood of your lives, will I require; at the hand of every beast will I require it; and at the hand of man, even at the hand of every man's brother, will I require the life of man. 6. Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man, 7. And you, be ye fruitful and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein." Here for the first time, we find the principles of human government set forth by God. Man is given the right to execute judgment upon evil doers, even to the extent of taking the life of the evildoer. This does not mean that individuals are to take judgment into their hands, but that society, as constituted by the races of men on earth, has the right to exact the death penalty from those who, themselves, are guilty of murder. Man is made in the image of God, and he that destroys man in murder is destroying that which most perfectly should manifest the person of God on earth.

8. "And God spake unto Noah, and to his sons with him, saying, 9. And I, behold, I establish my covenant with you, and with your seed after you; 10. And with every living creature that is with you, the birds, the cattle, and every beast of the earth with you; of all that go out of the ark, every beast of the earth. 11. And I will establish my covenant with you; neither shall all flesh be cut off any more by the waters of a flood; neither shall there be any more a flood to destroy the earth. 12. And God said, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you, and every living creature that is with you: I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of the covenant between me and the earth. 14. And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, the bow shall be seen in the cloud; 15. and I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you, and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more be a flood to destroy all flesh. 16. And the bow shall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth.

The word 'covenant' is one of the great Bible words. It means a coming together. As used of a human transaction, it implies a bargain, one party giving and the other receiving. It also sometimes partakes of the nature of a voluntary undertaking or pledge, without any expectation of a return. This latter view is its characteristic in the passage before us, for we read only of God's covenant with Noah, not Noah's covenant with God. God binds Himself, and lays down the line of His relationship to man. It is for Noah simply to receive and act upon the promise.

Purpose of the Covenant
The Purpose of the covenant should be carefully noted. It was associated with the assurance that human life should not be cut off or the world destroyed any more by a flood. The appropriateness of this revelation is apparent, for at that time it must have been a real perplexity to know whether there would be any repetition in the future of what they had experienced in the Flood. Everything connected with this relations to God had been altered by that catastrophe, and now God does not leave man ignorant, but, on the contrary, pledges Himself not to bring another similar judgment upon the earth.

Record Service
Here is what probably constitutes a speed record for delivery of vital Navy equipment to the other side of the world.

At 6 p.m. on a recent Thursday an order was received at an eastern General Electric factory for equipment by a U.S. warship near Australia.

As many workers as could be employed efficiently worked that night and all the next day and night to assemble the equipment. Escorted by police, it was then rushed to a nearby airport and flown westward, arriving in San Francisco Sunday.

On Wednesday, six days after the order had been received, a bombing plane landed the equipment at its Pacific destination, more than 10,000 miles from the factory where it originated.

Fighting with the Greek guerrillas, both on the mainland and in Crete, are a number of British and American troops who were left behind after the evacuation of Crete.

The third great guerrilla force is in Russia. There the organization of units for fighting behind the lines began long before the war. In every village men and women were trained in marksmanship and the tactics of irregular warfare. When, last year, the Nazi army drove into the Soviet Union, the people were ready.

At Schiedam, near Rotterdam, where the Germans have taken over shipyards for their own purposes, a new submarine slid into the water. But Nazi crews were suddenly hushed, for the U-boat went to the bottom with its German crew.

When a second submarine built to the same specifications was ready for launching, the Nazis, deciding to profit by past experiences, manned it with an all-Dutch crew.

It, too, promptly sank below the surface. But twelve hours later it came up—at an English port.

Guerrillas Fighting On Dozen Fronts

Patriots Fighting Axis Powers Number About 1,500,000

Guerrilla armies are battling the Axis on a dozen fronts around the world. In Spanish, "guerrilla" originally meant "little war," but there is nothing small about the war that today's guerrillas are fighting. The losses, possible estimate of the world's guerrilla strength is well over a million, and if the divisions of the Chinese regulars fighting behind Japanese lines are included, the figure is something closer to 1,500,000. The Kansas City Star concludes:

The Chinese guerrillas, of whom there are at least 800,000, operate in every area where there are Japanese troops. They have their own special training school in Southern Hunan Province, where picked leaders can learn the techniques of swift surprise attack which are the stock-in-trade of guerrillas everywhere.

Much in the news recently have been the exploits of another guerrilla army, half-way around the world from China. This is the Red Army of the Soviet Union, led by General Mihailovich. Mihailovich's men, who dominate a great triangle of the supposedly-conquered mountains of Serbia, number about 200,000. In spite of a number of German and Italian forays against them, these successors to the Serbian "Chetniks" of another day are constantly increasing in numbers and getting a million dollars of network listeners as Lum and Abner. The quick switch in age of the main Yugoslav guerrilla army is to touch with allies in the occupied territory on both of its flanks. To the north in the puppet state of Croatia is the "Green Army," a loose-knit group of bandits who take their name from the green Croatian forests in which they live. Southward on the Greek border it is in active contact with the long chain of Greek guerrilla forces that extend throughout the mountainous peninsula.

The Greek guerrillas have a notable record in the cutting off of small Axis detachments. Their method of attack is to make a swift move to a town and then withdraw into the hills to lie in wait for their pursuers. This spring they handed the recent era Peloponnese, led by a Greek Orthodox priest, Father Nicolaos, wiped out the last of several punitive expeditions sent against them by rolling large boulders down a ravine on the heads of the on-coming Italians.

RADIO REPORTER

Bob "Take It or Leave It" Hank's radio career has been one of the first to bring a mike to the man on the street, starting off in Chicago with such sidewalk quizzes as "Foolish Questions" and "Fun Quiz." Later he came to New York for "Quizie Success" and "Name Three," finally quarrying his way to success in "How I Do It," the top ranking audience participation show which got its first NBC national airing on July 9th.

Bob was born in Creston, Iowa 25 years ago. He started his career of questions by teaching school for a year. When he left teaching to go to Chicago, his first job in radio was reading the Handogang during its brief summer season.
