Place. The pool of Bethesda in Jerusalem.
Now there is in Jerusalem by the sheep gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew Bethesda, having five porches. In these lay a multitude of them that were sick, blind, halt, withered. When so many sufferers were brought together they impress us much more than when we meet them singly; we then see more adequately all the wretchedness, the misery, the broken lives that form the result of sin among men.

Those In Need
"And a certain man was there, who had been thirty and eight years in his infirmity. When Jesus saw him lying, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he said unto him, 'Wouldst thou be made whole?' The sick man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another stepeth down before me." Into this place, where only the helpless came, but never one strong and well to encourage them, to investigate their cases, to attempt to heal them of their ailments, where none of the great of Jerusalem ever entered, walked this group of forgotten men came, this day, the Son of God. It was He who had announced at the very threshold of His ministry that He had come down to preach the gospel to the poor; to heal the brokenhearted; to preach deliverance to the captives and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bound (Luke 4:18). Why our Lord centered His attention upon one man in the group rather than upon all the men, or some other man, we do not know. This is the way of God's dealings: some are chosen, some are not. One reason, no doubt, why our Lord focused His attention this day on this man was because he was the

RADIO REPORTER

Here's something for boys and girls who are studying or who are interested in music. . . . The first of the new Toronto Conservatory of Music program heard every day on C.F.R.B. Toronto from 2.30 to 2.45. The objective of the program is to help music students in their examinations by demonstrating and describing in a manner in which musical examination questions should be interpreted. The program is directed by Norman Wilks, Principal of the Conservatory of Music, and should be of great assistance to students in the Province-wide examinations. The second is a special series of ten musical programs for young folk commencing on Wednesday, January 24th, and continuing thereafter until March 24th, 3 p.m. over a CBC network, which includes CHLM, Hamilton, CTRB, St. Catharines, CFCO Chatham, CKLW Windsor and CBY Toronto. This special radio design of music for Young Folk has been announced in response to an emergency call. War time restrictions have made it impossible for the regular winter series of Toronto Symphony Orchestra School concerts in Massey Hall, Toronto, but Sir Ernest MacMillan and his associates interested in continuing these programs, asked that the radio should undertake the happy task of bringing these periods of fine music not to Toronto youngsters alone, but to school children throughout the province. Six will be studio presentations with leading soloists and instrumental groups demonstrating various forms of music and describing the types of instruments played. There will be no doubt that the interest also to adults, particularly music teachers, in both of the series of programs previously mentioned.

Old-Time Winter A Tough Problem

But Folk Were Tough Too and Could "Take It"

The spell of below-zero weather was hard on the coal bin, on the bank, truly says the London Free Press. It tested the plumbing and the furnace. It made housekeeping an all-day chore but it served to remind the old folk of the winters they knew when they were young. In those "good old days" our homes were colder than they are now. We had not come to the stage of specialized insulation nor had we departed from the Quebec house and the wood box. We wore heavy underwear and now and then we slept in our socks and slipped a sweater on when we got out of bed to tend the stoves. Our houses in these far-away days showed wide differences in temperature. Beside the stoves it was as high as 59 or 60. Close to the windows it was down to 40 in bedrooms it may have been lower. Going to bed was an adventure. The bed was the coldest thing in the house first thing in the morning. Winter came in about December 15 and stayed until April 1. Yes, the old-fashioned winter was a tough proposition. But so were the old-fashioned folk. They used to "take it" and they could. "Take it" they came out in the Spring pretty spry and began to work very hard and well for the next winter. They would not have thought of anything about cold spells. Maybe we have grown soft. Maybe we are older. Anyway it was amazingly cold and in our estimation, distinctly old-fashioned.

Marine "Fed Up" On Carrot Diet

Malcolm G. Kastick, aged 18, ate his way into the U. S. Marines, and is "fed up" on a certain vegetable. Turned down when he tried to enlist because of color blindness, Kastick's career for four months until he was able to pass the vision test.

Lake-Built Sub On Way To Sea

First Undersea Craft Ever Built On Great Lakes

The U.S.S. Peto, first naval submarine ever built on the Great Lakes, has begun its long voyage to the sea.

Headquarters of the 9th Naval District announced that the big undersea boat, more than 300 feet long, had entered the Illinois waterway on her way to join the United States fleet.

She will not be ready for action, however, until she has undergone extensive fitting out at New Orleans.

The Peto was built at Manitowish, Wis., by the Manitowish Ship Building Company. Her keel was laid June 18, 1941. She was launched last April 29 and commissioned November 22. Four more subs are in the water at Manitowish and five more on the ways.

For reasons of security, news of the Peto's departure was withheld until she had passed safely through the Chicago River and was on her way to Lockport, Ill. There she will be eased into a great box, a sort of floating drydock, for her trip down to the Gulf of Mexico and the Mississippi.

All tests for the Peto, including dives, were conducted in Lake Michigan, with compensation being made for the fact that fresh water is not as buoyant as salt water.
