Have You Heard?

The reporter jumped in. "Well," said the news editor, "did you get the interview?" The reporter pointed to a pair of black eyes. "We can't print a pair of black eyes. Where's the story?" The reporter lifted his hat and displayed a huge bump on his head. "Look," he repeated. "What good is that? Don't you print things like that. Don't you get the chap to say a few words?" The buckwheat grain, while very much smaller, is of the same triangular color as a buck nut and naturally was called buckwheat or buck wheat at first. Time works its changes on language as it weathers and so today this everything that is called buckwheat.

One boy got up. "He's the bloke what tells us to eat less of what we ain't got none of."

Little Boy: "I met Mr. Jones in the street going to school, and he said he wanted to see papa about something, and he called papa a walking encyclopedia."

Mamma: "Indeed! And what did my little pet say to Mr. Jones?" Little Boy: "I called him an old centipede and threw a snowball at him."

"Hey, Mom," exclaimed the little boy, tugging at his mother's hand, "don't shut monkey just like Uncle James?" "Don't be rude!" "Ah, the monkey didn't hear me, Mom!"

As the mathematics professor was working out an example on the blackboard, he noticed that one of the pupils wasn't paying any attention. So, he said sharply: "Board, friend, board!"

Even Mother Goose Rhyme Goes 'Plastic'

Plastic playing cards now, and plastic hair brushes; the new baby next door sleeps in a plastic bassinet; we shall ride in plastic cars when and if we ride again, and Mother Goose is due for a plastic ride.

There was a plastic man, In a nobby plastic tie, He found a plastic nickel Beside a plastic stile.

His plastic-loving wife, She wore a plastic blouse, And they both lived happy In a little plastic house.

Plastics are said to date from 1868, when a printer made a billiard ball out of gum camphor and cellulose nitrate. It was as good as ivory in every respect but one. In collision with another ball it exploded — New York Times.

The Inter-Alled Committee said recently that, on the basis of persons had been murdered in occupied Europe.

The figures are mostly German, so the extent of the toll of human life and suffering is only partially revealed, the committee said. "Deaths at the hands of Gestapo agents are never revealed and accurate information is difficult to obtain."

The committee said 2,500,000 persons had been executed or died in Polish concentration camps, and 744,000 had been killed in Yugoslavia.

Other totals include: France, 24,000; Greece, 18,000; Czechoslovakia, 2,400; Netherlands, 1,400; Belgium, 1,300; Norway, 140 and Luxembourg, 120.

The figures do not include victims of towns such as Lidice, Czechoslovakia and others in Yugoslavia and in Greece which were wiped out in reprisal for sabotage or resistance.
