

The radiophoto above, flashed from London, shows 80-year-old David Lloyd George, British Prime Minister during World War I, with his bride, the former Frances Louise Stevenson, 55, at Churt, Surrey, the Lloyd George estate where they are honeymooning. Mrs. Lloyd George had been the stateman's private secretary since 1913.

THE WAR - WEEK - Commentary on Current Events Russian Victory Looks Like

The Germans have lost the battle for the lower Dnieper and the Crimea. The ultimate extent of the Russian victory now depends on how well the Germans can extricate their forces from an ex tremely dangerous position. From now on, the area of Russian territory to be regained by the Red Army is not as important as the fate of the German forces within that area. Russians reconquest of all the lower Ukraine and the Crimea is almost a foregone German armed strength in South ern Russia can be smashed in the progress of the enforced retreat. It has a vital bearing on the future course of the war in Russia. If the Germans can be made to pay heavily enough for their ill-advised attempt to hold the line of the Dnieper, the conse quences could be tremendous.

The Russian victory already looks like their greatest of the war. It might in the end turn out to be a decisive one.

Campaign In Burma It is no secret that the Allies are aiming a blow at Burma, says
The New York Times. The Monsoon rains are ceasing and both sides have reported patrol clashes along the Burmese border. But it will be many weeks before the waterlogged river valleys dry out, and even limited operations can hardly begin until Admiral Mount batten. Allied commander in south east Asia, returns to India from his conferences with Generalis simo Chiang Kai-shek. The map is a poor guide to the coming campaign. The contiguity of northern India and Burma is eptive. On paper it may look like an easy matter to march a strong army from Assam into Bur-ma, drive the Japanese invaders back in one grand wheeling move ment and open China's supply routes again. But this approach is one of the most difficult in the world. It leads through a road less angle of 8,000-foot mountains into country which would do us very little good to regain. The strategic approach to Burma is by sea, through Rangoon and up the river valleys which slice the land into north-and-south strips. This was the path of Japanese

An Amphibious Project It is because the invasion o Burma must be chiefly an am-

Their Greatest Of The War undertake it. Neither they not the Americans had the fleet and cargo ships to clear and bridge the Indian Ocean. With the surrender of the Italian fleet and the opening of the Mediterranean both are now available. To defend the Indian Ocean, Japan will have to risk splitting her fleet, hard pressed by the Allies in the Pacific. This is not only to say that we can now move boldly on Ragoon and take it by assult. It will first be necessary to seize the Japanese-held Andaman and Nicobar islands as air bases. After that Admirai Mountbatten may prefer the broader strategy of a direct attack on the Kra penin which connects the Malay States with Thailand and Indo-China and eventually free the South China

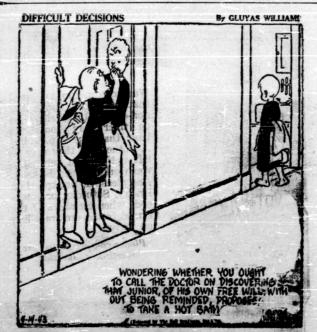

> Such an ambitious project, requiring a huge force, may seem beyond present hope. But it is not too much to expect that before May the Allies will have made a

The Road To Rome Further Allied advances in Italy represent successes against the Nazis, the weather and the ter-

Reports of the fighting above the Volturno River indicate that American and British troops are faced with a grim tenaciou adversary whose intention is to make capture of Rome a costly and protracted action for the Allies. The enemy, being on the tainous character of the country, positions from which his artillery hindered the Allied advance and has hampered air operations.

It is plain that this battle is a thorough test of the fighting qualities of Allied troops; one reads magnificent personal histories between the lines of the news reports. The public should prepare for periods in which progress seems to be small, as measured

But if the fighting on the land is sometimes a slow business, there are points ahead at which new amphibious thrusts will become feasible along the coastline of Italy. These ventures should have the effect of drawing off and confusing the Nazis who are now resisting frontal attacks.

VOICE OF THE PRESS

THEY'LL CATCH YOU A California girl announces he ngagement to marry Gunde the fastest runner in the world. Whereupon a columnist comments: "Which only goes to show, boys, that no matter how fast you run, they'll catch up to -Stratford Beacon-Herald.

IMPORTANT QUESTION Then there's the story of the Chinese laundryman who telephon-ed a dentist for an appointment. "Two-thirty all right?" asked the dentist. "Two-thirty all right?" asked the

"Yes," replied the Chinese.
"Tooth hurtee all light. . . . What time I come?"

O-U-T SPELLS "OUT" The shopkeeper's prewar motto, "The customer is always right," has given way to what might be called the eeny-meeny-miney-mo policy: "If he hollers let him go."

—Christian Science Monitor.

FOR HIS COUNTRY A Salvation Army lassie whispered to a young veteran of a naval action: "I'm sorry you lost your arm." He shook his head and replied: "I didn't lose it, ma'am. -Dunnville Chronicle

NEED FOR BOND SALES Each soldier must receive one to one and a half tons of supplies each month that he remains overseas. This illustrates the need for successful Victory Bond cam-

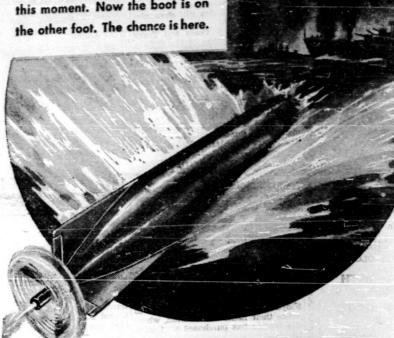

-Chatham News.

COSTLY FIRE Every bonfire burning leaves this time of year robs the soil of humus the Creator intended to go back into the land. -London Free Press.

Objects To Use Of Flag As Drape

A clergyman, Rev. D. L. Ritchie, has made public his objection to the use of the Union Jack as a pulpit drape, and he has been severely criticized on this account. We are in complete agreement with his point of view. We de not like to see the flag used as a drape for a pulpit, or a chairman's table at a public meeting, or for any such purpose; that is not what a flag is for. -Peterborough Examiner.

IT'S THE LAST BLOW

Busy on the production of precision parts which will direct many aerial torpedoes to their targets,

We Salute Canada's FIFTH VICTORY LOAN

through which every Canadian can have a hand in striking

The Final Blow

SHOE COMPANY OF CANADA LIMITED BATAWA, ONT.

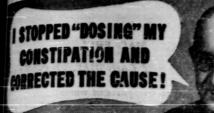

• When you buy a Victory Bond you are insuring peace, freedom and security for your country and for yourself in the years to come.

To make victory sure, Canada needs every available dollar. Make your full contribution by buying Victory Bonds in two ways . . . from savings and on the instalment plan from what you earn.

TUAL OF CANADA HEAD OFFICE - WATERLOO, ONT.

SPEED THE VICTORY! ... BUY VICTORY BONDS!

hatize busy days of war you owe tayou country—as well as to yourselve for "in the pink". That's the so important to avoid the country of constipation caused whit of "bulk" in the diet. And at by etting right at the cause of "dosing" with harsh purgass that give only temporary relief.

If selicious as a cereal or in hot, tasty muffins. Drink plenty of water. Then see if you don't agree ALL-BRAN is the "better way" to natural regularity. But remember, cat ALL-BRAN in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

sale of agricultural products which eads We Win: would help the farmer. Tails We Lose' Mr. Gardiner said of the postwar plan for maintaining the floor ducts, with limited subsidies now, Appropriate Rhyme the Government is assuming responsibility to maintain floors until this country is re-established Estern Ontario Women's after the war. Referring to the sale of agriculthat the members prepare tural products, Mr. Gardiner said the Government was attempting to west was being brought in "and we can guarantee you that the feed is may export, to finish all your live-available, in addition to any we

How Danes Feel

A disgusted Dane mounted the speaker's platform at a meeting in Copenhagen and said:

"There's one thing I'd like to say: If it had been the Lord's intention that the Germans ought to run the world, then He would

Serve "Surprises"

Occasionally

STRUT your stuff occasionally by serving something that brings back memories of the good old days. You'll feel better after such a splurge, and those who enjoy your "special treat" will certainly smile with you. Here's a suggestion:

2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; % cup milk

2 tablespoons butter; 1/3 brown sugar, firmly packed.

Nut Rolls

brains to do it."

tile carrying on the war. make two-year agreements, so farss Alice said she mers will be protected against a t "not inappropriate" to sudden slump. eech with a vulgar He revieved the betterment of arm prices for various products and said any changes to be made n the future would still further improve the price position.

hink with, and one to The Government hoped and expected that farmers would "hold the line" they had established in production, he said. They were not being asked to improve that pro-duction although it would be for Alice said that during the benefit of everyone, including the farmer, if that could be done, our of Western Canhe added. Ontario farmers this year had extitutes and was glad perienced difficulty in respect to organization flourideed practice 'good usiness,'" she contincan all begin in our and that will graduen the whole lump if we enough. We know what we are ready to make to build a new tank or ry things indeed, but are going to waste increased activity our boys and girls is on Prices Be Maintained

Farmers Guarante Gardiner. Minister of vernment was assuming ty for maintaining a prices until the count lished after the war the Government also was make agreements for the you suffer in this way, othing, quieting effect of Nervine which contains a nerve sedatives. Take 1 tablespoon butter; 1 tablespoon water; 2 tablespoons brown sugar; ½ cup broken nut meats. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening; add milk gradually, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out immedi-table on lightly floured beard and it that moment a man emerged from the ranchhouse, an eld-erly man with a short grizzled beard, wearing a gray coat and tie, whipcord breeches, and high riding-boots. He came towards the heaving sides.

CHAPTER II

Suddenly Black Dawn knew the group, and Curran waited for him with some impatience. "Who's this?" demanded the weomer, darting a suspicious glance at Dave.

"Another of them travelin' punchers," Curran grinned. Claims he's a hawss-wrangler. told him if he can break Black Dawn, I'll see about a job for him, Mr. Ferris."

"But-" began Wilbur Ferris irresolutely. He darted another look at Dave. And now Dave read "In placing ceilings upon prosomething almost like fear in the seamed, lined face and shifty eyes that met his own for a moment only, and then were averted.
"That's what I told him."

> man quickly. "I reckon you know "I sure do. That's what I'm here for," Curran answered. "Git yore rope, Bruce. We're waitin

Dave unfastened his rope from the saddlehorn and approached the corral. The grins upon the faces of the Mexicans had changed to a tense expectancy. The black was standing a little apart from the rest of the remuda, which had huddled together into a farther corner. His legs were planted squarely on the ground, neck outthrust, ears flat was perfectly aware of what was Dave looped his rope and flung it. He was sure that the black anticipated every movement; he expected a swift side-leap and half anticipated failure. To his surprise, the black let the rope settle about his neck and moved forward as Dave snubbed the end

It was not until he had the creature secured firmly against the fence, from which the Mexi-cans had departed precipitately, that Dave realized what he was have provided them with enough This horse was a killer, one of TABLE TALKS those occasional animals that kill, not in rage or panic, but out of sheer joy and hatred of man. The black must have been roped many times before, for he understood each movement of the game. He wanted to be caught and ridden - By Frances Lee Barton -

Dave had heard of such beasts, but he had never encountered one of them before, not one quite so vicious and intelligent. H a mighty tough proposition. He saw Curran's leering face near him, and he understood tha trampled into a shapeless thing gang from below the border.

"Here's yore blanket, saddle, and bridle," said Curran. "Once you're up, you kin ride him hellbent to the finish. He ain't never been beat yet. You beat him, and

Dave thrust his feet into the stirrups and pressed the horse's flanks with his knees. Black Dawn ambled slowly along the fence for a dozen yards. And then all hell was loosened. Rearing, bucking, sunfishing, the black devil set in motion every muscle of his mighty body in the effort to shake himself free of his human burden. Dave, free of his human burden. Dave, with feet jammed into stirrups, gave the horse his head, quirting him mercilessly as he went through all the manoeuvres of his

Once, in the middle of a sunfishing contortion, Black Dawn suddenly stood still. Reaching back his head, he snapped at Dave's leg with teeth that miss-Dave's leg with teen that massed crunching the shin-bone by the merest fraction of an inch.
Dave let the beast have the quirt across the face then. And the horse, screeching with fury, the most itself sidewise against the jammed itself sidewise against the fence-rail with a thud that zent two posts rocking crazily. Dave was ready for that. He had slipped sidewise like a circus rider.

his feet were back in the stirrups again, and still the quirt came down on flank and shoulders, and the spurs dug blood from htat he was done, and brought his last trick into play. He screamed, he reared, he toppled backward. As he did so, Dave flung himself sidewise from the saddle. He landed on his feet. saddle. He landed on his feet, slipped in a mass of churned up mud, was down for an instant, then up once more as the mighty bulk of horseflesh came crashing down besides down beside him with kicking legs and gnashing teeth. Up, quirt in hand, and hands upon the bridle, forcing Black Dawn to Black Dawn stood with lowered head, quivering with defeat. For the first time in his life the mankiller, with four lives to his credit, realized that he had found "Oh, very well, just as you say, Curran," returned the ranchis master. Dave leaned forward and pat-ted the creature's neces. Slowly, and staggering, Black Dawn moved round the corral until Dave halted him opposite the group of gaping punchers.

"How about that job, Cur-"Reckon you won it," Curran answered surily.

"Yeah? Well, you can keep your dann job. You knew that horse was a killer. You meant me to be killed, so's you could." me to be killed, so's you could have something to laugh about I'm goin' to make you laugh. Drop your belt and put your hands up!"

For a moment Curran's face with the head. It was evident he grew whiter. "Why, you-youhe began to bluster. you're a man and not a skulkin' coyote, drop your belt!"

Dave suited the action to the around a fence-post and began so that he could execute his venrealized that he was up against Even then Dave prepared for a determined resistance on the part of Black Dawr to being saddled and bitted. But the horse offered not the least resistance, and Dave quickly had the saddle on and the cinch tightened. Nor was there any resistance when he put the Spanish bit into the animal's mouth.

Slowly Dave unsnubbed the rope and released it. The horse stood motionless. Holding the reins short, Dave climbed the fence and vaulted into the saddle.

Many a college and business wardrobe is built this season on a smart jumper with several blouse changes. For jumper, make Pattern 4542 of velveteen, for work or play use a practical wool or rayon mixture. Gay colored rayons or cottons are attractive for the blouse.

Pattern 4542 comes in Junior Miss sizes 11, 13, 15, 17. Size 18, jumper, takes 2% yards contrast. Send TWENTY CENTS (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern to Anne Adams, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto. Write plainly size, name, address, style number.

Two jolly lads in New Guinea are Col. A. H. Rogers of Raleigh, N.C., and the Jolly Roger skull and cross-bombs painted on the and cross-bomos painted on the tail of his Liberator. A pirate ancestor of Rogers originated the symbol.

his belt and let it fall. A roar broke from his lips, and he came rushing forward, his huge fists flailing, forearms like hams. He shot a blow that would have shot a blow that would have stretched Dave senseless upon the ground, if it had landed where Curran intended.

Few Subs Menace Eastern U. S. Coast The sea lanes stretching from Nova Scotia to Florida and reaching 300 miles out from the coast to cover an area of 700,000

1 pound ground beef

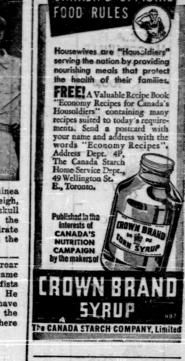

word, unloosed his own belt and let it fall to the ground. Curray still hesitated. Wilbur Ferris came hurrying up.
"What's the trouble? What's the trouble?" he babbled. "You broke that horse, didn't you, Bruce? And Curran promised you a job if you cou! do it. All right, what's the trouble, then?"
"I wouldn't take a job with your outfit, Ferris—not for any sum you was willin' to pay," Dave answered. "I'm ridin', but before I go I'm aimin' to mark up Curra. 's yellow hide for him. Curran sized up the situation quickly enough. He knew that he would have to fight if he want to retain his supremacy over tha crowd. Suddenly he unbuckled FIVE STAR FASHION

Janada's

HOUSOLDIERS

follow

CANADA'S OFFICIAL

square miles are now among the safest in the world, the enemy having sunk only three vessels in this area in the past 15 months, according to Vice-Admiral Adol-phus Andrews, Commander of the Eastern Sea Frontier.

LUNCH-BOX HAMBURGERS Though your usual idea of hamburgers may be not meat cakes, served in split heated buns, your family will take quickly to this cold version . . . very practical, these days of no hamburg-rolls!

(inexpensive cut)
1 cup Muffet crumbs or un-1 egg

1/6 teaspoon pepper 1/2 cup milk or stock cooked Quaker Oats Buttered bread slices a cup chopped onion Sliced tomatoes

Combine beef, Muffet crumbs, onion, salt and pepper. Beat egg, add milk, and mix thoroughly with meat. Let stand 5 minutes. Shape as flat round cakes, and brown quickly in hot fat in frying pan. Lower heat and cook until done to desired degree. Cool and use, with seasoned tomato slices, to make hearty lunch-box sandwickes. Sliced cucumbers may be used to replace tomatoes—and ketchup, attuce, pickles, etc., make good additions. Large home-made tek biscuits may take the place of bread when desired. (Measure of Quaker Oats may be reduced.) THOROUGH TRAINING

American Practice in Engineering and Allied Subjects structural Engineering tructural Design and

Radio and Allied Groups

AM Brit. R.E.
General Wireless
Adv. Wireless and Wigh
Frequency
Radio Servicing, Maintenance, Repairs
Short Wave Radio
Fractical Television
Sound Picture Empireering

Institute Motor Trade Examination
Automobile Engineering
Automobile Body Tool
Plant

th-speed Diesel Engines ctrical Equipment of Structural Design and Drawing Reinforced Concrete Design Heating and Air-Conditioning Pailway Eng. and Track Maintenance Royal Sanitary Institute Exam.

London Matriculation intermediate B.Sc. (Pure Science)
Final B.Sc. (Pure Science)
Higher Mathematics
Practical Mathematics
General Education Course
Cost Accountant's Course
Complete Salesmanship
Course