

To four-year-old "Teddy" Cartwright life in Cobourg these days is pretty dull. And sad. Honorary colonel of a hospital unit stationed at Cobourg, he said his good-byes bravely when he inspected the unit for the last time. Arrival of the unit overseas has been announced. "Colonel" Cartwright is pictured above. With Col. C. F. Abbott, officer commanding the unit, he is seen at right making a final inspection of the unit. The best pals he ever had have now gone off to war and he has been left behind with nothing to console him but memories of the happiest days of his short life.

Teddy "joined" the Canadian Army several months ago when the unit took up headquarters in the Cobourg armories for the period of its mobilization and ary colonel of a hospital unit
