FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

The week of October 3 - 9 has been set aside by Royal Proclamation as Fire Prevention Week for the purpose of impressing upon the public consciousness the enormous waste of life and property occasioned by fire and the means to be taken to reduce this tragic and unnecessary waste.

When it is considered that Canada's loss by fire in 1942 was 304 lives and over $31,000,000 property damage, it is easily apparent that something must be done about it. Fire is a disease that annually saps our national wealth and every citizen should resolve to do his bit to wipe out this menace to our happiness and prosperity.

Every citizen can be a soldier in this campaign by simply being careful with fire, by disciplining himself in his smoking habits, by seeing that every fire hazard in his home, store or factory is removed and by knowing what to do should a fire start. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen are battling a grim enemy on far-away fronts. Let us battle that other enemy - the Fire Demon - on the "Home Front." We too can help to win the war by preventing fires. Every fire is small in its incipency but it might easily reach the proportions of a conflagration. Our duty is to see that a fire does not start.

This week, in the press, over the radio, in theatres and from the platform, John Q. Citizen will be exhorted to use every care with fire, not only during Fire Prevention Week but every week in the year. It would be well for him to take this advice to heart and to make Canada a fire-safe country in which to live. We need only to call to mind two holocausts which have occurred during the past year in order to show the tragedy which can follow in the wake of fire. These are the Coconut Grove Night Club fire in Boston in which 491 people lost their lives, and the Knights of Columbus Hotel fire in St. John's, Newfoundland, in which 99 lives were snuffed out. WE CAN'T BE TOO CAREFUL WITH FIRE.

HARES, TORTOISES AND VICTORY BONDS

— Prescott Journal —

THE HARE was so cocksure of victory that he took time for a snooze along the way but the tortoise kept on his way without daring to stop and lo, he won the race. Simple little fable with a great big lesson.

Soon Canada's Fifth Victory Loan will be launched and there is a grave danger that we will find too many hares and not enough tortoises for our own good. Allied victories in North Africa, Sicily, Russian and New Guinea have lulled us into a dangerous drowsiness in which we feel it is a good time to relax and rest a while. Allied leaders have been warning us against this complacency, and only last week we were reminded that even the Sicilian victory, which seemed so easy to us at home in our arm chairs, had exacted a toll of up to 54 per cent of the equipment used. Losses in tanks, guns, trucks, and other such equipment, to say nothing of manpower, was rather eye-opening.

Now that we are exchanging body blows on the Italian mainland, and with the promise of greater battles in the offing, the echo of that famous plea of Winston Churchill: "Give us the tools and we will finish the job" seems to us to be more timely than the original utterance. Having that extra something in the critical moments of the contest, be it guns, tanks, bombs or fighting men, will swing the scales when the outcome lies in the balance.

It is up to us on the home front to see that that reserve is maintained at its peak. Any let down at this crucial phase of the conflict might well prove fatal. This is no time to let over confidence lull us into false security. We, like the hare, may awaken to find that victory has been stolen from us while we slept.

DO CENTENARIANS WORRY?

WE'VE BEEN looking over some of the statements given out by those oldsters who have reached the incredible span of 100 or more years and one thing they all seem to agree on as a recipe for longevity is that they don't worry.

Now, in common with most people we know, we've always had a hankering to belong to that select class — the centenarians — and always will have it until we finally shuffle off this mortal coil.

But that point about not worrying stumps us. Were it not for the fact that the longest-lived Canadians, proportionately, seem to come from the farm, this would be a stickler. Farmers worry about the weather, the condition of the crops, keeping the place and equipment in repair and innumerable details.

Everybody knows, of course that worrying

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

IN A WORLD BROADCAST FROM QUEBEC CITY, AUGUST 14th, 1943:

"Here at the gateway of Canada, in solitary lands which have never known the totalitarian tyrannies of a Hitler and Mussolini, the spirit of freedom has found a safe and abiding home. Here that spirit is as free as the wind of heaven. It is enshrined in parliamentary institutions based on universal suffrage evolved through the centuries by the English-speaking people."

It is inspired by the Magna Carta and the Declaration of Independence. It is guarded by resolute and vigilant millions never so strong or so well armed as today.

"The contribution which Canada has made to the combined effort of the British Commonwealth and Empire in these tremendous times has deeply touched the heart of the Mother Country and of all the other members of our widespread family of states and races."

"From the darkest days of the Canadian Army growing stronger year by year, has played an indispensable part in guarding our British homeland from invasion. Now it is fighting with distinction in wider and wider fields."

"The Empire Air Training organization which has been a wonderful success has found its seat in Canada and has welcomed the flower of the manhood of Great Britain of Australia of New Zealand, to her spacious flying fields, and to comradeship with her own gallant sons."

"Canada has become in the course of this war an important seafaring nation, building many scores of warships and merchant ships, some of them built thousands of miles from salt water, sending them forth, and manned by British Canadian seamen to guard the Atlantic convoys and our vital lifelines across the ocean."

"The munitions industries of Canada have played a most important part in our war effort. Last but not least Canada has relieved Great Britain of what would have otherwise been a debt for these munitions of no less than $2,000,000,000. All this, of course, was dictated by no law. It came from no treaty or formal obligation. It came from the spirit of freedom from sentiment and tradition and in a generous resolve to serve the future of mankind."

"I am glad to pay my tribute to the British of the Great Dominion, and to pay it from Canadian soil."

leads to high blood pressure and kindred ills and yet where is the human that permits this to deter him from worrying? Centenarians are human too, don't forget.

Nowadays, people — especially businessmen — laugh at any mention of not worrying. They cite the numerous complications of war such as government regulations, labor disputes, equipment and manpower shortages. Yet farmers also have these worries — and many more besides.

We must not forget that persons who are 100 years old now have passed through wars with all their attendant problems and perils. Yet they survived. And we have a hunch they did plenty of worrying in those hard times.

Getting down to earth, it seems most improbable that those who live to a great age have extraordinary constitutions, bequeathed to them by plain-living, hard-working forbears. This view is supported by the number of farmers who cheat Time's scythe until they are ready to go.

However, another important reason for longevity is the cultivation of an inward serenity — a snug spiritual harbor where a man's soul can dwell, untroubled by the swirling storms of a lifetime passage.

"The cumulative effect of shortages of civilian supplies and raw materials, machinery and manpower is exerting more pressure now than at any time since the beginning of the war. Many people fed up with restrictions and controls, are tending to be selfishness rule their judgment, forgetting that in so doing they not only weaken the drive needed for the knock-out punch to our enemies, but as well they risk losing the benefits they have achieved by their forbearance and co-operation up to the present time."

"I say definitely that inflation is no imaginary condition—we have all the circumstances and pressures which create inflation right here—now! We must fight tooth and nail to prevent those pressures being translated into a price inflation. We are in the greatest possible danger of failing to do so."

(Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.)

The motorist with any regard for his future abode "should sing Hymns as the speedometer climbs upward," a clergyman recently pointed out in a safety sermon.

His selections at the different speeds: "At 25 miles per hour, I'm but a Stranger Here, Heaven Is My Home," at 45 miles — "Nearer My God To Thee," at 55 miles — "I'm Nearing the Port and Will Soon Be Home," at 65 miles, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There"; and at 75 miles — "Lord, I'm Coming Home."

A young Air Force Officer stationed somewhere in Egypt was flying near the Great Pyramid, carrying out exercises in Navigation and discovering his geographical position with a sextant.

After a series of involved and confused miscalculations, he turned to his pilot and said: "Take off your hat."

"Why?" asked the pilot.

"Because according to my calculations we are now inside St. Paul's Cathedral."

Formerly a farmer in the Peterborough area, a 23-year-old private at Barriefield C.O.C. T.C. asked for a $5000 Victory Bond. "S$5000?" repeated the officer in charge of sales. "Oh, you had better make it $10000."

"$10000?" said the officer, pen poised. "Well, perhaps $15000."

"$15000?" "Aw Hell, make it $20000!" replied the soldier nonchalantly.
