WORD FOR WORMS

IT'S TIME SOMEONE in parliament dared to speak a word for the thrifty — the man who works hard for his money, is buying a home and, in addition, is being insured in life insurance in order that, if he dies young, his family will not become dependent on state and private charity.

Mainly those who benefit by the abolition of compulsory savings are the people who live in rented flats, die with little or no life insurance and who, come a day when fat wages are no longer available, will be the first to appeal to public funds for help.

They've been sufferers for many years. When they lost their jobs in the Great Depression, they had to wait until they'd lost the equity in their homes before they could get public relief.

All the political sympathy in the last decade or so has gone to the thriftless as much as to the unthrift. And all the while the theory of government has been to create a nation of home owners and savers.

Democratic government is His instrument. But worms have been known to turn. We fancy they're just waiting to know where to.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

THE SUCCESS of the Block Populaire party in the Tuesday elections compares with the recent success of Hitler on his three fronts, and from the viewpoint of the people in Old Ontario with plenty of good British blood in their veins — that is good.

THE NURSING reserve training course which will open in Jarvis next month has many good features about it, but we are hoping the wives will not make use of the husbands during practice periods.

A RADIO announcer says the Quebec election may be a stalemate. Stalemate means to perplex — so the situation will not be much different than prior to the voting.

IF THE FIREMEN have been seeing pink elephants when they returned from their convention it would not have been surprising — but for Rusty to find himself the father of a bouncing baby girl — well, that's too much.

"I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY that I have found the zest of life deepened, and its outlook broadened, by the willing assumption of my share in those public responsibilities which are the inheritance of every patriotic citizen. I have found time to give to public service. I have never regretted it. I have been happier because of the opportunities I have had for public service. I say this because I want to impress upon those who are denying themselves that privilege that they are losing one of the precious experiences of life." — (H. E. Rice, Huntsville Forester).

THERE WAS SOME decrease shown in juvenile delinquency in the Dominion during 1943. The number of juveniles brought before the courts was 12,225 as compared with 13,802 in 1942. Yet that was still 28.7 greater than reported in 1939-41. The wartime juvenile problem is accentuated and needs more attention than ever.

DURING APRIL more than 10,757,732 pounds of salvage were collected in Canada from voluntary salvage committees alone. Through other channels 19,618 tons of scrap iron and steel and thousands of tons of essential war materials were collected and disposed of.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM BERT PEACOCK

We would all give a month's pay for a couple of weeks back in England. I suppose when we invade Germany even Normandy would sound good to us. I guess it's a case of "far as pasture looks green" but the best grazing is still in the home fields.

We are hoping to get a couple of weeks leave eventually and expect to spend it in England. May be I'll be lucky enough to run across some Jarvis boys at that time. A familiar face would certainly be a great morale booster.

The Jarvis Recruits started to come through shortly after we arrived in France, but lately for some reason all our mail has been held up. It certainly is a treat to read the home town news even though it is a little old when it reaches me. I especially glad to hear that softball has started to flourish once more in Jarvis. Even with the big wave of tanks roaring twenty-four hours in the day we still find time for baseball here. We have an excellent playing Comy Smyth's undefeated army team in the very new future.

Well, Mrs. Ross, I'm afraid that's about all the news from here. I wish you would extend my best regards to my friends in Jarvis and I certainly hope we will see you before too long. This traveling has its advantages but my ambition now is to get back to Canada early in 1945.

Hope to hear from friends from Jarvis. I remain, sincerely yours, BERT PEACOCK

END MILITARISM Robot bombs teach that civilians cannot again afford to allow German militarism, nourished by inhuman German philosophy, to march in another quarter of a century.

Let's Face the Facts! = Shortage of Materials = Factory Facilities devoted to war work = Shortage of Farm Help New DURO Pumps are available in greater quantities this year but still not enough to meet the demand. The Dominion Government authorized increased production of Farm Machinery and Pumping Systems because it was recognized that labor-saving devices were necessary for the farmers to increase production of farm products.

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

WHEN war demands have been filled... when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for trucks, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply — it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

Answering Your Questions about the Gasoline Shortage What are Canada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline? Approximately 800,000,000 gallons. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian needs? Yes. Why cannot this supply be increased? Because adequate to meet both the colossal war demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, there are not enough tankers, for both. How much of Canada's petroleum needs is supplied from Canadian wells? Only 15%. Why can't this home production be increased? Every effort is being made to do so. More new wells are being drilled or prepared for drilling, than at any time in the history of Western Canada, but we have yet to find a new Turner Valley. War does not wait for new production.

Waste not! Want not! When vacation days are over And it's back to town again! Like poor forgotten alien!
