PARTY PUP

A dog's life isn't so bad for the pup parked in cop's cap, above, after touring New York cafes with a scholar and civilian who "liberated" him by tossing a crate through a pet shop window. The three were going from bar to bar when police showed up. The "liberators" face a burglary charge, although only the pup was taken from the shop.

Eleven crates of platinum were discovered beside the chicken coop. The Japanese admiral's aides guided Americans to the cache. The trip up the mountain in a pouring rain with those Japanese was one of the most fantastic mountain 160 miles north of Tokyo. In another instance a package resembling a packet of hamburger yielded 8,000 larva of diamonds. No estimates of the value of the loot have been made.

things that can be imagined," said Capt. L. R. Ward, Interlaken, N.J., who led the party. "It took all day and we got to the little farm at 10:30 at night. We were met by the best dressed Japanese in that part of the country. He wore a pin stripe suit, two tone shoes, a snapie tie and a fine white shirt. He said he was a caretaker, but he simply was guarding that stuff for those admirals."

Li-Col. Emmanuel Franklin, Rockville Center, N.Y. finance officer at MacArthur's headquarters, said: "We are finding fortunes in caves all the way from 100 to 300 miles from Tokyo. "I believe Japanese army and navy officials got this gold in China and elsewhere and did not tell the proper government agencies about it."

Men who think of tomorrow GUARD AGAINST INFLATION Today!

Old Man Inflation stands just around the corner ready to snatch at your pay envelope and short-change you in return. It happened after 1918, and it can happen again.

It's strange but true that the only ones who can save us from inflation—excessively high prices—are ourselves. It's spending those extra dollars that bids up prices on everything that's still scarce. And once started, inflation spreads like a forest fire to everything we use or consume.

So let's fight the temptation to spend unnecessarily. Let's put every extra dollar into Victory Bonds and hold onto the Bonds we already have.

Think of tomorrow... and you'll agree the thing to do is not to cash Victory Bonds but to go and buy more!

CHAPTER V
"I'm sure there's no oil under these structures!" "Shake yourself well," advised Adelaide as he went back to the car. "I got the cold shivers when he grabbed you. I was sitting here wondering if I ought to go yell for the police."

"He's got the map—but it's an old edition. I'll have to write for a new one, I guess." "But that will take days—let's telegraph, can't we?" "Gary Tallman—you did see something on that map! You're trying to be mysterious and oblique, but I can see right through you. You've got red spots in both cheeks."

"I've been with you for hours. How do you expect me to keep my temperature down?" "We're going straight home to tell Dad." "I wouldn't want to raise any false hopes." "Dad could hire a geologist!" "A survey costs money, too. The big oil companies keep their own crews, but an independent owner would have to take his own risks."

CHRONICLES of GINGER FARM
By Gwendoline P. Clarke

We have just come back from the County Ploughing match. We were all there—Partner, the two boys and myself. It was a glorious day, fine and warm, the first day in years that it hasn't rained, or been cold and rough for this big county event. It was also the first time I had ever gone to a ploughing match and I found it well worth the trip.

There was also a demonstration on ditching today with the bulldozer pulling a huge grader. That was interesting too. Then there was a power chain saw in operation which we couldn't see at all for the crowd. If only some of the officials had been there forcing the crowd to form a larger ring then everyone would have had a chance to see what was going on. Another thing that I liked was that there was a tractor pulling about every implement used on a farm at one time.

"Methodist" Preferred

NAVY SUIT

Believe it or not, Joy Hardy wears a reconverted WREN's uniform. All that happened to the uniform was an addition of fancy, dark blue braid and the removal of the three additional buttons which gave it double-breasted style. The original fine tailoring of the uniform is retained.
