 Shaw drove for 500 miles at an average speed of 100 miles per hour—on the straightaways he hit 135 miles per hour. Not a skid or blowout occurred in this gruelling test—equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving.

Political Future Of Newfoundland

Union With Canada?

That Newfoundland should be rought into the Dominion to make tenth province, as suggested by enator A. N. McLean of New Brunswick, has frequently been mooted in the United Kingdom and as more than once been debated Dominion having now only the status of a colony pleases no one, ially as Britain has to carry awa Citizen.

Six men, members of a govern ment commission, have ruled the bland since 1933 when the world ncial crisis reduced it to virtual crupicy. These men, aided by is due to the war, have brought back relative prosperity. Not only has unemployment disappeared but Newfoundlanders have been able to end Great Britain ten million dolars for war purposes.

Country Not Wealthy The demand for an early return The bulk of the population, from all accounts, is not eager for it. People remember with dismay the candals associated with the oldtime politicians and want no recurrence. Furthermore, they are not sure that their present prosperity, built entirely on war-demand, will Newfoundland, with a populatio of 290,000 and an economy based largely on fish, has never been a wealthy country. On the contrary. The fisherman has to rely on the merchant who not only markets the fish but acts as banker, outfitter and storekeeper for him. Often this system leads to economic abuses. The fisherfolk, too, live isolated lives, because communication, largely by sea, is inadequate and nes is not easy to get. Health ces and education in suc small and scattered commun are costly and hard to maintain.

People Very Patriotic Some by no means unsympathetic observers say that unless Newfoundlanders are given far better educational facilities than they now possess, they cannot be expected to undertake the task of self-governels have to undertake the task of self-government again. Town councils have been set up, but much more is required to create a system of local government such as, in Canada and Britain, prepares men and women for larger political responsibilities. Newfoundlanders are highly patriotic. Proportionately more of them volunteered for the war than from any other Bæish colony. Yet the island has not much to offer its returned men and if another ecoreturned men and if another eco-nomic breakdown occurs, self-gov-trnment will remain farther off

Political union with Canada would undoubtedly help the Newfoundlanders. They would obtain the benefit of the Dominion's social than the department of Canada would be described by the department of Canada would be seen that the seen that services and the advantage of Can-adian capital for the development of their raw materials, apart from those in which United Kingdom companies are already interested But, for a time at least, Newfoundland would be rather a liability than an asset.
