MORE THAN BEER MAKES A PUB

THE DISCUSSION throughout Ontario about closing Women's beverage rooms led Basil Dean, the Hamilton Spectator's London news representative, to make enquiries in England on the subject.

He reports there has been no apparent necessity over there for excluding women from pubs. The English Pub he says is pretty generally admitted to be a successful and useful social institution, but there is no definite answer why this is so.

A possible reason is because the units are smaller than the average Canadian Beverage room, and partly because inns have been so long established in England that the people are thoroughly used to them. Although any kind of beer, wine or spirits can be bought at a British Pub, drinking is almost incidental to the main purpose of the place. Darts, shove-ha' penny, skittle-billiards are standard amusements. Often there is a piano where the regulars gather around nightly for a sing-song. And despite food shortages, almost every pub can provide snacks, such as bread and cheese or spam rolls. Eighteen pubs in Sheffield recently hired distinguished British musicians to play for the customers and at almost every performance, a local priest or minister introduced the artist, who gave a concert in two half hour sections.

With few exceptions, he points out, the average British Pub doesn't serve one-tenth the customers in the course of a day as the average Hotel beverage room in a Canadian City. And very few innkeepers ever amass great wealth. There seems to be very little similarity between the two systems. In fact many people are beginning to wonder if there is any system at all in the Canadian methods. It is extremely unfortunate because for years efforts have been made to bring about in Canada a sane condition in the free use of alcoholic beverages. It seems apparent the beverage room system is not the answer—at least those most directly concerned seem determined to poison the public against them.

FOR COLLISION INSURANCE

OTTAWA wants Health Insurance. By which is meant, one guesses, that Ottawa wants a system whereby well people will help pay hospital and doctor bills of sick people. New Zealand has health insurance and reports are that hospitals are jammed, doctors are overworked and, (some of them) careless, and that druggists must fill three times as many prescriptions as before.

It is hoped that Canadian health insurance schemes will not put a premium on getting sick. People who are self-employed are said to be averse from their jobs less than are people on salary who get paid while sick.

Our idea of a sound health insurance scheme is the $100 deductible collision insurance well and favorably known to the casualty insurance people. The man who had to pay out of his own pocket the first $100 of the cost of an illness would not be cluttering up the hospitals with trivial ailments of a self-curing nature. And yet the man who was confronted with a major disaster in the form of a long and expensive illness would not find the burden intolerable. We are all for helping the genuinely unfortunate. We still remember the case of a man who had to sell his home cheaply because his wife's illness had cost $3,000 in eighteen months.

Charitable organizations could be expected to take care of those who cannot survive a $100 doctor bill.

"TO SEE it in our power to make a world happy—to teach mankind the art of being so—to exhibit, on the theatre of the universe, a character hitherto unknown—and to have, as it were, a new creation entrusted to our hands, are honours that command reflection, and can neither be too highly estimated, nor too gratefully received." — Tom Payne.

Pen, Scissors and Pastepot

Anything that will move more of our ample stocks of meat to the hungry people of Europe deserves the support of everyone, but at the same time we can give the butcher's our genuine sympathy when we think of the problem they will have in balancing their ration documents against their sales to say nothing of these cuts nobody will want.

Maybe its an isolated wish, but there is one thing we would like to see happen more than anything else in connection with rationing, before we return once again to normal living and that is that every Ration Board enforcement officer be forced to take charge of ration documents in some large wholesale establishment for one month, and furthermore be forced to keep them in perfect order and balance under the threat of a $5,000 fine. Oh boy!

It's gripping enough to see load after load of Haldimand County pay dirt going westward daily to the sandy soils of Norfolk County, but when a driver dumps part of his load on the main corner and leaves it there—well at least we don't have to step in it.

Trying to get through main street when some of the heavy transport drivers are parked for refreshments is sometimes quite a problem. Maybe the Village Police committee will take kindly to the suggestion to mark out parking space in this section with diagonal parking on one side and parallel parking on the other.
