

No Wonder

They were discussing girls. "How is it, Jack," asked Joe, "that you get on so well with the girls?"

"Easy," was the reply. "I'm flattery. For instance, the girl I was with last night got a fly in her eye. I said, 'I can't see how it could miss such big eyes as yours.' After that I had her eating out of my hand."

A few days later they met again. "Hi'm," said Joe. "I don't think much of your flattery stunt. I tried it, but it didn't come off."

"What happened?"

"Why, the girl I was with got a fly in her mouth."

Keeping It Dark

Two alphas on a canal were approaching each other. Although separated by a hundred yards, the respective owners recognized each other and began long-distance greetings.

The vessels passed and were almost out of hearing range when one barge suddenly roared: "How's that daughter of yours, Bill?"

"Oh," replied Bill in his bull-like voice, "she's gone and eloped with 'as, but we're keeping it quiet."

THE SPORTING THING

"You can surface now — the war is over!"

VOICE OF THE PRESS

IMMUNE

A cold wave swept across the Bay of Biscay last week. At the prison of the Oile d'Yeu, many of the inmates came down with flu. But the island's most noted prisoner, Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain, aged 89, remained in good health. A prison doctor proudly remarked: "He will out-live me."

— Newsweek.

Inflation

Each of several boys who amused themselves by deflating automobile tires was required to pump one up by hand. That's learning about inflation the hard way. — Christian Science Monitor.

Tough Going!

Overheard in a Sussex pub. First mild and bitter: "I hate the taste of this beer." Second ditto: "Yes, I'll be glad when I've had enough of it." — London New Statesman.

Greater Speed Still

Having developed a plane that goes nearly as fast as sound, and is now experimenting on one that can travel almost as fast as gossip. — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

The Little Darling(?)

One of our English subscribers has sent us an advertisement he saw in a Surrey, England, newspaper. It hints at a reign of terror of which very little seems to have been heard on this side of the ocean, and we're glad to print it: "Young lady, aged six, and a half years, who has just returned from America and knows all the answers, seeks a governess willing to learn."

— New Yorker.

Just Like That!

The hardy old pioneers had a tough time in some ways, but not with their housing. They could always sharpen an axe, fell a few trees, get a demijohn of "high-wine," call the neighbors in for "help"—and went under another log cabin!

— Ottawa Citizen.

Diplomatic Back-Passing

A great deal of foreign policy now resolves itself into everybody's being in favor of something being done and nearly everybody's being in favor of somebody else doing it. — Vancouver Province.

No Excuses

Many married servicemen are going back to college to complete their education. And won't the Little Woman get a kick out of signing their report cards: "Well Street Journal."
