ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Jarvis Athletic Association is slated to be held tonight (Thursday, April 17th) in the Town Hall. In addition to the routine business such as reviewing the annual statement and electing officers for the ensuing year, it is quite important that the Association set new sights for their future activities.

Ten years ago when the Association was formed among other things, one of the chief objectives was the installation of flood lights at the Ball Park. That objective has been achieved, much to the credit of the organization, and the benefit of the young people of the community. It was a worthwhile undertaking, the fulfillment of which no doubt gives all those associated with it a deep sense of satisfaction.

The Athletic Association can continue to serve the community by establishing some new objective, and there are many, that is needed in the community. But in order to do so the first essential is an enthusiastic attendance at the annual meeting tonight. Any citizen interested in the progress of the community can contribute their bit to that progress by taking an active part in the Athletic Association. This is your opportunity.

BOULEVARDS AGAIN

WITH THE FROST going out of the ground nothing has been contributed toward the appearance of the boulevards on Talbot Street east. In fact the condition of these strips which adjoin No. 3 Highway on either side give a very bad impression to strangers passing through.

Parking facilities are demanded in this area now where at one time no such demands were made. It is apparent therefore that there is only one way to improve the situation and that is to stone the boulevard sections and at once eliminate the unsightly mess that now exists.

We understand this part of the town is controlled by the Ontario Department of Highways, but whether they will do anything about it in view of the fact they are only concerned with through traffic, is another matter. In any event it would be in the best interests of the town to do something about it even if the cost has to be taken care of in the local tax rate.

KNOX CHURCH

THE CONTINUING INTEREST of succeeding generations in the maintenance of our churches is a sign that the spiritual decay of the world is not a fact in rural communities, such as Jarvis. The splendid improvement resulting from the complete redecoration of Knox Presbyterian Church should, and no doubt does give much satisfaction to the Church membership and indeed to the community as a whole.

Knox Presbyterian Church stands as a wonderful monument to the faith of the pioneers who were originally responsible for the erection of the fine structure. If those pioneers could see the interior of the church today they would be content in the knowledge that their heritage had not been accepted lightly by their children.

WHY THE EDITOR LEFT TOWN—A COUNTRY EDITOR, just about to go to press, "piled" a couple of articles, one concerning a public sale and the other a write-up on a wedding. He asked the make-up man to get the two articles together—and he did—but here is how he put it together.

"Billie Smith and Texie Brownhill were disposed of at public auction at my barn, one breast before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests, including two milk cows, six mules and a bob sled. Rev. Mr. Baker tied the nuptial knot with three hundred yards of hay wire and the bridal couple left on a John Deere gang plow for an extended trip, with terms to suit purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good buggy and a few kitchen utensils after ten months from date of sale to responsible parties and some fifty chickens."

THE LUXURY OF ERROR—WE JUST MET A MAN who struck us as unusual. He seemed obsessed with the importance of doing things just right. He gets his hair cut on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, pays his bills promptly when rendered, takes one drink and no more, cleans his teeth twice a day and sees his dentist twice a year.

He keeps a box of sharpened pencils in his desk and owns two fountain-pens, one of them always filled. His date-book reminds him a day in advance of his wedding anniversary and his children's birthdays.

He plans even his fishing trips, checking the meteorological bureau for weather, the red-hook calendar to see whether the fish will be biting and the sonar table to make sure he goes out at the right time of day.

overlooked an anniversary, we are going to pour him a second drink and take him fishing—with-out checking the red-hook calendar and the sonar table.

Our guess is he will catch the first fish, the largest fish and the most fish. More importantly, he will have learned something entirely new to him—the luxury of error.

BATTLE LINE—(From The Streetsville (Ont.) Review)
A RESOLUTE CAMPAIGN is being fought to sever the links which bind Britain and the United States. The main inspirers of this campaign, determined at any cost to split Britain and America apart, are those who are also trying to fasten a materialistic ideology on the world.

British-American unity can be the strongest link defending moral and spiritual values against the on-sweeping tide of godless materialism. And, if these two countries are separated, the whole conception of Christian freedom may vanish from the earth.

It alone can bridge the gulfs which today appear to be widening between the nations. It is as universal as human nature. It is the one idea big enough to unite all the peoples of the world.

WAGES DETERMINE PRICES—By Lewis Milligan
THE CANADIAN TRADES and Labor with alarm what is a recent statement, viewed government effort in the control of prices. It says: "It must be recognized that every rise in costs is a corresponding reduction in the cost of living of most citizens, and while on the one hand we see nothing of a desire to control labor we see nothing in it curtailing the activities of big business."

The first part of this statement could, with equal truth, be paraphrased as follows: It must be recognized that every rise in the cost of labor is a corresponding rise in the cost of production and consequently in the cost of living. What the T.L.C. does not see, or is not willing to admit, is that wages are prices. The price of labor is the chief determining factor in the prices of all commodities and services.

The cost of raw materials is usually separated from the cost of labor, but the price of labor is an integral part of the cost of every wing tip of the iron on the coat of every man-made article. The price of labor is the price of the iron on the coat of every man-made article.

When the T.L.C. says, "while we see plenty of evidence of a desire to control labor we see nothing being done to curtail the activities of big business," it is saying something which is not true. The very opposite is the truth. Labor is not controlled by the government, but big and small business are controlled and cramped by government restrictions and high taxes.

In the final analysis, prices cannot be controlled without controlling wages, since the prices of the work and services that produce and continually harping on the need for more purchasing power, but what is really needed is to increase the purchasing power of present wages.

This can only be done, as Prime Minister Attlee told the British workers, by increased production. Strikes and slowdowns reduce production and create shortages, which in turn increase prices and reduce purchasing power.

Moreover, strikes reduce the annual income of the workers, thus robbing them of purchasing power.

Pen, Scissors and Paste

We have heard of men losing their shirts—often enough, in fact, that it causes little or no concern despite the shirt shortage. But one of our operatives reported on Thursday night that a local lady lost her skirt and despite our best effort to the contrary we felt our left eyebrow elevate slightly. We have done everything possible to uncover some justifiable reason for such an unusual loss, but nothing has yet come to light. Neither has the skirt.

Our grandfathers' brother's grandson became a minister of the Gospel about twenty years ago and we heard him deliver a sermon for the first time on Sunday night. It was the occasion of the redemption service Mr. Knox Presbyterian Church. After listening to him we are quite content in the knowledge he bears the same name as our own. Other than a little justification for his probable selection as General Secretary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Speaking of Knox Church, the members of that congregation no doubt sat in their pews on Sunday with a feeling of satisfaction that naturally followed completion of a job well done. The Church building, following complete redecoration, is something to be proud of. Other citizens will in a measure share their pride in the minister, as might be expected, arranged splendid redecoration services—services that will be remembered a long time to come.

There is a bit of sound philosophy in the following sign observed in a Chinese laundry: "You will wash your clothes. You will get more. We do not get more. You get more. You do not get more. We get more. You do not get more."

We are happy again this week a subscriber sent in payment for another year's subscription and says: "we like your paper real well and do not want to miss a single copy." Maybe you are a little sentimental, but we just love to hear that sort of thing.

John Atkins comes up with a great proposition. He says "the trade unions who demand higher wages and the greed or inefficiency of employers or farmers, should give up their usual and standard efficiency by establishing demonstration farms operated under union control. With their uneconomical brains and efficiency, they could scientifically supervised farm, raise, to produce food at low cost, thus raising the standard of living for the farmer and the consumer."

MASS PRODUCTION OF FISH
For the past five years, United Kingdom scientists have been experimenting with the mass production of fish in a man-made sea, in the hope that the method could be applied to the production of fish on the large scale of British and the Continent.

Cardinals do not migrate in strict sense, but young first year birds have a tendency to wander in the fall, and therefore often spend the winter north of their normal range.

When in London last year I asked a lawyer friend why the unrationed goods were priced so high. He said the Government was afraid of the people would try them all up with the surplus of their wages, and that would lead to inflation.

WIDER HORIZONS—MANY OF THE TROUBLES of modern man may well spring from the fact that he has the window of his home and office, but only the window of his mind.

If a man does not make new acquaintances as he advances through life, he will soon find himself alone. A man, Sir, should keep friendship in constant repair.

—Samuel Johnson

Chairman Of Gift Fund Expresses Appreciation

By S. B. East, Chairman Seven Gift Fund
Exceeding all allocations and surpassing the extravagant hopes of its sponsors, "The Seven Gift Fund" has concluded its appeal for the communities of Jarvis and South Walpole. Canada for pride in the generosity of its citizens.

Seldom has a new idea—received such a ready response. The pioneering spirit is still among us and that in the most difficult field of coordinated effort. Other cities and towns have learned, Jarvis and South Walpole are no exception. It reflects no small credit on our communities, so new an idea became so soon a fact.

As Chairman of the Committee, I should like to thank the citizens of Jarvis, Nanticoke, Erie, Varney and Lakeshore for their co-operation. Mention should be made of the organizations of Nanticoke who organized this campaign.

The Campaign Manager
Needless to say the experience of the War has proved exceedingly helpful. In this connection I like to pay tribute to the work of Rev. W. H. Fisher, Campaign Manager, whose careful direction of the fund has contributed much to the success of our returns. He brought to this task the same care which has made his recently published book, "Conduct Public Meetings," so popular—a book which should be in the hands of every citizen.

The Canvassers
Trade and its President Mr. Robert Lyach, for initiating the campaign in the Village. The "front line" soldiers of the campaign were, of course, the canvassers whose names are: Nanticoke—Mr. Blake Field, Mr. Holland Marshall, Hare, Mr. Gordon Jackson, Mr. Holland Marshall, T. H. Snowden; Mr. D. C. Allen, Mr. David Bank, M. C. Bigger, Mr. A. B. Blight, Mrs. Ernest Brand, Mrs. Ross Dowser, Mrs. Wm. Doughty, Mr. Caldwell Egan, Mr. Robert Frith, Mrs. E. E. Gowen, Mr. L. E. G.A.S. ANNUAL MEETING
The Annual Meeting of the Hallamand Children's Aid Society will be held at the Youth Centre, Kohler, on Tuesday evening, April 29th, 1947, with a special speaker for this occasion will be Dr. Harry M. Cassidy, Director of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto.

The annual meeting of the Society offers a splendid opportunity for citizens of the County to become better acquainted with the duties and responsibilities being assumed by a comparatively small group who are giving their best to the community through their work. The Society is anxious to acquaint those who are looking forward to at least a fair number from this community of attendance at the annual meeting.

HANDS AT WORK... LEARNING TO WELD
ONTARIO's future prosperity depends directly on a sufficient volume of production to satisfy domestic needs and assure for Canada a pre-eminent place in the markets of the world. Take the metal trades for example... never before has the demand, both here and abroad, for the products of Ontario's metal industries been so great. Production must be increased... but to meet new production goals, skilled hands are needed. For them great opportunities lie ahead. Higher wages, job security, better working conditions are within easier reach of those who have mastered a skilled occupation.

Today, through the plan sponsored by the Department of Veterans' Affairs and other agencies, hundreds of young workers are being trained to meet the needs of the metal trades. Graduates of these rehabilitation courses are now ready to take their places in Ontario's industry. Available to you as veterans, well started on the road to skilled metal working trades such as tool making, blacksmithing, machine operation, iron working, pattern making, welding and forging. Seek them out with confidence. They are your future craftsmen.

WELDING
The Welding Course gives the student a good knowledge and practical experience of both oxy-acetylene and electric arc welding. Available at Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto and Brockville. This course includes the study of different metals and alloys. The graduate, with further practice, should become a good all round welder.

Vocational training courses are offered at training centres located in the following cities and towns in Ontario: Toronto, London, Hamilton, Kitchener, Windsor, Ft. William, Brockville, Kingston, North Bay, Ottawa, Guelph, Campbellville, Haldenbury.
