BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

SELF-CONSCIOUS HUMANITY

We live in a self-conscious age where earlier ages exhorted people simply to "save their souls," popular psychology today exhorts people to "save their minds," searching the troubled mentality for the hidden causes of outward disquiet. — Campbell (N.B.) Tribune

STREETS UNSAFE

Things have come to a fine state when children cannot be allowed to play on the streets of a civilized community, in broad daylight, for fear that they will be knocked down by motor cars or held up by bandits. — Oakville (Ont.) Record-Star

SHOULD QUERY FARMERS

Whenever the government needs advice on Prairie agricultural matters steps should be taken to collect the opinions of all the farmers. — Vernon (Man.) Empire Advance
