A VISITOR IN JARVIS this week that used to live here a decade ago remarked about the evidence of progress now apparent. This may be news to some because there have een no drastic changes in the last ten years, but when we stop to think there have been many small improvements that on the whole add up to anyone coming back after an absence of several years. It is gratifying that these changes are apparent to visitors, and should provide some incentive for further improvement.

Driving into Jarvis, after a trip through many towns and smaller Villages a few weeks ago, we entertained a feeling of no little satis The beautiful shade trees and well kept lawns give the Village an appearance that npares favourably with any other Village of it's size. But at the same time one could not help but note the poor street lighting. This is nderstandable when it is considered that there has been little, if any change, in the street lighting system since the installation of Hydro more than twenty years ago. In fact we have reason be believe the wattage for street lighting is even lower than it was at that time.

Additional lighting is particularly needed throughout the business section. By the adoption of new and improved methods more effective lighting can be accomplished without a corresponding increase in watts used.

The local Hydro system is in a healthy position financially and we believe that any steps towards a complete modernization of our present street lighting system would have the unanimous approval of the citizens of the Village.

the floodlights had been officially turned on. It was hard to realize that it has been a whole year since the floodlights gave the community a phase of avening states are the community a phase of evening entertainment. Looking back now it is plainly evident that The Jarvis Athletic Association officers had a prophetic outlook to the future when, ten years ago, they decided to set such an objective in their work. While it took a long time to get together the necessary dollars to undertake the work, the results have more than justified the cost. Crowds for the games, which can be seen at the park at least four nights each week, weather permitting range all the way from one hundred to one thousand and on special occasions many more pride these days. have been accommodated. Six regular teams function in the intermediate league, in addition to the juvenile teams and the AlI-star team, making an aggregate of at least one hundred ball players.

FIELD MARSHALL Viscount Montgomery puts a new definition on the word 'Belly-ache." He defined it to a group of two thousand young people attending the annual ful fruits. She set it down the same meeting of the federation of young farmers in way she had picked up th

Mr. King and Mr. Bracken, one leading a dissident following, the other a strong, vigorous personality, never defeated in 25 years in public life, the only leader in the British Empire survive throughout the depression years. This picture, we hope brings us up to date in this series.

People who do not read Hansard, the official records of the House of Commons, will not have noted the words of Prime Minister King when he spoke on the Address in the Reply to the Speech from the Throne. In his reply to Hon. John Bracker, who told that the government had lost all the by-elections in the harmsgrad Prime. It will be seen that this paper does not necessarily take sides in the coming contest. All the evidence produced come Ministers who quit the Cabinet and a few Liberal ministers who duit the called that the Liberals must realing thrown in. The point is this, that the Liberals must realing their forces or go down to defeat in the coming election and the permit restoration of individual freedom and under leadership of Hon. John Bracken.

LIBERAL VIEWS

Now we have heard from five Ex-Ministers, the ablest of the Liberal administration, and also the Prime Minsler himself, that the fortunes of the Liberal Party have reached a low ebb. When leading Liberals themselves tell this story these is no room to assume that this paper presents a partisan picture. The whole story comes straight from Liberal assertions. Notice the paper of principle of princip one line of opinion comes from this week

All of which brings us down to the final payoff in the election. Many claim that Mr. King will once again go been on his word and lead the party in the next election. If he is successful he most certainly will retire as he has said he w Who then will lead the government from which all the talent has departed? This is what is up to the electorate at moment. This point must be considered by followed these very consistent arguments.
