STOP TAX BICKERING

British Columbians may wake up one of these mornings to find themselves struggling with not one but two income tax forms. What the people want is a settlement and an end to age-old bickering for "better terms"; enough money to keep the province moving ahead in all fields; the scale of that one.

News of the Countryside

from The Record's Correspondents

ERIE
 Mrs. Andy Buck is visiting her sister Mrs. M. White also Mrs. Sandy Smith in Hamilton.

By Haldimand Harry
 The hog-bartery ratio at the moment indicates that it is increasingly profitable to sell grain (represented by barley in this instance) through hogs than as a cash crop. You may well ask what is the hog-bartery ratio?

The hog-bartery ratio is merely a system of stating the relationship of the value of barley to hogs. In Canada this is given on the basis of Winnipeg prices and the ratio states the number of bushels of barley which equal in value 100 lbs. of B.I. hog, live weight.

The long term average (thirty years or more) is 17.2. In other words it takes 17.2 bushels of barley to equal in value 100 lbs. of B.I. hog, live weight. Last week the ratio was 21.5 with 15c added to the barley price and the Dominion premium added to the B.I. hogs, both at Winnipeg. Therefore feed prices are cheaper now in relation to hogs than on the average.

The creamery butter situation continues to improve. The Ontario figures show an increase of 13.4 per cent in January 1947, as compared with January 1946. In Haldimand the 1947 production was 145,496 lbs. as compared with 90,027 lbs. in January 1946. This represents an increase of 62 per cent. The Dominion figures show 7,810,617 lbs. more butter in stock on January 1, 1947 than on the same date a year ago.

Cull, Cull, Cull! That seems to be the slogan for poultry producers these days. As we all realize, there is a feed shortage and for that reason the unprofitable producers. Any other result of careful culling will be the lowering of our cost of production. Every unproductive bird is a cost liability. Remove them now and continue to remove them as they go along. Save feed.

What is the matter with my clover catch? That is a common question and of course there may be a number of reasons for a poor catch. The favourable weather is frequently blamed. Poor soil conditions may be a more logical reason. Lack of lime is the trouble in Haldimand County. Then too the lack of the right family of bacteria in the soil may be a major reason.

Most Haldimand farmers are familiar with the nodules or tubercles on the roots of all legume crops and the function they perform. Yet in spite of this the sale of legume cultures last year was the lowest in some time. If the right bacteria are not in the soil the crop just will not thrive as it should. Fortunately the bacteriologist has provided an easy method of getting these bacteria in the soil and Haldimand farmers should take advantage of the service provided. Legume cultures can be purchased through regular trade channels and also from your agricultural representative.

An article appearing recently in one of Canada's well known farm magazines draws attention to the use of sloping floors in farrowing pens. It looks as though this may be the means of saving many a young piglet from being crushed to death. It appears that sows invariably lie with their backs up and the little piglets naturally gravitate to the lower side. Here a hover board, well braced, should be provided. It is recommended that the slope be about three-quarters of an inch to one inch per foot.

Someone recently pointed out that next to the pencil, the oil can was the most neglected tool on the farm. This may be a bit extravagant but nevertheless we should use the oil can the year around to keep all moving parts operating freely and easily.

It is entirely desirable that the College (University of Manitoba) should remain free from any government control—free to approach its work from the standpoint of the public interest alone. But if it is to remain free, it must receive, in full measure, the support of the public, which it so loyally deserves.

HIGH PRICE TREND
 There must be a reversal of the trend to higher prices. Increased production alone holds the answer and both labor and management must co-operate. Otherwise there is grave danger of losing all that has been achieved in these days of rapid change.

MIGRATION NEEDED
 The coal strike in Nova Scotia is an excellent example of what will eventually happen to many important locations of natural resources when their reserves become depleted.
