

CHAPTER IV

And now the red-headed avenger had arrived in Paisano Valley. And as if it had been a mocking greeting to him he had been faced with evidence of more of Garvin's ruthless work as soon as his eyes Valdez drew his blue roan to a the twinkling lights in a huddle of adobe dwellings. The whole town of Luna Roja, he saw at once was built about the sprawling white Garvin place, which he recognized from Juanita's decription. The town itself was at the northern end of the valley on the edge of Canyou Rijo. From there Garvin could keep an eye on activities anywhere in the valley.

As he sat staring down at the sinister town, no one would have recognized the wandering vaquero who had first ridden into the valley that morning. Tall and straight, he sat his horse in his gaudy Spanish apparel, hat off, and with the first rays of the moon glinting on red hair where morning sun had shown on make reconnaissance. Then, with deliberation, he loosened the scarlet handkerchief from around his neck and drew up its folds over his face until only his dark eyes showed, hard and bitter.

With freshly loaded staguns ed and scarlet-maskedd, like some panoplied knight of the Middle Ages, he rode down toward the light a silver-decorated specter You'll feel so well-dressed in this! Pattern 4872 uses the star neckline to flatter your face, jumbo shirred patch pockets to round your hips and diminish

Pattern 4872 in sizes 14, 16, 18, Send TWENTY-FIVE CENTS made by a breath of night He (25c) in coins (stamps cannot be found himself in a long corridor, accepted) for this pattern, to room 421, 73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto. Print plainly SIZE, door that opened into the corridor. NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE (To Be Continued)

one that none dared challenge. He had not ridden into the town's main street when suddenly out of the darkness a mounted man sprang into the road. He swung his horse across the narrow trail which led into the long street, blocking it.

But El Cielo had been long and encounter as this. With amazing uddenness the mount reared. One of Valdez' arms went out, the hand holding something that for a moment showed crimson in the faint moonlight-another great scarlet neckerchief. The neckerchief whipped about the pistol in the astounded guard's hand. It was orn from his grasp and, before he knew what was happening, the barrel of the pistol that had jumped into the red-haired man's other hand crashed against the guard's head. He slumped crazily from his saddle into the dust of the trail.

Valdez lifted his reins as he dropped the handkerchief-covered gun of the outlaw guard into his pocket, and the blue roan spurted "Madre de Dios!" gritted El Cabellero Rojo. "Strangers must certainly get a cordial greeting in this town!"

He swung into the street and noted that at the edge of the town were the inevitable 'dobe shacks that trimmed the outskirts of all such small Western towns. Most of the houses were dark, for the peons must be up and at work by daybreak, and usually sought their beds early.

Cautiously El Caballero slowed down before the white-plastered walls of the Garvin pace. Dismounting in the blackest shadows some distance from the sprawling. pretentious dwelling in the center of its patio, he trailed El Cielo's reins and stole toward the gate facing the street.

completely enclosed by high walls, which only the big gate facing the street, and a smaller one in he rear, gave entry. And the four lockhouses which Juanita had deffect of a fortified castle. From one corner blockhouse and the twanging of a guitar, punctuated by hoarse laughter. No one was in sight.

It looked like a good chance to slip in through the gate, for El Caballero Rojo could make out in the dim light that it had not een locked, but stood ajar a few inches. But even as his eerie, glittering figure reached it, a man leaped out to block it. Like a silver-decorated v-raith.

the masked man dived at the guard. Instantly his stronger fin-gers found the fellow's throat and cut off his warning shout, Once more the red-headed avenger's pistol barrel cracked on bone, and once more a man sank to the ground and lay quiet. With noiseless footsteps El Caballero slid into the patio. Across the courtyard was Garvin's two and a half story house A swift glance told Michael Valdez that the one-story addition at one end of the house was Garvin's office, or "bank" as the land hog preferred to call it. And a light fanning out from the one window facing the courtyard announced Raymond Garvin's presence there.

The time had come! Michael Valdez faded into the first open doorway in sight with no more stir than would have been Looking Very Pleasant-Camera fans found many outstanding examples of their art at the 56th annual International Salon of Photography at the C.N.E., including "Tim and Joey," by

ANNE HIRST Your Family Counselor

Everything Against This Marriage

"DEAR ANNE HIRST: We want to get married, but my boy friend * hasn't any money. He has re-* enlisted in the Navy. I want to * follow him until he is out, and I * can't see waiting three years to * be with him.

* and we love each other. We've temper) but we both suffered the his father has found out how he feels about me! He blew up, and said he was ous with any girl because we * are too young and he must make * his choice. I am 18, he is 21. He

"My parents like him, but don't * want us to marry now because they think I'd be too unhappy, * struggling to get along. My people are well-to-do, and I've never * But I can't see throwing aside * something we both want, and * that's each other.

* parents unhappy, but how can love each other and know it's

THEY UNDERSTAND Your parents know you two love each other. All they are trying to do is to persuade you to wait marry until you are ready for it. You are not ready for marriage now. Even if there were enough money to start on, you admit you would not know how to make it go far. It takes a long, long time for a girl who has been indulged to learn how to do without those indulgences. It means practicing economy, living within a prescribed budget, sacrificing all those luxuries you have taken for granted since you were born. Now, so in love, you are certain you could manage. But you have no idea do to your disposition, even to your And you have a hot temper! You cannot help hurting even this lad you love so much. Don't you realize that an uncontrolled temper can wreck the best of marriages? If you haven't learned restraint now, how could you learn it under the pressure

Just As Good As Macaroon Crumbs

When a delectable dessert vo wish to make calls for crumbled macaroons and you have no macar-oons, you can make it just the same, "Macaroon" crumbs are made this way: Mix one cup of dry bread crumbs—they shouldn't be too fine—with one-half cup of sugar and two teaspoonfuls of almond extract.

Spread this mixture in a pan and let it brown in a slow oven. When cool, break it up into crumbs and use as you would crumbled macaroons. The difference cannot be detected in any dish in which they are used.—E. M. E. in the Christian Science Monitor.

Muscular tension is believed to h one of the major causes of light tions of a meager income? You have committed one very foolish act. You have allowed your fiance to alienate himself from his own people. You should have been the one to support his father's obacting for his son's permanent hap ahead of him in the Navy before he burden him, with a young, spoiled wreck this marriage first. You see, my young friend, you

"I met his only want Each Other. You will need the help and moral support of both his family and your own, if your marriage is to succeed at all. Now show how mature you are: Break the engagement, spend the next few years learning how to be a poor man's wife (and all that means) and cooperate with those wiser ones who are giving you the only advice that good parents can honestly offer. for waiting.

* often do know best. If you are * resentful, ask Anne Hirst (at Box * West, Toronto) how to under

Modern Etiquette By Roberta Lee

Q. Should one begin a social letter with an excuse for delay A. No; one should plunge immediately into what he has to say, and if illness has been the cause, just make casual mention of it without too many details. Q. Who pays for the gowns A. The bridesmaids buy their own gowns, unless the bride is wealthy and asks that they wear gowns that cannot be worn again. Q. Should the hostess try to finish eating before the guests? A. No; the hostess should always eat slowly, so that she does not finish before her guests do. Q. If you have been invited to the home of a friend and through oversight have not been introduced to some of the other guests, should you call this to the host-

A. No; it is much better to save the hostess from embarrassment by joining in the conversation and laughter, and it is quite likely that you will soon be talking to every-one present.

Q. Should one leave at once when visiting a friend in a hos pital and another visitor enters? A. Yes, leave at once when another visitor or the doctor enters. Q. When should coffee be served at an informal meal? A. Coffee is served at the table either during or after the dessert course.

- DOGS for Show -— DOGS for Breeding —

- DOGS for a Family pet — CAR-VIN-ROB KENNELS 10, Ontario.

ISSUE 36-1947

On a smaller scale and in a more primitive way the Israelites of old were confronted with all the prob-"I am going to give you a change lems of character and conduct that vex and perplex the more highly organized nations of today.

Next to the problem of establishment of peace are the problems of labor-keeping people working unliving standards; and of wealth-

So many problems in these sphere emain unsolved that we are apt to fail to realize the great progress both in relation to labor and in relation to wealth, that has been made within the memory of many now living. It is not so long since labor was regarded as a "commodity" to be bought, like any other commodity, in the cheapest market, under a competition for jobs that in times of unemployment was bitterly keen. Then came recognition of labor, and the demand for a "living wage" became so insistent that by now reference to a standard of living is a stressed factor in wage negotia-under control in relation to the rights and interests of all.

Proverbs 11:24-27; 16:8; tions and contracts. Similar progress has been made in enforcing recognition of the relationships and responsibilities of wealth. In the days when labor was a "commodity," wealth was largely immune from governmental contro and from any sense of responsibility. The prevalent conception was that with as he pleased. Today we recog-

Sunday School Lesson a basic factor in the acquisition

Use And Abuse Of Wealth obligations of wealth are simple and direct. What a Christian has is no his own, but is held in st Ecelesiastes 5:10-11; James 5:1-6 subject to the will of God. To the ideal set forth in the New To GOLDEN TEXT - Better is a ment, and the truer the Christian little, with righteousness than great revenues without right. - Proverbs practical use of what he possesses magistrate to the first offender. keeping the power of great wealth well House Coffee. So delicious it satisfies completely. Expert blending assures you coffee that's famous for snooth, mellow flavor,

Kidney-Liver Pills

USE "NUGGET" DAILY. IT GIVES A BRIGHT, LASTING, WATERPROOF

NUGGET SHOE POLISH

.. FALL FAIRTIME IN ONTARIO ...

Home from Germany.—Mr. Ross Hancock, from Gravenhurst snapped with his wife and nephew while resting with other tired sightseers at the C.N.E. Mr. Hancock was active with the R.C.A.F. Graves Commission and arrived home from Germany several weeks ago.

FAIRTIME HIGHLIGHTS

The crowds at the Canadian | man & Sons of Caledonia, provided | Actually the soap flake samples were scarcely sufficient to properly laun-

The kiddies, as well as their elders, seemed to be price-conscious.

and patronized such features as the Nickel Arcade where battery after battery of electric cranes operated for five cents. There the lucky youth ful operator could pick up a valuable of a claw full of candy. The funn mirrors and magic carpet were addi tional "musts" on the youngsters' hit parade. Children's Day proved to many of the concessionaires that buyer-resist-ance is considerably more than just a phrase. The children shopped around for the best buys, and the operators who failed to reduce prices on this eventful occasion found themselves short order the youthful horde to post special Childrens' Day prices.

If what we saw at the C.N.E. is a true indication of the trend of the forced the neglectful conc day" acqiring everything from paper | times, it seems certain that the buy-seemed to satisfy the young looters. long is truly just around the corner.

der a woman's small handkerchief.

real eye-appeal for the crowd.

The livestock men, as always, talked shop nearly twenty-four hours a day, and many bewailed the fact plentiful. Your reporter did a little of this feed is not being lowered to meet the demand, and, as a result

Ful-O-Pep is, at times, still a little difficult to obtain. It was also pointed out that production is being stepped up as rapidly as is possible

From the Midway to the most lavish industrial exhibit, the general of the highest order. Each exhibitor made a real effort to lure the public to his particular location, and, once

In this line, some free samples nearly in the profusion of vestertries as the Ayrshire bull, Bracheid cups to samples of soap flakes, which ers' market we have heard of for so orn Root System even Miles Long corn than meets the eye, wing corn than meets the eye, wing during these days of "corn reially during these days of "corn when the cornfields "lack-and-the-beanstalk"

HOE DEPARTME

National Exhibition this year broke records in more ways than one. As your Ful-O-Pep reporter roamed through the throngs he rapidly ac-of-town visitors. The non-residents of Toronto seemed much more at city folk. This isn't really surprising fairs and exhibitions are held every year in the small towns of Ontario.

As a result, the small town and rural sightseers found their way around the Exhibition Grounds with the air of old veterans, whereas the city man in many cases had the bewilder-

The Teen Town booth proved a popular rendezvous for the younger set who, on the whole, seemed more than the glitter of the Midway-and visitors. The competition was keen in rial owned by A. I. Leidall classes, and such top-notch englitter there was a-plenty along this ed mien of a tourist.

quired the knack of spotting the out- that Ful-O-Pep feed is not more home in the Fair Grounds than the printed out the fact that the quality

The livestock was of prime inter- the scarcity of free samples generest to many of the out-of-town ally, but the youngsters had a "field remarkable capacity uickly were reported by Dr. Kiesselbach, well-known agalf inches every 24 hours, onditions are exceptionally will grow as much as four rsity research has shown in grows exactly as much he day as at night, cona general notion that it of its growing at inches during the four 5 to August 5 "corn is one of the greatest per any crop grown in ts first week above und the corn plant has end of eight weeks of or more than enough r an ordinary card table plant draws its moisa a vast fibrous root syswhen the plant urity is over seven o end: and the roots ded before it reaches ing stage; and the other ring the ears. enty of moisture in the hot dry weather with tempe-es averaging between 90 and grees during the day. se conclusions, Dr. Kiesselout, are based on grown at the university's my farm and are applicable grown in the cornbelt omfort for Cattle rtable, almost, as Pullman ny rate, they now have antiion roller-bearing journal box and the latest sorts of spring frames and air brakes, and make it possible to cut the arket in half.

That is as it should be. Nothing a be too good for the gentle natures that provide us with ad-steak, if and when we can ford it. —New York Times. -New York Times.

NATIONAL

EXHIBITION

-Photo by Ful-O-Pep Photographer A Real Champion, owned by A. G. Leidman & Sons of Caledonia, drew a throng of admirers at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The Difference

Jimmy and Bobby were in beds side by side in the children's hospital, and the visiting hour had just "Ah, you big sissy!" Jimmy said. "Crying because your mummy's gone away!"

"I'm no' crying for my mummy," Bobby answered. "I'm crying be-cause ma wee dog's died." "Well, my granny's died," answered Jimmy, "and I'm not crying."
"Maybe you hadna your granny since she was a wee pup," Bobby

Electric Typewriter

ready for production by a company in the United States. The new machine is the result of more new machine is the result of more than 20 years of continuous re-search. Thousands of electric typewriters were produced in stormed the defense lawyer, "you have admitted you were seated on the right side of the passenger coach where you couldn't see an extra track. Will you please explain to this jury how you can swear the line was double-tracked?"

Not Done With Mirrors

typewriters were produced in the nineteen twenties but the engineering techniques then known made the machines too expensive and too cumbersome. Their manufacture was discontinued, but respectively.

Kitchener Residents, Roy Karcher and sons, Donald, Leonard and Bruce, appear highly engrossed with this tractor at the C.N.E. There appears little doubt that this exhibitor won the family vote of approval.

-Photo by Ful-O-Pep Photographer Study in Concentration. H. Persall of Waterford, Ont. (facing the camera) seems to be holding his own with J. Ruddell at the checker tourney.—C.N.E.

1948 Car Features Comfortable Interior achieved by dropping the height slightly and widening the body somewhat. Lines will be smoothcept for more massive bumpers the rear also) to bring eye down. There will be a tendency to shorten body lengths a little because of compaints that cars are not fitting in garages. Much more glass will be used, so that pillars will be narrowed and blind spots eliminated, says Newsweek. In body interiors the target is living-room comfort and atmosphere. Front seats, getting wider for ten years, will add a little more space. Air conditioning will be irstalled on the more expensee cars.

Mechanically, the biggest change will be elimination of the gear shift, with several compan-ies planning to offer this feature in their '48 models. Engines will be shorter, perhaps through wider use of V-type models, the object being to cut down the length of the hood and bring front and back seats forward, cradling passengers between the two axles for

Irish moss found in the waters off the North Atlantic coast is used in paddings, medicines, cosmetics and TAKE NO CHANCES with House. It's an extra-delicious blend of coffees that is Radiant-Roasted to develop all its extra-rich, full

