Pen, Scissors and Pastepot

Oh Happy Christmas Time! Imagine our surprise this week to receive a Christmas card with a notation saying "we read Pen, Scissors and Pastepot too." Adding this to the five readers we already have, might put us pretty close to the "Coleman", "Rover", and "Allen" class. We will have to do some investigating however, to determine how many individuals is meant by "we." Gee whiz it could mean a whole multitude of people! Then on the other hand it might mean only two. Oh well, we're making progress but at the rate we're going we are going to be pretty well advanced in years before we gain any real fame — and there are some people we know who don't figure we should live that long.

With a full knowledge that George Drew is not the most popular man in the world among our readers we still predict that his name will yet stand out as one of Canada's Statesmen. The reason a lot of people dislike our George is their belief he is a "stuffed shirt" which he really isn't. Some proof that he isn't can be noticed in the humour of the Christmas card sent out by George and his wife this year. It reads as follows:

To all our friends both far and near

Our Christmas greetings and good cheer.

We send this message, well content. With no political intent. To all we've met from coast to coast. Including those who've panned us most.

May Santa still have gifts galore. Though he was liberal once before.

HAPPIEST CHRISTMAS GREETINGS TO ALL

Seasons Greetings

ONCE MORE we extend to you and all associated with us in home or business, our sincere good wishes for a VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a New Year filled with happiness and prosperity.

Andrew A. Miller

With all our friends in all the ridings. We join in singing the Glad Tidings. To everyone on every side. Best wishes for the Christmastide.

In his column "On and Off The Record", conducted weekly by our old friend Jack Horne, in the Delta News-Record, he had the nerve to ask Santa Claus to send us a book on "How to Raise Puppies." My goah we don't need any advice on how to raise puppies — we get them faster than we can dispose of them. (Incidentally "Puto" is getting a little gant again so anyone has any version to spare she can use another good feed.)

Editors are supposed to interpret things correctly. There is never an excuse for error. Consequently we have no apologies to the Erie View forum correspondent for acting in a heading implying a different meaning to that intended in the story. The Erie View Forum correspondent, at their last meeting, about the need of a new community Hall (at Nanticoke). We thought they were talking about the establishment of a community centre at the former B. & C. School. All they were concerned about at the B.&G. School was the prevalence of weeds on the property. Their discussion about a Community Hall arose from the condition of the present Hall at Nanticoke and that is where they will build a new one if the idea gathers strength and enthusiasm among enough people.

We expect to see most of the readers of this column before Christmas and will personally extend to them Christmas greetings. But in case an emergency arises and we can't make the rounds, we want to say "Merry Christmas" to everyone. A greeting includes Dog haters, Liberals, Socialists, Peasants, people who like singing commercials, the boss, people who never want to see a municipal election because of the cost and finally people who live in Jarvis and don't think it's the best place in the world in which to live and enjoy life.

FIRESIDE CLUB MEET

The New Year. Mrs. Ralph Gowan and Mrs. Fred Pahn offered to take charge of the Junior Congregation for the next month.

Mrs. Ernest Braund conducted the worship service on the theme of Christmas and Mrs. Bryce Linklater was pianist. Roy Keeder, Peter Newberry, Keith Lynch and Robert Hunter sang a group of Christmas songs. Mrs. Elvin Pond read Dickens' Christmas Carol. Mrs. Edward Stire conducted a contest which was won by Mrs. Kenneth Poes and Mrs. Leonard Church. Mrs. J. W. C. Newberry offered her home for the January meeting with the following committee in charge of arrangements: Mrs. Bryce Linklater, Mrs. Elson Hold, Mrs. Leonard Church and Mrs. Andrew Doughty. A highlight of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus who presented each person with a gift.

The hostess served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Charles Butta, Mrs. Elvin Pond, Mrs. Ernest Braund and Mrs. Edward Stire. While the meeting was in progress a pot of bulbs was sent to Miss Meta MacMurphy who was absent through illness.
