CHAPTER X

Joe Danburne's dark and handsome face was plainly framed in the big glass window that Honey faced as she sat there in the cozy living room. Astonishment was written all over his countenance, mingled with relief as he saw her. But then, instantly, his face was masked by cruelty and passion as he looked through the window. Ice shivers ran up and down Honey's spine. She did not want him to know that she had seen him, or that she knew he was anywhere around. Ignorance on her part might postpone the showdown that would surely come when he knew his presence was discovered.

So she sat there, trying to act lightly interested in Mrs. Carey's tale, which was no longer funny to her. Blood rushed through her veins at double quick time, and her temples pounded like sledgehammers. She expected almost momentarily to see Joe lift a hand and fire a gun at her point blank, but she was not so lucky. They were black with cold fury. Then slowly she watched out the corner of her eyes as a slow wicked gleam crossed his face. She knew without a doubt that the corner of her eyes saw him forming in his mind.

After minutes of staring through the window, which seemed hours to Honey as she went through mental and physical agony, Joe turned and disappeared into the blackness. She forced herself to sit calmly and wait until she was certain that he was no longer watching, then she stood, trembling violently.

"You have a chill, child," exclaimed Mrs. Carey in amazement. "My dear, you are ill!" "I must leave. Now!" she gasped in hoarse whispers. There was no denying the haste in her tone, nor the frantic appeal in the look.

CHRONICLES OF THE FARM

By BLANCHE ROBERTS

SYNOPSIS
The story takes place in a small town in the mountains of the West. A woman named Mrs. Danburne is the owner of a small store. She is a very kind and generous person. One day, a man named Joe Danburne comes to the store. He is a very handsome and successful man. Mrs. Danburne is very attracted to him. She tries to win his affection, but he is not interested in her. He is in love with another woman. Mrs. Danburne is very heartbroken. She tries to get her life back together, but she is not successful. She finally gives up and goes to a sanatorium. There she meets a man named Dr. H. He is a very kind and successful man. He helps her get her life back together. She finally finds happiness with him.

CHAPTER X

Joe Danburne's dark and handsome face was plainly framed in the big glass window that Honey faced as she sat there in the cozy living room. Astonishment was written all over his countenance, mingled with relief as he saw her. But then, instantly, his face was masked by cruelty and passion as he looked through the window. Ice shivers ran up and down Honey's spine. She did not want him to know that she had seen him, or that she knew he was anywhere around. Ignorance on her part might postpone the showdown that would surely come when he knew his presence was discovered.

So she sat there, trying to act lightly interested in Mrs. Carey's tale, which was no longer funny to her. Blood rushed through her veins at double quick time, and her temples pounded like sledgehammers. She expected almost momentarily to see Joe lift a hand and fire a gun at her point blank, but she was not so lucky. They were black with cold fury. Then slowly she watched out the corner of her eyes as a slow wicked gleam crossed his face. She knew without a doubt that the corner of her eyes saw him forming in his mind.

After minutes of staring through the window, which seemed hours to Honey as she went through mental and physical agony, Joe turned and disappeared into the blackness. She forced herself to sit calmly and wait until she was certain that he was no longer watching, then she stood, trembling violently.

"You have a chill, child," exclaimed Mrs. Carey in amazement. "My dear, you are ill!" "I must leave. Now!" she gasped in hoarse whispers. There was no denying the haste in her tone, nor the frantic appeal in the look.

WILLIE WEATHER Says:

One of the outstanding men in English history, I'm told, was a king who loved the cold weather. They tell many stories about this famous warrior-king - you've probably heard of King Alfred the Great.

NEW and USEFUL TOO--

PREFABRICATED BATH-ROOM UNIT. A unit which drops in place in any type floor joist construction and is half the size of units formerly available. Said to be easily movable by rollers by only one man. Comes completely piped with streamline copper pipe connected to streamline toilet fittings.

SEALS OUT DRAFTS. New idea for weather protection in the home is this caulking compound, which comes in tubes, for sealing cracks around windows and doors. Each tube contains sufficient for fixing about 75 feet.

ADJUSTABLE TABLE. An adjustable table that locks in any desired position and can be used as a bed table, for typing, drafting, study, tea and card games. Tops are made of 5-ply birch, frames of cold rolled steel with chrome plate tubing.

KEEPS AIR MOIST. Humidifier, said to be noiseless in operation, for use in any convective heating system, steam or hot water, in houses, offices, etc. Humidifier is connected to the cold water supply for its water source. Moisture is provided in form of light, hardly visible vapor.

ELECTRIC MATTRESS. Designed especially for those suffering from rheumatism and sciatica, and offers general over-all sleeping comfort. Ten temperature settings—from 72 to 114 degrees—are incorporated.

ALUMINUM WRENCHES. Makers claim that these aluminum wrenches, although less than half the weight of comparable products, have all the strength necessary for even heavy duty requirements.

And hadn't put it back again. What it contained wasn't a fortune but it was definitely too tough to lose. I inquired at the bank and the post office and it wasn't there. Incidentally it left me without any money for shopping! I got around that by the time I was ready to go. "Look here," I said to myself, "don't get in a stew until you are sure you have something to worry about." So I took my own advice; finished my shopping, went home — and there on the table was my wallet. I had taken it out of my pocket to make change for our egg man! I quite agree with what one person said: "I thought it being a little awkward I must have taken out the wallet while hunting for something else."

Every woman knows how hard it is to get used to a new purse so I thought it being a little awkward I must have taken out the wallet while hunting for something else."

Answer — "You managed pretty well without it for about twenty years."

Having got this far I had to go down town. Last night I got everything ready — bank book, shopping list and application form filled in for my driver's permit. Then I got my nice new purse — and there I was, already to go. I went to the Post Office and then to the bank and in each case had occasion to use only a little small change. The drugstore was my next port of call. What I bought came to nearly two dollars. I fumbled around in my purse for my wallet — and it just wasn't there!
