"SALINA" TEA BAGS

WEST OF THE SUN
A Serial Story
By JOSEPH LEWIS CHADWICK

The stars show that Virginia Ames is not the same as the woman who was mentioned in the letter from her Uncle Phil. She is a different person, and she is not the same as the woman who was mentioned in the letter from her Uncle Phil.

CHAPTER III
"Who is Steve Barron?" she asked. "What is he?" "So it's Steve now," Jim Randall said. His eyes and voice mocked her.

CHAPTER IV
In the bleak gray of early dawn, Jim Randall came to Virginia's tent and called to her in a low, urgent voice that snapped her wide awake.

"Good for him!" Jim said. Then: "But he didn't tell you that he is a gambler?" "A gambler?" She knew the shock of disappointment; she had thought of Stephen Barron different, and he wasn't at all under his polis.

"Yes, a gambler," Jim told her. "He practically owns Santa Bonita. Built it with a deck of cards. Ask him to tell you about it. It's an interesting story."

"I don't think I care to hear it," Virginia had not expected to find sleep that night. Danger made the darkness static. The nights noises were startling. The howl of a coyote, the hoot of an owl, eerie sounds always and doubly so now. But her body was weary from the day of hard travel. Sleep came swiftly.

"I'm thinking of you," she said. "Her color was higher; she could feel it burn her cheeks. She was a fool, of course. But she had loved him once. She said breathlessly: 'Mel Scarlet told me. The Apaches want to capture you. They're thinking of you.'"

"Here's my plan," he said. "I can't spare troops to guard you. The next best thing is—well, Steve Barron. I've talked with him. If things are bad, he'll try to get you through to Fort Winfield. You're to take my horse—no grass-fed Apache mustang will be able to overtake the sorrel. I know you can ride."

"It's quite all right," she said. "Thank you for bringing me the warning."

"Remember that day outside Washington when you raced and beat me?" (Continued Next Week)

Time on Her Hairs—Junior Standish displays six of the most valuable masterpieces in a priceless collection of Swiss watches. The tiny timepiece in the center was built in 1849 and contains a perfect mechanism. It is one of the world's smallest watches.

ANNE HIRST Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: I am 22, and have been married half a year. My wife and her folks are full of fun, and I would consider myself a lucky man—but because of differences in our religious beliefs, there's a disconcerting atmosphere in our household."

"Under the influence of her family, my wife has set out to change my religion. She says she wants me to come into their church—which I consider heretical. When I don't attend Sunday after Sunday, I feel I am looked down on as an 'unfortunate sinner.'"

"A wife who thwarts her husband's ambitions is not being smart. The yearning for better living and better thinking should not be discouraged, or a man's spirit is broken. Anne Hirst can help in such a situation, if you write her at 123 Eighteenth Street, New Toronto, Ontario."

"Most thinkers concede that a man's faith is between himself and his God, that his beliefs should not be attacked by others, and that he cherish the freedom to worship where and as he pleases."

"Our individual spiritual needs differ as do our physical needs. Usually our religious faith follows the faith of our parents. As we mature, sometimes we investigate other doctrines, for one cannot base any fair opinion on ignorance of the facts. The intelligent searcher after truth is bound to be tolerant, and generally finds some good in all faiths."

"As a minister of courtesy, you might accompany your wife and her family to their church now and then. You will be careful, of course, not to disparage their faith in any way."

"It is regrettable that you and your wife did not have an understanding before you married—or, having it, did not keep the promise."

"As to finishing college, I agree with you. I was raised to think that one should do as much education as he could manage."

HELPFUL HINTS FOR ... HOMEMAKERS ...

When hanging curtains, you can get the tiebacks just where you want them if you pull the window shade down to the exact place. You won't need to keep measuring to see if the tiebacks are even. Make sure that the shade itself is straight—Mrs. S. M.

Here's a tip if that sack of sugar you just took out of storage is hard as a rock. Try placing the suspended sack in a hot oven for about five minutes. The heat will soften the sugar, and you'll find it perfect for immediate use—Mrs. J. S.

If you have any material left over after making slipcovers, try making matching arm covers or protectors. My family gets the arms of the furniture soiled quickly, and these protectors eliminate having to wash the whole slipcover. I use dress snaps to hold the arm covers securely in place—Mrs. C. S.

I have a marble top from an old fashioned washstand as one of the work surfaces near my stove. It is practically impossible to damage it. I can place hot skillets and pans directly from the stove on this surface. I use it all the time as a place to roll out noodles, cookies, and pie crust. It looks as nice as any linoleum surface, and I think it's very practical—Mrs. E. N.

I keep a small, fairly stiff brush near my laundry tub. Before putting any garment with pockets into the wash, I turn the pockets inside out and brush them thoroughly. I use this same handy brush for brushing soapuds on stockings, collars, cuffs of shirts. Brushing is easier than rubbing by hand or on a wash—Mrs. J. W.

I find it saves considerable time and effort if I wash out my small children's play clothing every evening. I usually have their play tops of corduroy or seersucker. A little stretching on the line, and they're ready for another day's wear out ironing—Mrs. W. D.

"YOU CAN RELY ON RELIANCE"

if every man were his own bank...

SUPPOSE you had to cart cash around to pay your bills. Pretty risky business. Hard on shoe leather, too.

You don't do it that way, of course. Like everybody else with a bank account—there are seven million of them—you simply get out your pen, write cheques and leave all the bookkeeping to your bank. That's the modern way... easy, simple, safe.

Handling and recording your cheque transactions is an important job. Your bank must do it right—or a competing bank will. You'll see to that!

Suppose there were no competition... Could you expect the same efficiency, courtesy, eagerness to earn your goodwill?

State monopoly of banks would wipe out competition and would open your bank account to the eye of the state official.
