RADIO OPERA

CHRONICLES OF GINGER FARM

by Gwendoline P. Clarke

There was something different about that heat wave we endured last week from any we had had before. Did you notice it? Unless you were outside quite a bit you probably wouldn't. I mean there was no shade. No possibility of getting away from the scorching sun because on the trees there were no leaves, and so — no shade. Oh, as I write, things have changed — a few days can make a lot of difference. Now, the trees and shrubs are once again spreading their welcome, protective foliage. How wonderful it is to have trees! You know, an Ontario heat wave without shade makes me think of the Western prairie. Hot, blistering sun — and for miles and miles, a tree in sight. So often out West I used to long for a tree — just one tree — where one could sit for a few minutes enjoying the shade and the cooling sound of wind rustling the leaves.

TEST YOUR I. Q.

Here's a little vocabulary Quiz that you shouldn't find too hard — maybe. The missing words in the following little tale — words which you should be able to guess from the context, each contain all the five vowels—A, E, I, O, U, just once. How many of those words can you supply?

When through, take a look at the correct list, printed upside-down underneath.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. How long before the appointed date of a wedding should the invitations be mailed?

A. From two to three weeks in advance.

Q. When leaving, is it better for a dinner guest to thank his hostess for having him to dinner or tell her how much he enjoyed the evening?

A. Tell her how much he has enjoyed the evening.

Q. Should the host and hostess always provide new decks of cards for a bridge party?

A. Yes, always, and for a poker party, too. To throw out a soiled and discolored deck of cards would be about the same as the host's unshaven and wearing a soiled, wrinkled shirt.

Nerve Wracking

The fellow was in very bad shape. His nerves were really shot. He went to a doctor and the doctor told him he was a nervous wreck.

"How on earth did you ever get into this condition?" the doctor asked.

"Well," said the man, "it's like this. I work for an orange packing company. I stand at the end of a ramp down which the oranges come. Each big orange I have to put on a pile of oranges that are to be exported to medium-sized oranges. I put aside for domestic use. And the smaller oranges are allocated to the orange-juice companies. And there I stand all day—decisions, decisions!"

Why Don't They Tell The Folks?

One fundamental principle both of good business and of good public relations is to keep your customers or public informed in advance of any change in policies or charges which may affect them.

Here's what happened to one savings bank depositor, says a writer in the Financial Post.

Mystified by a 25-cent charge in his bank book for each of the last two months, this depositor asked the bank to explain it last week. The accountant informed him that all the Canadian banks had agreed to a new arrangement for the service charges which became effective on Jan. 1, 1949. In his case the charge was because he went one cheque over the free limit allowed in each month. Had he known he could have avoided this charge. He still has not received any notification nor seen any sign announcing the change.

No one will deny that the banks should be able to make a reasonable basis for their charges—but surely if they change the "rules"—i.e., the notify their customers at the time and post the new schedule prominently in the bank offices. That is only good business practice. It would avoid that distasteful feeling that "They tried to slip one over."

Jesus Sentenced to Death

Golden Text: "Christ... when He was crucified, died for us; that He might save us from all unrighteousness." I Peter 2:21, 23.

The Jewish religious leaders had decided that Jesus was worthy of death because He blasphemed in saying that He was the Son of God. But being a subject people, they were unable to carry out the death sentence. So they led Jesus to Pilate, the Roman emperor. Pilate examined Jesus and announced, "I find in Him no fault at all." But the infuriated leaders would not accept such a verdict. Pilate sought to evade the issue by sending Jesus to King Herod of Galilee who was in the city that day. But Jesus was returned. Then he sought to placate the wrath of the accusers by scourging Jesus, determining them to release him. But that failed. According to custom, he offered to release a prisoner. Whom would he release—Jesus, or Barabbas, a murderer? To his dismay, they chose Barabbas. Pilate was troubled. His wife warned him, "Have nothing to do with this just man, for I have suffered many things this night in a dream because of him." He presented Jesus before them as a harmless man, crowned with thorns. But they would not relent. In desperation they threatened, "If thou let this man go, thou art not Caesar's friend." Pilate understood. If he did not yield to their demands, they would report him to Caesar. His record would not stand the scrutiny of the firm emperor. He had mingled the blood of Galileans with his sacrifice. He must choose between Jesus and what appeared to be his self-interest, between right and selfishness. He chose the latter. Washing his hands in professed innocence, he delivered Jesus to be crucified. Gentle and Jew had collaborated in attending to death God's well-beloved Son.

Tradition says that the Jews on a later occasion complained of Pilate's conduct. On his way to Rome to answer for his deeds, he committed suicide.

Some have sought to excuse Pilate on the ground that he was a tool of Providence to carry out God's plan. But Pilate was a free moral agent. His sin was not necessary for our salvation. The glaring fact is that there are Pilates all about us; men and women and youth who are placing self before Jesus Christ. Jesus said, "Whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it." Matt. 16:25.

BRIEF NOTES FOR THE BUSY FARMER

— By Haldimand Harry —

The Haldimand Hog Producers Association has just announced a new Boar Purchase Policy in which a bonus of $15.00 will be made to purchasers of approved boars under certain regulations. The most important of these is that the boar will stand for public service and must have certain minimum Advance Registry Records. Two-thirds of the bonus will be paid following the purchase of the approved boar and the balance at the end of the first year. Funds are available for the purchase of 100 boars and the bonus will be paid in the order in which the applications are received. Application forms and copies of the rules and regulations can be secured from the Department of Agriculture at Cayuga.

That there is need for an improvement in the swine breeding stock for commercial hogs is brought out by the hog gradings for the month of April. A total of 2333 hogs were marketed during the month and of this number only 906 or 38.5 percent were in top grade. This is the lowest percentage of top grade hogs that a year ago and during the same month, Haldimand marketed about 21 more hogs but had 104 more in the top grade. This is something which requires immediate attention by our feeders and breeders.

DO YOU KNOW about TRAVEL RATION REGULATIONS?

It saves time and trouble when you familiarize yourself with the regulations regarding travel to the United States before you set out on your trip. Here are the facts:

- The allowance for pleasure travel during the current ration period of November 16th, 1948, to November 15th, 1949, is $150 U.S. per person ($100 in the case of children under 11 years old).
- A Form H permit, obtainable at any bank, is required to take out of Canada amounts exceeding $10 U.S. or $25 U.S. and Canadian funds.
- Special allowances are granted for strictly business travel when your application is certified by your employer.
- Applications for larger amounts of U.S. funds for travel for health or educational purposes may be made on special forms obtainable at your bank.

PARDON our pointing... with pride.

But it's an event when the number of bank workers passes the 40,000 mark — as it did last year. That's 65% more than before the war.

It's an event, first, because it shows the increased use of Canadian bank services...

More deposit accounts: now over seven million.

More funds: customers' deposits now reach nearly seven billion dollars. More services: to farmers; to personal and small-business borrowers; to war pensioners; to people receiving Family Allowances.

It's an event, too, because of the kind of men and women who have joined our ranks. Eager to get ahead, they are finding in banking an interesting job, a challenging career. They can tell you how important privacy in banking is to the Canadian way of doing things.

Going to your bank is not like having to deal with a state bureau—but that's how it would be under state monopoly.
